WILSON PUTS CHECK ON RUMORS OF WAR

Issues Order Against Military Movements That Might Cloud Japanese Situation.

CAPITAL ALIVE WITH GOSSIP

Conference at White House Cause of Much Idle Talk—Framing Reply to Japan's Protest.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Wilson has determined that nothing resembling a military or naval demonstration shall occur while the diplomatic negotiations with Japan over the California land bill are in progress. It is the intention of the Administration to allow no ground for alarming interpretation even upon the ordinary manoeuvers of the Army and Navy.

While the international situation has not undergone the slightest change since Gov. Johnson announced his intention of signing the land bill, Washington is full of rumors to-night that the relations between Japan and the United States have assumed a critical phase, and that the United States is making preparations for an emergency. These rumors arose mainly from the fact that the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Acting Secretary of State had a long interview with President Wilson late this afternoon.

Shortly after the conference the report got about that President Wilson, Secretary Garrison, Secretary Daniels, and Acting Secretary Moore had considered the matter of withdrawing warships from Mexican waters and troops from along the Mexican boundary, with the intention of sending both ships and troops to stations where they would be better able to cope with conditions arising from warlike intentions on the part of Japan.

Ambassador Calls Twice.

So far as Mr. Moore's visit to the President's office affects the story, it is true that he was called there to go over Gov. Johnson's messages and to consult with the President in regard to the character of the diplomatic note to be sent to the Japanese Ambassador.

It was said that the main purpose of the conference between the President and the Secretaries of War and the Navy was to enable the President to instruct his two Cabinet officers not to permit any movements of ships or troops that might furnish foundations of reports that this Government was preparing for any serious contingency.

"No serious trouble is expected," said an official of the Government, who has President Wilson's confidence.

Two other circumstances served to fan the imaginary flames of rumor that illuminated certain quarters of Washington this evening. One of these was that Viscount Chinda, the Japanese Ambassador, called twice at the Department of State to-day and the other was that two companies of regular troops had been ordered to augment the army garrison in Hawaii. The first visit of the Japanese Ambassador to the State Department was to obtain a copy of Gov. Johnson's telegram. His second visit, it was explained, was due to his concern over the fact that Gov. Johnson had determined to sign the land bill in the face of the Japanese protest and the urgent request of President Wilson. He desired to confer further with Acting Secretary Moore, so that he might be able to send the very latest official information to the Foreign Office at Tokio.

The fact that two companies of Coast Artillery had been ordered to Honolulu was explained by the simple statement that the order had been issued some time ago and the movement was part of the routine programme of the army.

These orders, it was explained, were in conformity with the programme for the creation of a permanent and sufficient garrison in Hawaii, outlined in the last annual report of the Secretary of War, and merely carried out plans of long standing. They relieved Col. William C. Rafferty, Coast Artillery Corps, of the command of the coast defenses of the Potomac, and directed him to sail for Honolulu with the 119th and the 143d Companies of Coast Artillery. They also assigned Capt. George L. Hicks, Jr., to Col. Rafferty's staff and directed Major Frank W. Coe of the North Atlantic Coast Artillery District to sail on the same steamer.

Impressed by Wilson's Efforts.

The earnest efforts made by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan to prevent the Legislature of California from taking action that would be offensive to Japan are sufficiently indicative of the concern which the Federal Administration has felt over diplomatic relations with the Japanese Government. This concern has been increased since the receipt of Gov. Johnson's declaration that he would sign the alien land bill. While officials of the Government do not admit it openly, there is no doubt that they regard the situation as embarrassing. But the situation it is asserted, has not assumed a phase so delicate that either nation should view it as involving a question of national honor that could be wiped out only by a resort to arms.

On the contrary, the disposition of both Governments has been to discuss the question dispassionately. The course followed by the President from the beginning of the California agitation has made for good feeling, and it is certain that Japan has been deeply impressed by the attitude of the Administration.

It is believed here that any real danger that may exist lies in the spirit of resentment shown by a considerable portion of the Japanese press and people over the action of the State of California. It is possible that this resentment may become so widespread that the Ministry may feel obliged to make concessions to it in the way of adopting a stiff attitude toward the United States. But so far the Japanese Government has maintained what is known in diplomacy as a "correct" attitude, and there is a strong feeling in Washington that it will not yield to a clamor which the imperial authorities know cannot properly be directed against this Nation.

Should the jingoistic element become powerful enough to force the present Tokio Ministry out of office, a greater danger might be presented in the formation of a Cabinet more responsive to the popular demand for satisfaction from the United States. A new Cabinet might gain control through the understanding that it would demand substantial reparation from the United States for the alleged insult to Japan.

Much will depend on the character of the response which this Government will make to the Japanese protest and which, it is understood, John Bassett Moore, one of the greatest authorities in the world on questions relating to the diplomatic intercourse of nations, will prepare for Secretary Bryan's signature. The line to be taken in this response has not been made known, but it is believed that this Government will be able to show such good intentions and friendly feeling toward Japan that the way will be paved for a settlement

MORE SLIDES AT CULEBRA.

Two Miles of Them Have Carried 5,133,000 Cubic Yards Into Canal.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Cucaracha slide at Culebra has again begun to move, and reports received at the War Department state that the situation is more dangerous than ever. A slide in dry weather is unusual. In the past week the Culebra slide has shown greatly increased activity. The entire railway track on the seventy-foot level was threatened and one track was covered, leaving only one additional track open for work. All loaded and empty earth cars are obliged to go over this one track, which seriously retards the progress of the work of excavation.

There is fear that when the rains begin the slide will submerge the entire track. Pipes are being laid to remove the excess of water into ditches dug down to rock bottom. It is expected that when blasting in the bottom of the cut is finished in September the slides will not be so active.

The slide section now is nearly two miles long. Some idea of the magnitude of the difficulty with the slides may be had from the fact that in the period since 1907, when the first occurred, 5,133,000 cubic yards of earth have moved into the canal prism. This mass must be moved at great expense as a part of the work of construction. But for the slides there would now be only 1,500,000 cubic yards to take out at Culebra, instead of 6,600,000.

Terracing to reduce the weight of the surface and stop the slides has been begun. The total amount of excavation at Culebra has been increased by slides to 99,516,000 cubic yards and for the entire canal to 218,138,000. There remains now, outside of Culebra Cut, 1,400,000 cubic yards of earth and 1,400,000 cubic yards of rock to be taken out.

JUDGE CUTS RED TAPE.

Has Court Attendants Remove Rail After Appealing in Vain to Officials.

Judge O'Sullivan in General Sessions found a quick way to cut red tape yesterday when he ordered two court attendants armed with screw drivers to remove a rail inclosing the jury box in the Continued Part of General Sessions. The jury box in this courtroom is a small, uncomfortable affair hardly large enough to seat twelve large men. Yesterday twelve jurors wriggled and twisted about in their seats, and finally the foreman arose and said:

"Your Honor, as much as I dislike to break in on a trial with a request for personal comfort, I feel that it is my duty to inform you that the rail here causes all the men in the front row to sit in a cramped position or bark their shins on the wood."

Judge O'Sullivan directed his Secretary to call in the janitor. The janitor looked at the rail, shook his head, and said:

"I'm sorry, but the Department of Buildings must be consulted."

Judge O'Sullivan called up the Department of Buildings on the telephone and was told to see Superintendent of Buildings Bailey. Mr. Bailey was not in his office, and the Borough President was consulted. Mr. McAneny said that he could do nothing and that Judge O'Sullivan must make a requisition and have the matter attended to in due course.

By this time Judge O'Sullivan's patience was exhausted, so he told Chief Clerk Carroll of General Sessions to get two screw drivers. This was done and two court attendants in ten minutes removed the rail. The trial was continued.

TO TESTIFY FOR COLONEL.

Dewey and Others to be Witnesses—Defense Has Story of Drinking.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, May 15.—James Pound, counsel for Col. Roosevelt in the latter's libel suit against George Newett, editor of The Ishpeming Iron Ore, disclosed to-day the evidence to be brought out at the trial.

Depositions of scores of prominent men have been taken by both sides, and many of them will testify. Among the witnesses will be Admiral George Dewey, Surgeon General Rixey, and Albert Shaw, editor of The Review of Reviews, who will testify on behalf of Col. Roosevelt.

The alleged libel for which Mr. Roosevelt is suing Mr. Newett was the publication of a statement that the ex-President was in the habit of getting intoxicated.

William P. Belding of Ishpeming, attorney for the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company, is counsel for Mr. Newett. It is understood that several other lawyers will be associated with him in conducting the case against Col. Roosevelt.

The defense has searched far and wide for witnesses who will assert that they have seen Mr. Roosevelt drink immoderately. Some of the evidence relates to a dinner given in Washington by ex-Speaker Cannon. Martin Miller, who alleges he was present, will testify that he heard somebody say to President Roosevelt:

"Will you have a little drink with me, Colonel?"

And the Colonel is said to have replied, "No, I will have a big drink with you."

Miller has made a deposition that Col. Roosevelt then had a glass of whiskey, and that later in the evening he took at least one glass of champagne.

It is understood that an attempt will be made by the counsel for the defense to have the case again postponed, and that the court will deny the motion.

UNSEAT CHURCH POLITICS.

Dr. Stone, 'Non-Political' Candidate, Elected Presbyterian Moderator.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, May 15.—Slates were broken and ecclesiastical politics repudiated by the General Assembly of the Northern Presbyterian Church this afternoon, when the Rev. John W. Stone of Chicago was chosen Moderator by an overwhelming majority. Dr. Stone was hardly thought of in connection with the Moderatorship until placed in nomination as a "non-political candidate" by the Rev. J. R. King of Monmouth, Ill. Cheers greeted the phrase "non-political."

Others nominated for Moderator were the Rev. Maitland Alexander of Pittsburgh, the Rev. William McKibben, Cincinnati; the Rev. Howard A. Johnston, Bridgeport, Conn., and the Rev. S. S. Palmer, Columbus. The first ballot resulted: Stone, 314; Alexander, 285; Palmer, 114; Johnston, 65, and McKibben, 46. Palmer, Johnston, and McKibben dropped out, and on the second ballot Dr. Stone was elected.

Many Commissioners openly assert that the election of Dr. Stone is a stinging rebuke to the use of political methods in church affairs. It is alleged that both Dr. Alexander and Dr. Palmer were supported by "machines" which had been at work in their interest for months.

SENIORS' GIBES END TAP DAY'S GRAVITY

Yale Men in Oak Tree Poke Fun at Electors and Cheer the Recruits.

CEREMONIES MORE HUMAN

Societies Choose Members for Merit Rather Than Social Position—New Yorkers Honored.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, May 15.—A new Tap Day made its appearance in Yale University to-day when the forty-five men from the junior class were elected to the three senior societies, Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key, and Wolf's Head. It was the first time the ceremony dating back a quarter century had been altered. Open criticism and demands for reforms from the undergraduates stirring now for two years brought about a subdued and private affair where there had been a great deal of pomp and social excitement. It was a more human Tap Day, too, and for the first time the non-society seniors joked the society members who came out to give the slaps on the shoulders of the juniors.

The insurgent sophomores, who recently made a formal demand that the three senior societies drop their "excessive secrecy" and make their choices of members solely on the basis of merit and not social position, began the afternoon with a mass meeting in Osborn Hall, at which they voted, 200 of them out of a class of less than 300, that they would not attend the Tap Day ceremonies. Many of them went out to play baseball and the few who stayed behind, looked on from the windows of the sophomore dormitories at the crowd around the old oak tree.

Freshmen Aloof, But Curious.

The freshmen, too, were kept away for the first time, but some of them were more curious than the class above them. Wright Hall windows were black with freshmen piled three deep as the tapping went on in front of them, and the court in front of the building was crowded. But their interest was silent and distant.

The Faculty, which had been accustomed to attend the elections, went to a tea in the Forestry Building. Dean Jones, the leader in the demand for a less spectacular Tap Day, was on the campus and observed closely the effect of the new system.

There practically were no outsiders. Not a girl's face appeared at a window of Durfee Hall, where in former years there were half a dozen tea parties. The gates of the campus were locked, and "Billy" Weiser and "Jim" Donnelly, Yale policemen of many years' standing, were busy in the early part of the afternoon hustling visitors off the grounds. Photographers were told they were not wanted. Not a carriage or an automobile was seen.

The class which last year barred the then newly elected members of the senior societies and tarred the gate to their dormitory on the members first night in the society houses kept up the work with disconcerting remarks from the branches of the old oak tree, around which the ceremony centred. The boughs were weighted with a score of popular men who had not entered any of the three societies. As they saw their classmates approaching to give the important slaps, they sang out their names and gave them advice. No one ever dared do that before. It was, "Hey, you, Bob, let's see you smile," or "Come, Bill, this is getting tiresome. Start something."

When George B. Cortelyou, Jr., son of the head of the Consolidated Gas Company, crossed the campus to pick his man for "Bones," some one from the tree shouted, "Not too much gas there, Bruce." To Arnold Whitridge, son of Frederick W. Whitridge of New York, who tarried around the edges of the crowd, some one said, "What's the matter? Lost your dog?" Walter Camp, Jr., came from the Skull and Bones house to the tune "Here comes my daddy, now," and when he looked around for his man a voice from the tree announced, "He's just stepped out to lunch." There was plenty of urging to "Get a move on" as the slapping dragged.

How It Looked to Men Up Tree.

For the men elected there usually was cheering, but those who were not wholly popular did not escape, and when the word was flashed that Wolf's Head had taken a man who had been popular but not noted for achievement a cry of "Well, well, who'd have thought it!" came from the boughs.

The barred and guarded campus was almost deserted early in the afternoon and the seniors were indulging in their ancient privilege of playing baseball with a soft ball in front of Durfee Hall. At 4:45 o'clock upper-class men began gathering and the freshmen who never had seen a Tap Day began bunching themselves in front of Wright Hall and piling on top of each other in the windows. Graduate members of the societies stood in little groups discussing the procedure with the senior members.

At 4:50 the juniors began to arrive in groups, made large for mutual support. They approached the oak tree nervously, with many attempts at indifference. But their faces were set and there were few smiles, except those that were forced. In a strange fondness for being alike that often has been remarked and even complained of in Yale men, each man was bareheaded and carried a rain coat, for the sky was gray and a shower seemed possible. There were no umbrellas. Evidently the rule had been established that it was to be rain coats.

The juniors advanced slowly gathered around the tree, and watched the clock on Battell Chapel as the hands crept toward the hour of 5. It is the custom that at the first stroke of 5 the first three men, one for each society, are slapped. Into the crowd the first tappers had made their way. When the bell rang there were blows in three parts of the throng and three shouts of "Go to your room!" Then came great cheering and clapping and eager questions of "Who was it?" The master of ceremonies in the tree soon spread it that Kilbreth had been slapped for Bones, Daniels for Keys, and Noyes for Wolf's Head. There was confusion for a moment, and it was shouted that Kilbreth had "thrown down" Bones and Daniels had done the same to Keys. Noyes rushed off to his room. It was a strange beginning for a Tap Day

The order was reversed. Daniels was slapped for Bones and ran off. Kilbreth, who wanted Keys, got it a moment later and darted away. Those were the only two "throw-downs" of the day.

Others Wait for Bones.

The slapping and the cheering came at wider intervals for a few minutes. Bones worked slowly, and the other societies, being younger, waited to see who would be among those not chosen for Bones. When thirteen men had "gone" Bones at 5:30 o'clock, and it was positive that

SLOAN BRINGS SUIT FOR MAGAZINE STORY

Former Federal Judge Sues Everybody's Publishers—Asks $100,000 Damages.

Richard E. Sloan, formerly United States District Judge of Arizona, started suit yesterday for $100,000 damages for libel in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York against the Ridgway Company, publisher of Everybody's Magazine. Ex-Judge Sloan complained that an article in the April number of the magazine, entitled "Uncle Sam, Lawbreaker," written by Frank Blighton, said:

> He is now on the bench. He'll stay there, too, unless President Wilson appoints a successor.
>
> His presence there may be particularly fortunate some time for the electric interests. The Corporation Commission of Arizona may take it into their heads to order a reduction of rates. They can do this under the new State Constitution. Then the trust might claim the new rates to be "confiscatory," and carry the case over into the Federal Court, where Judge Sloan presides. And there you are!

Ex-Judge Sloan said in his complaint, drawn by Edward F. Lindsay of 141 Broadway and put forth by Bouvier & Dugro, as his attorneys of record, that this meant:

"That the plaintiff as Judge of the Federal Court was partial, biased, and dishonest, and favorable to the electric interests and to the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and was capable of deciding and would decide cases brought before him favorably to the electric interests and to the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and that if a case involving the question whether reduced rates for electricity compelled by the Corporation Commission of Arizona were confiscatory were brought before him for decision he would decide the same in favor of the electric interests and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, without regard to the law and the merits of the case."

Since the publication of the article President Wilson has appointed another Federal Judge for Arizona. Sloan held office only as a recess appointee of President Taft. Ex-Judge Sloan said concerning himself in his complaint:

"He was and still is a resident and a citizen of the City of Phoenix, Ariz., and an attorney and counsellor at law. He has always as such attorney and counsellor at law conducted himself with honesty and fidelity, and has never been guilty of any misconduct or malpractice in his profession, but has always enjoyed a good professional and personal reputation, having been Associate Judge of the Supreme Court of the Territory of Arizona from the year 1889 to 1894 and from 1897 to 1909, and Governor of the Territory of Arizona from 1909 to 1912, and until recently, by recess appointment of President Taft, United States District Judge for Arizona."

Ex-Judge Sloan said of the article written by Blighton:

"In said article it was represented, alleged, and charged that the Reclamation Service of the United States undertook to reclaim arid lands situated in the Salt River Valley, State of Arizona, by irrigation; that the settlers, farmers, and inhabitants of that section banded together into an organization called the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association, to act for and in behalf of the said settlers, farmers, and inhabitants in negotiations with the Government; that the settlers and farmers agreed through the association to pay back to the Government in ten annual installments the cost of the project; that a large sum of money to help pay for the project and for the benefit of the farmers and settlers could have been realized by the sale of the hydro-electric power available from the irrigation plant."

The complaint then says that it was further charged:

"That the United States Government, however, entered into a contract to sell to the Pacific Gas and Electric Company said electric current and power for ten years at the price of 1½ cents a kilowatt hour; that at that rate the said company paid the Government about $60,000 a year, and in turn sold and sells the same amount of power to consumers for about $480,000 in cash; that by the contract the Government agreed to refrain from entering into a general retailing of power to customers in the City of Phoenix, or from furnishing power to any one in said city to be again sold or retailed; that said contract was improper and illegal in that it charged the said company so little for the power, and contained no provision as to what it should charge consumers, and debarred itself from selling power to any one else and for other reasons; and was a contract in restraint of trade, violated the Sherman Anti-Trust act and was extremely prejudicial to the settlers, farmers, and inhabitants of the Salt River Valley and to the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association."

From the magazine article itself ex-Judge Sloan quoted in his complaint a number of passages. Mr. Sloan complained of this comment on him as a Federal Judge:

"Mr. Sloan, it will be remembered, is the man whom President Taft (and the corporations of Arizona) decided upon for the new Federal Judgeship having jurisdiction over Arizona. After Taft nominated him, the Senate refused to confirm him. So Taft named him anyway as a recess appointee, after the Senate adjourned."

Sloan then says that he had had no connection whatever with the contract for the sale of hydro-electric power in the Salt River Valley. He says:

"In truth and in fact, neither as Governor of Arizona nor as attorney for said Water Users' Association, nor in any capacity, did I ever approve said contract, or advise, counsel, or persuade or attempt to persuade, the people to enter into, assent to, or accept said contract, or otherwise do or refrain from doing anything whatsoever in relation to said contract; that in truth and in fact, said contract was fully executed by the parties thereto more than one year before I was Governor of Arizona, and more than three years before I sustained any official or professional relation with the said Water Users' Association."

In conclusion he says:

"I as Federal Judge was not partial or dishonest, or favorable to the electric interests, and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, nor would I decide any case brought before me in favor of said interests and company regardless of the law and the merits; the allegations, insinuations, and innuendoes to the effect that I was so partial or dishonest or favorable or would so decide are wholly false and untrue and upon information and belief were known to be so false and untrue by the defendant Ridgway Company at the time of said publication."

UNIONS ASSAIL AMBASSADOR PAGE

British Labor Men Ask Grey to Protest Against Receiving Him.

LONDON, May 15.—The London Trades Council, representing 50,000 trade unionists, passed a resolution to-night expressing resentment at the appointment of Walter H. Page as American Ambassador to Great Britain on the ground that he is a bitter opponent of organized labor, and asking Sir Edward Grey, the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, to protest against receiving him.

A copy of the resolution has been sent to the President of the United States and to Sir Edward Grey, and every trade and labor council in the Kingdom has been invited to pass a similar resolution.

The London Trades Council took this action on a letter from the Allied Trades Council of Greater New York.

Officers of the Allied Printing Trades Council said last night that their organization considered Mr. Page to be antagonistic to the interests of union labor, and that Thomas Carroll, Secretary of the council, had been instructed by a vote of the council's officers to send to London a letter protesting against Mr. Page's appointment. This letter, it was stated, reviewed the controversies of the union organization with the firm of Doubleday, Page & Co., whose Garden City plant is operated as an open shop. Union leaders who participated in the controversy, it was explained, emerged from it with the conviction that Mr. Page harbored a deep personal resentment against labor unions and their leaders. For that reason they felt it to be their duty to notify British union leaders of Mr. Page's views.

Russell Doubleday, a Director of Doubleday, Page & Co., when informed of the resolution passed in England against Mr. Page, said he preferred not to comment upon it.

"I have nothing to say," he remarked, "except that the firm of Doubleday, Page & Co. is not a union concern. It is an open shop, not only as concerns the printing trades, but throughout the establishment. We had trouble with the unions, but that was settled years ago and for a long time things have gone along very peaceably under open-shop conditions."

Ambassador Does Not Favor Court Uniforms for Our Diplomats.

Walter Hines Page, the new Ambassador from the United States to Great Britain, was among the passengers who sailed on the White Star liner Baltic for Liverpool yesterday. Mr. Page said that he had not taken a house in London. For a time he would live at Claridge's Hotel. Official business would be transacted at the Embassy in Victoria Street, near St. James's Park.

Mr. Page declined to talk on international subjects of any nature. On the subject of a court uniform for American diplomats, Mr. Page said that what was good enough for his predecessors, Lowell, Choate, and Reid, ought to be good enough for him. He did not agree with the proposal that the United States should own its foreign representatives' quarters and make an allowance for the entertaining that falls upon a Minister or an Ambassador.

"I am going to London for diplomacy, not entertainment," Mr. Page said. "I am a true Democrat and shall follow the precedents established by my predecessors as far as I am able and do my best to maintain the friendly relations that have so long existed between the two countries."

Another passenger on the Baltic was Lord Winterton, who is well known in England for his strong anti-suffrage utterances. He said that the methods of the militants in London were worse than those of Anarchists. Burning down houses was not the way, he said, to get the vote, at least not from Englishmen. Sir William Treloar and Sir Charles Dunn and Sir Edmund and Lady Walker also sailed on the Baltic.

MIXED LAW AND MAGIC.

Chicago Clairvoyant Referred Legal Clients to Himself.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Interesting evidence of the operations of Charles De Alvandros, alleged leader of the clairvoyant ring now under investigation, was presented to the Grand Jury to-day.

According to State Attorney Hoyne, De Alvandros led a double life, posing as a lawyer and operating as a seer. As a lawyer he had an office downtown; as a clairvoyant he is said to have maintained three parlors, in which he appeared disguised to those who had met him in his capacity as attorney.

As a lawyer he is alleged to have directed his victims to consult the seer in one of his parlors. If the client was important, he is said to have disguised himself and appeared as the seer. Thus he was able to make surprising disclosures to his victims. Less important cases were handled by assistants.

He is said to have acted as Chairman of weekly meetings held by clairvoyants, where the "white envelope fund" was contributed for distribution to politicians and detectives who protected the operations. At these meetings plans for handling dupes and profiting by their credulity were rehearsed.

IMPORT AUSTRALIAN MEAT.

First Cargo Reaches California—Drop in Prices Expected.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—Four hundred thousand pounds of frozen Australian beef and mutton—the first shipment of its kind to the Pacific Coast—arrived here to-day aboard the steamer Tahiti. The meat was sold in Australia with the understanding that only a nominal profit should be made here. If the agreement is violated, Australia will ship direct, eliminating the middleman's profit and assuming all the risk.

An immediate drop in prices is expected. The people of the Pacific Coast States use meat produced west of the Rocky Mountains, and the average price is higher here than in Chicago. In an effort toward reduction independent dealers arranged for the Australian shipment.

The Union Steamship Company is so certain that the trade will be permanent that it has placed orders for four refrigerator ships, to be used exclusively on the Australian trade.

TWO BOYS TARGETS OF ASTORIA GUNMEN

One Killed and the Other Badly Wounded While Playing with Their Fellows.

ASSASSINS HEAD FOR SWAMP

Although Closely Pursued, They Make Good Their Escape and Police Have No Clue to Them.

Half of the Italian colony of Astoria turned out last night to aid the police in hunting down two unidentified men who appeared suddenly at Sherman and Ridge Streets at 9 o'clock and fired a half dozen bullets into a crowd of men and boys, killing one boy and seriously wounding another.

The police were at their wits' ends to find a motive for the shooting. After questioning a score of men in the colony who had been mixed up in shooting scrapes before they finally came to the conclusion—in the absence of a better theory—that the gunmen were bent on "getting" some enemy in the crowd, and had fired at him wildly, reckless of the safety of the others.

The boy killed was Dominick Raimondi, 13 years old, of 114 Broadway, Astoria. A bullet pierced his heart and he died instantly. The other boy, who was playing with young Raimondi at the time, is Michael Sugila, 18 years old, of 310 Hopkins Avenue, Astoria. A bullet tore away part of his left jaw. He was hurried to the St. John's Hospital at Long Island City, and is in a precarious condition.

The neighborhood where the shooting occurred is inhabitated by Italians who work in the factories. The streets are rough, unpaved and dimly lit. The spot where the boys were shot had been depressed several feet recently by grading operations.

It formed a playground for the youngsters of the colony and there were at least fifty of them enjoying themselves there last night. A number of men, through with their day's work, were watching their pranks.

No one could be found who remembered seeing the gunmen approach. The first warning came when their revolvers began popping simultaneously and the boys fell. Two of the men told the police that they had heard bullets singing past their heads.

There was wild excitement after that and the more daring, after their first alarm, rushed forward to head off the murderers. The fugitives didn't stop to find if their bullets had hit the mark, but dashed across the vacant lots which surround the colony and disappeared in the direction of some swamp land.

Police Capt. Buchanan of the Astoria station took charge of the search after it. He found the men of the colony aroused to a high pitch of anger, and collected about the homes of the boys who had been shot were little groups who muttered threats. A score quickly offered their aid, and, accompanied by Detectives Graham, Teeven, Kennedy, and Castaglino, Capt. Buchanan started out. At a late hour last night every corner of the country within a radius of two miles of the shooting had been carefully searched. No trace of the murderers could be found beyond the border of the swamp land.

At midnight the police were forced to admit that the fugitives apparently had made a clean getaway and probably were headed for this city. An alarm was sent out, but no good description of the murderers could be given with it.

The police believe that some man in the colony knows more about the shooting than he has yet admitted, and they are hoping that the intended victim will come forward with information that will lead to arrests.

OBJECT TO THE SPLIT SKIRT.

Count de Perigny and Caroline White Say Paris Eschews It.

One of the passengers on the French liner France for Havre yesterday was Count Gaston de Perigny, whose cabin was decorated with racquets of various sizes that had ebony and gold handles studded with small diamonds and other precious stones. The Count said that he had been accustomed to play tennis on board floors in France, and that his trip to the United States was for the purpos eof instructing a few intimate friends in the game of indoor tennis.

Speaking of American women, the Count said he admired their beauty very much, but that he thought it a shame they should dress in the way they do.

"The well-dressed women in Paris," he said, "do not wear the split skirt that appears to have met with such favor here. Some Paris women may wear them, but they are not the highest class of Parisian. The whole thing is this—the dressmakers of Paris are disposing of absurd gowns to a gullible American public."

Mrs. C. White Longone, the operatic soprano, who sings under the name of Caroline White in the Chicago Opera Company, also made scathing remarks about the split skirt.

"I think it is ridiculous," she said, "the way American women try to copy Paris styles. The split skirt, in my opinion, is vulgar, suggestive and by no means beautiful. These gowns are not worn by the elite of Paris.

"It is to be regretted that American women allow their daughters to wear such dresses. Only yesterday I saw the daughter of a very intimate friend of mine, a mere child, whose dress was slit in this objectionable fashion. I am glad to say that France, with all its faults, is still most careful as to its children."

EX-GOVERNOR DIES IN WANT.

Col. Gosper, Once Rich, Passes Away in Los Angeles.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 15.—Refusing all offers of aid from friends, Col. John J. Gosper, former Governor of Arizona and a patriot of nation-wide fame, died in poverty yesterday at the County Hospital. Once affluent, Col. Gosper was almost penniless at the time of his death. He said he preferred to die rather than to be an object of charity.

Following the war he went to Nebraska and was elected Secretary of State. Soon after his term expired he was appointed by President Hayes Secretary of State of the Territory of Arizona, and later succeeded Gen. Fremont as Chief Executive of the Territory.

Col. Gosper came to Los Angeles twenty years ago, and was elected to the Board of Education and served one term as its President. Through unfortunate mining investments he lost his money, and for several years lived in a little room at Third and Main Streets. He had been married twice, but had been separated from his second wife for many years. He had no children.

H. M. FLAGLER NEAR DEATH.

Railroad Builder's End Is Momentarily Expected.

JACKSONVILLE, May 15.—The death of Henry M. Flagler is momentarily expected, according to a statement attributed to President Parrott of the Florida East Coast Railroad.

Mr. Flagler has been critically ill at his West Palm Beach home for several weeks.

SURROGATE $98,519 SHORT.

Nicholl of Suffolk Used Trust Funds to Aid His Relatives.

William G. Nicholl, Surrogate of Suffolk County, filed at Riverhead, L. I., yesterday, a confession of judgment in which he admitted that he is indebted to the estate of Mrs. Anna Somerindyck of Oyster Bay to the extent of $98,519.33. He was one of the executors of the estate.

The judgment is in favor of his coexecutors, the Rev. John W. Gammack, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Glen Cove and Edward T. Latting. On Jan. 2 last they filed affidavits in the office of the Surrogate of Nassau County, revealing Judge Nicholl's indebtedness.

Mrs. Somerindyck died on Nov. 2, 1910. Her estate was valued at $260,000.

KILLED AS AUTO OVERTURNS

William R. Griffith's Skull Crushed in Wreck at Mt. Vernon.

William R. Griffith, a real estate broker of New York City, living at 141 South Ninth Avenue, Mount Vernon, was killed in an automobile accident in a crowded part of North Fourth Avenue, Mount Vernon, last night. Mr. Griffith was driving in his automobile with his wife, two daughters, and Miss McIntyre of Mount Vernon, on their way to dinner at Larchmont, when Leroy See of 47 Terrace Avenue, a student, nineteen years old, who was driving an automobile owned by Victor M. Cupples of 309 Langdon Avenue, turned from Sidney Avenue into Fourth Avenue in front of the Griffith machine. See's car suddenly swerved into that of Mr. Griffith. Neither car was going at high speed.

When the cars collided, the Griffith car was overturned and Mr. Griffith's skull was crushed. The four women received cuts and bruises. See was not injured. Mr. Griffith was taken to the Mount Vernon Hospital, where he died a few minutes after he was admitted.

Coroner Livingston held See on a charge of homicide and paroled him in the custody of Mr. Cupples.

PUPILS SEE GANG SHOOTING.

Children Menaced by Bullets Which Wound Two Italians Mortally.

While children were on their way to school in Williamsburg yesterday afternoon six Italians, who had been heard quarreling in a hallway, stepped into the street at Lorimer and Richardson Streets, and drawing revolvers began to fire. More than thirty shots were discharged, while the children ran into hallawys and behind posts to escape from the flying bullets. When the fusilade was over two of the gunmen were found on the sidewalk dying. Policemen from the Herbert Street Station heard the shooting and ran to the corner with their revolvers drawn. They caught two men, Antonio and Thomas Cassasse, brothers, of 380 Leonard Street, who were said to have taken part in the fight.

The tow wounded men were Frank Jardons of 9 Richardson Street, who was shot in the forehead, and Michael Fricca of 35 Skillman Avenue, who was shot over the heart. They were taken to St. Catharine's Hospital. The police were unable to find out what caused the fight, as the injured men were unable to talk, and the prisoners refused to discuss the case.

TOOK FUSE FOR A STRING.

Woman Who Prevented an Explosion Didn't Realize Her Peril.

Desiring to take a walk in the fresh air before retiring last night, Mrs. Sarah Malinkovitz departed from her flat on the second flood of the tenement at 152 Attorney Street at 10:30 o'clock, and was going down the stairs when in a dark corner of the hallway below she saw a point of fire and heard the spluttering of something burning. She pressed her foot on what looked like a bit of burning string, and, wondering what the strange package was, she tossed it out into the gutter.

Some boys found it and were examining it when some one in the crowd said "Dynamite," and after that the strange package was left alone until the police arrived.

It was dynamite—two sticks of it, with fuse and detonating caps and all. This much was found after Patrolman Coelbecker had handed it over to the Bureau of Combustibles. There was little doubt in the opinion of Attorney Street that the bomb was meant for the grocery shop of Salvatore Allucco on the ground floor of the tenement, but Salvatore said he could not think why any one should wish to harm him.

HURT IN A TENEMENT FIRE.

Police and Firemen Make Many Rescues from Blazing Building.

Two firemen were injured and a woman was badly burned in a fire which started on the fifth floor of the tenement house at 417 East Seventy-fourth Street early last evening. Four families lived on each floor of the building and there was much excitement when the smoke began to fill the building. A score of persons who were trapped on the upper floors were rescued by the firemen and carried down the extension ladders.

Fred Schinsky, who lives on the sixth floor of the house, carried his three children through the smoke-filled hallways to safety, and then ran back and carried out Michael Michmlowsky. The flames had spread so rapidly that the upper floors were cut off. Police Sergts. Himel and O'Sullivan and Patrolmen Gamble and Short of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station carried several persons from the house to safety.

When Mrs. Michmlowsky got to the street she remembered that her son was in the house and tried to fight her way back. When she learned that the boy had been saved she consented to go to the Reception Hospital. She was seriously burned about the arms and body. Fireman John Leamick, who was severely burned on the arms, was also taken to the hospital, and Lieut. Wise, who suffered a deep cut on the right hand, was attended by Dr. Uran. The cause of the fire was unknown.

ALARM IN PATERSON AT THREAT OF TIE-UP

Speaker at Quinlan Protest Meeting Advises Throwing City Into Darkness.

GUARD AT POWER PLANTS

Crowd of Over 10,000 Persons Cheers the Orators—Haywood Out for a Six-Hour Day.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., May 15.—A vast crowd of silk mill strikers and their sympathizers jammed Lafayette Oval, on the outskirts of this city, this afternoon to take part in the meeting arranged as a protest against the conviction yesterday of Patrick Quinlan, the agitator for the Industrial Workers of the World. Quinlan faces a seven years' term in the State prison for utterances which a Passaic County jury has decided were such as to incite Paterson strikers to riot and to assault.

The meeting in Lafayette Oval was one of the most remarkable gatherings in the history of the city. A great throng made up of many nationalities stood for hours listening to bitter speeches, in the course of which leaders of the Industrial Worekrs of the World denounced the constituted authorities of the county, the City Government, the Grand Jury that indicted, and the trial jury that convicted Quinlan, and lastly the Police Department which numbers among its members, according to Quinlan, ex-thieves, liars, and perjurers. It was, however, not only the bitter denunciation of those whose sworn duty is the enforcement of the law that made this assemblage of between 10,000 and 15,000 men, women, and children, one that Paterson will not soon forget.

The meeting was also marked by threats of future trouble uttered by one of the principal speakers. This threat is giving the authorities a good deal of worry. Adolph Lessig, the local leader of the Haywood movement, uttered the remarks referred to. He told the wildly cheering throng that he was of the opinion that the coming week would be a proper time to throw all Paterson into darkness for a period of at least forty-eight hours.

Threat to Tie Up City.

"You want to tie up every garage, every street-car line," he said, "and then see to it that the lights are put out for a couple of nights. That's the way to act. Do that and see how the bosses will like it."

Lessig's advice was greeted with cheers and waving of hats and handkerchiefs. There could be no doubt of the sympathy of his audience. The speakers of the day were the principal agitators of the Industrial Workers of the World movement. Every remark assailing the police, the Quinlan jury, County Prosecutor Dunn, and the newspapers was greeted with applause, mingled with boos and hisses.

Those who spoke were William D. Haywood, the head and front of the Industrial Workers of the World; Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, who is Haywood's most active subordinate; Carlo Tresca, the Italian agitator; Quinlan, the convicted leader; Adolph Lessig, the Paterson leader of the movement; Joseph J. Ettor, who was prominent in the Lawrence strike, and Frederick Summers Boyd.

The meeting was advertised as one of protest, and the time set for it to start was 2 o'clock this afternoon. Long before that hour, however, the Oval was crowded. The crowd was talking about just one thing, and that was yesterday's conviction of Quinlan. The police were everywhere. They simply looked and listened, for they realized how unwelcome they were.

Cheers When Quinlan Arrives.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the "big leaders" of the movement began to appear. First came Quinlan. His arrival was the signal for a wild demonstration on the part of the strikers. Quinlan bowed and smiled as he made his way to the little cottage, from the upper porch of which he was later to address the crowd. After Quinlan came Lessig, then Haywood and Ettor, and lastly Elizabeth Flynn, and then Tresca and Boyd. All of them received a noisy welcome. Boyd was the first of the speakers. He plunged into a denunciation of the police, who, he said, were a "set of lying perjurers" bent on railroading Quinlan, Haywood, Miss Flynn, Tresca, and Lessig to prison.

Quinlan followed Boyd. Great cheering greeted him. He smiled broadly. Quinlan carried in his hand a book by George Bernard Shaw, excerpts from which he was later on to use in proving that Paterson was "a thoroughly rotten town."

"The perjured testimony of nine men was accepted by the jury that condemned me," Quinlan said, "and now, on top of the injustice that has been done me, Miss Flynn, Tresca, Lessig, and Haywood are to be condemned in the same manner."

Quinlan then deplored what he said was the failure of the judiciary of the present time to follow in the footsteps of Marshall and Story and the other great Judges of the old days. Then he opened his Bernard Shaw book and read: "This is the rottenest town I have ever seen and this is the rottenest jury I was ever before."

"Those are the words of Shaw," said Quinlan, "but I am sure that he must have had Paterson in mind when he wrote them."

Quinlan then advised a boycott of every merchant who advertises in papers that did not favor the Industrial Workers of the World movement. When they met policemen, he advised the crowd to turn their backs or look the other way, and not run the chance of being contaminated by contact with such "vile" persons.

Lessig Calls It "Jersey Injustice."

After Quinlan came Lessig, who is under indictment on the same charge on which Quinlan was convicted. Lessig denounced Jersey justice as "Jersey injustice," and when a voice in the crowd shouted that justice, so far as this State was concerned, was "All bunk" everybody except the police and the reporters cheered approval.

Tresca came next. He almost leaped to the porch, so anxious was he to have his say. Tresca was angry and his eyes blazed. He, too, is waiting trial on the charge on which Quinlan was convicted. Tresca spoke in Italian and even those that did not understand his utterances cheered, for they knew that he was saying something that was uncomplimentary to the legal authorities.

"Police, thieves, liars, loafers, cowards!" Tresca shouted at the top of his voice during his outburst.

"Big Bill" Haywood followed Tresca. He received an ovation. He never talked louder. The perspiration rolled down his ample features. He said that the meeting had two purposes. One was to protest against the action of the Grand Jury in indicting the strike leaders and the other was to protest against the action of the trial jury in finding Quinlan guilty. The jury, he said, was not composed of Quinlan's peers.

"The Quinlan jury," Haywood shouted, "has turned the searchlight on Paterson and the world will know the infamy of this place before the I. W. W. gets through with it. The I. W. W. is going to stay right here in Paterson and we are going to win, even if we have to win in jail."

Then Haywood proceeded to prophesy what would happen if he, Tresca, Miss Flynn, and the others were convicted and sent to prison.

"Ettor will take my place," he shouted. "Giovannitti will take Tresca's, Matilda Rabinovitz will take Miss Flynn's, and others will come to take the place of Quinlan and Lessig. We are out for eight hours and we are going to get it, and no court in New Jersey can declare our law unconstitutional. Yes, I tell you, we are going to get eight hours this year, and next year we will strike and demand six hours as a workday, and we will get it, too!"

Ettor Calls Police "Assassins."

Ettor, who had just been named by Haywood as his heir apparent, was the next to make a speech. He called all newspaper writers liars, and referred to the police as the "hired assassins of the capitalists." He was so intensely bitter and was so indiscriminate in his denunciations as to receive the disapproval of some of the more even-tempered of the strikers.

He said in the course of his speech: "The Quinlan case is bigger than Paterson, bigger than Passaic County, bigger than the State, and bigger than the Supreme Court of the United States."

"To be a Judge or a District Attorney," Ettor cried, "it is necessary to cut out your heart."

Elizabeth Flynn was the last speaker. Her speech was very mild.

The police are maintaining strong patrols in the mill districts both day and night, and as a result of the Lessig advice that the town be thrown into darkness, a force was set to watch the electric power plants which supply the traction companies with power and also light the streets, business houses and homes of the city.

Delay of Quinlan Sentence.

Prosecutor Dunn said to-day that he would not move the sentencing of Quinlan to-morrow. Instead he will wait until the Haywood, Tresca, Flynn and Lessig trials are concluded and then he will ask for the sentencing of Quinlan and also the other four leaders if they are convicted.

"It is gratifying to all those persons who respect and believe in the preservation of law and order in this community to know that we have twelve citizens who are not afraid to stand upon their firm convictions and uphold the majesty of the law," said Mr. Dunn, in discussing the trial to-day.

"There is nothing to feel elated over in the case. It is purely a matter of public duty, and when the indictments were returned by the Grand Jury it was the duty of the prosecution to act in the interests of the people. This office wishes to see the workers of Paterson get everything they are entitled to, but it cannot sanction the unlawful methods that have been used by the so-called 'social reformers.'"

Henry Marelli of counsel for Quinlan, said to-day that he would ask immediately for a writ of error on which to base an appeal for a new trial.

NO TROOPS SENT TO MINES.

Detective Agency Says It Can Break Strike in Four Days.

Special to The New York Times.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., May 15.—Gov. Fielder did not come here this afternoon, as it was thought he would do, to confer with Sheriff Gillen about the strike of the iron miners at Wharton. He sent Adjt. Gen. Sadler and Assistant Attorney General Gaskell. These men had a conference with Sheriff Gillen, Judge Salmon, Prosecutor T. A. Reed, and Willard W. Cutler, counsel to the Sheriff.

At this conference the Sheriff and Judge Salmon insisted that it was necessary to have troops to preserve order at the mines. They said that the strikers were in such a state of disorder that nothing but a display of arms would restore the peace. They said that the women and children, who had attacked the Deputy Sheriffs, knew that they were immune from attack on the part of the deputies, who had been ordered not to fire upon them.

Gen. Sadler said that he was not in favor of asking the Governor to send troops because the head of a detective agency in Newark had assured him that his men would be able to break the strike in four days, and in the meantime preserve order at the mines.

The conference lasted over an hour and was held at the office of Mr. Cutler. It was conducted so quietly that it was not until it was all over and the Sheriff and the Adjutant General had left for Wharton, the scene of most of the trouble, that it became known that they had been in conference.

When the 200 deputies sworn in this afternoon reported at Wharton they were greeted at the station by a mob of 100 men, women, and children. They were hooted and jeered but not attacked.

A number of deputies stationed at the Mount Pleasant crossing near the mine later were set upon by a mob of fifty men and women. The women led the mob. Several of the men strikers were beaten by the deputies. One of the strikers, C. H. Wilson, had a club and was using it freely. He was put under arrest. Justice Pierson held him in $500 bail for the Grand Jury on a charge of assault.

TWO HELD FOR EXTORTION.

Merchant Asserts One Defendant Threatened to Defame His Business.

On the complaint of David Esaacson, President of the Kalos Manufacturing Company of 43 West Twenty-seventh Street, two men were arraigned before Magistrate Cornell in the Jefferson Market Court yesterday and held for the Grand Jury on the charge of attempted extortion. The defendants were Harry Stern of 226 Henry Street and Charles A. Smith, formerly employed as a clerk at the Brook Club.

Mr. Esaacson said he first heard from Stern in response to an advertisement he inserted in a morning newspaper. He asserted that after arranging to learn the business and after meeting a girl in his employ, Stern charged him with running an illegal business and threatened to make such a charge publicly unless he was paid $2,000. Esaacson immediately communicated with a New York newspaper, in whose columns he said Stern had threatened to have him "written up." The matter was submitted to the District Attorney, and after overhearing some telephone conversations Stern and Smith were arrested.

Big Passaic Plant to Close.

Special to The New York Times.

PASSAIC, N. J., May 15.—The United States Finishing Company plant here, employing several thousand hands, one of the largest mills in the city, will close down after June 1. The plant is one of the oldest in the city. It was formerly the Reid & Barry Mill, founded by the late Peter Reid, the philanthropist, and the laet Henry A. Barry. It will probably remove to Providence. The change is a result of the financial difficulties in which the company became involved several weeks ago.

TARIFF COMPROMISE SPURNED BY WILSON

Determined to Stand by Underwood Bill as It Has Passed the House.

NO COERCION ON WAGE ISSUE

Injury to Industries Will Be Righted, Says Underwood—Senate Vote To-day on Bill.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—"No compromise," is President Wilson's last word in regard to the Underwood Tariff bill. A prompt and explicit denial was given by the President personally this afternoon to statements printed in some newspapers that he was looking for a satisfactory compromise on the woolen and sugar schedules.

"When you get a chance," he said quietly, but with a good deal of emphasis, "just say that I am not the kind that considers compromises when I once take my position. Just note that down so that there will be nothing more of that sort transmitted to the press."

From other remarks by the President it was evident that he would stand by the Underwood bill as it passed the House through thick and thin.

Meantime the Senate was engaged in protracted debate at the end of which to-night an agreement was reached to vote to-morrow on the question of public hearings on the Tariff bill.

While the President smilingly let it be known that he was expressing no opinion whatever on the proposal for hearings, and that this was a subject for the Senate to dispose of, his statement of unqualified support for the House bill was taken generally to mean that Mr. Wilson considered arguments from special interests on the tariff schedules to have been closed when the measure passed the House. He is understood to regard the effort to obtain hearings as a filibustering device.

Of course it is expected at the White House that there will be minor changes in the bill made by the Finance Committee, certain equalizations and corrections which have been approved by House leaders since the bill left their hands, but in the principal schedules the President is determined that there shall be no change if he can prevent.

Veto for Amendeed Bill.

There were even intimations that he might veto a bill that came from the Senate with amendments on wool or sugar.

The President is also in entire accord with Mr. Underwood and Mr. Redfield regarding the announced policy to expose manufacturers who reduce wages on the pretext of losses due to lower customs duties. But both he and Mr. Underwood also took pains to-day to clear up a misconception as to the Administration's purpose in this respect.

One of President Wilson's callers asked him to-day if the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, which is to conduct the investigation into the effect of the tariff on manufactures in this country, would have the right to say that certain present wages were unjust and should be raised. The President explained that the bureau had no right to say that wages should be raised; all that it was authorized to do was to report the facts as the bureau's investigators found them. The President was told that his statement in this connection was very important, because the impression was abroad that whatever the bureau reported would be adopted, and, in fact, it was added, it had been intimated that there would be criminal prosecutions if the bureau's recommendations were not followed by manufacturers.

Watch on Concerted Wage Cuts.

The President indicated that as there was no such provision in the tariff law there was no intention of the Administration to proceed on such a line. He explained, however, that if there was a conspiracy between manufacturers to reduce wages, that would be another matter, and might be regarded as restraint of trade and commerce. The Administration, he said, would not go beyond the law.

The President also pointed out that the Administration's attitude was not due to any substantial or well-founded information that there was any set purpose on the part of manufacturers to reduce wages. He said that the information that had come to him was merely in the form of vague rumors that were always in the air at the present state of a tariff bill.

Mr. Underwood, in addressing the House to-day in reply to Representative Frank Mondell of Wyoming, said that if it were found that any industry had been injured through tariff reductions, the error would be rectified by additional legislation. He also reiterated his approval of the declarations of Secretary of Commerce Redfield to expose any manufacturers who reduced wages unjustly on the plea that tariff changes made the curtailments necessary.

"I want it distinctly understood," said Mr. Underwood, "that we are not threatening industry, nor are we threatening labor. When, after a careful and honest investigation reports show that an injustice has been done, either to an industry of this country or to the labor employed in that industry, you may rest assured that this side of the House will rectify any wrong that has been done."

Mr. Underwood's statements followed a caustic attack by Mr. Mondell upon the speech which Secretary Redfield delivered last night to the visiting lithographers. Mr. Underwood, in replying, asserted that the Federal wage inquiry and tariff investigations would be pressed to the limit for the purpose of ascertaining the facts.

"This legislation is passed," said Mr. Mondell, "on the claim that there must be a lowering in the returns of certain industries, and that this must be very serious in certain cases. The American people are anxious to readjust themselves, but I do not think there is an employer anywhere who desires to reduce wages, but, in your effort to do what you believe is the right thing, you certainly should restrain yourselves from threatening men in their efforts to readjust conditions."

Threats to Make Labor Suffer.

"Now, the situation is simply this: If you will examine the tariff hearings which were held last Winter you will find page after page and volume after volume filled with the statements of manufacturers that if the Democratic House dared to reduce this protective tariff in the interest of the American people they would take that reduction out of labor in their mills and factories."

"Does the gentleman expect them to run permanently at a loss?" inquired Mr. Mondell.

"Not if they are not making unreasonable profits, and many of them have made enormous profits, and would now continue to keep those enormous profits at the expense of their labor," said Mr. Underwood.

"There is no desire on the part of the Government to interfere with any industry. We have got no right to stop them, but when we see conditions in this country existing that will be detrimental to labor we are entitled to know one of two things: First, whether the manufacturers are telling the truth. If they are not telling the truth and intend injuriously and unfairly to punish their labor, taking an enactment of Congress as their excuse, then it is but right that the fact should have publicity.

"We do not intend to hide behind closed doors, but we are prepared to throw the limelight of public opinion not only upon the acts of the manufacturer, but on the acts of this House. If we have made a mistake we are men enough to acknowledge it and rectify it, and if we have not we will see that the other man does justice."

Representatives of the ready-made clothing industry came to Washington to-day in an effort to have the woolen schedule's operation deferred until Jan. 1. As the bill now stands, this schedule, with the others, will become effective the day following the passage of the bill. The ready-made clothing manufacturers argue that unless there is some postponement of the effective date so far as Schedule K is concerned it will play havoc with their industry, for the reason that the clothing for the coming Fall and Winter trade is now being made up, and salesmen are on the road seeking orders. Democratic leaders were told that it would not be fair to the trade to put these new rates into effect with the rest of the bill. The delegation expects to call on President Wilson to-morrow.

Senate to Vote To-day.

After another day spent in dragging debate the Senate agreed at 7 o'clock to-night by unanimous consent to vote at 4 o'clock to-morrow on the question of referring the Tariff bill to the Finance Committee with or without instructions for hearings. Though the Democratic leaders have taken an almost unprecedented time to achieve this small result, there is no doubt of their ability to vote down all proposals for hearings, so that the committee will be left free to conclude its consideration of the measure at the earliest possible date. A report of the bill back to the Senate is expected not later than the end of next week.

The agreement as finally entered on the Journal provides that the Senate shall meet at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning and that general debate shall continue until 3. Then for one hour speeches limited to ten minutes shall be in order before voting begins. No one can recall that the Senate has consented to a limit on individual speeches since the exigencies of the Railroad Rate bill debates in 1906.

While the vote to-morrow will not be overwhelmingly in favor of Mr. Simmons's resolution for reference without instructions, it will probably be by a safer margin than the difference in strength between the two parties would lead one to expect in face of the open defection of the two Senators from Louisiana. Most of the Republicans would be bitterly disappointed if they thought their fight would succeed and that the session would be prolonged by hearings in repetition of those already held by the House Ways and Means Committee. A few Republicans are known to be positively opposed to hearings, and one or two of them may vote with the Democrats.

The truth of the matter seems to be that the Republicans realize that they have little political capital to gain this year by emphasizing their tariff views. They believe that the best course for them is to make just enough of a fight to keep the party's record straight on protection, and then wait in hopes of industrial disaster following the enactment of the Underwood bill.

The chief cause of delay was the effort of Mr. Kern of Indiana, the majority leader, to obtain action on his resolution calling for an investigation of the recent coal strike in West Virginia.

DEMOCRATS TO LAY PLANS.

Executive Committee Meets To-day in Washington—To See Wilson.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Preliminary plans for the next campaign will be discussed at a meeting here to-morrow of the Executive Committee of Democratic National Committee, which is composed of Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, Cato Selles of Texas, Fred Lynch of Minnesota, Clark Howell of Georgia, and Homer Cummings of Connecticut.

They will consider what steps should be taken in connection with or independently of the Democratic Congressional Committee looking to effective, united work in the Congressional fight of two years hence, in which the National Committee members are as much interested as in the National election in 1916.

The committee will confer with President Wilson and Representative Lloyd of Missouri, Chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, and other officers of that organization regarding an increased representation of Senators on the Congressional Committee.

New Treasury Controller Sworn.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—George E. Downey of Aurora, Ind., took the oath to-day as Controller of the Treasury, succeeding R. J. Tracewell of Corydon, Ind., who has held the office continuously since appointed by President McKinley in 1897.

LANE FOR FEDERAL LINES IN ALASKA

Secretary of Interior Says Plan to Build System Is Territory's One Hope.

WRITES SENATOR PITTMAN

Believes It Is the Only Way to Develop Agricultural Resources of the Territory.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Secretary Lane of the Interior Department placed himself on record to-day as favoring a railway system in Alaska to be constructed, owned, and operated by the Government. "Governmental ownership of railroads in Alaska," he said, "seems to me to be the one policy that will most certainly make for her lasting welfare."

The Secretary expressed his views in a letter responding to inquiries from Senator Pittman, Chairman of the Committee on Territories, which now has under consideration bills providing for the construction of a Federal railway system in Alaska.

"There is but one way to make any country a real part of the world," Secretary Lane wrote, "and that is by building railroads into it. This has been the heart of England's policy in Africa, of Russia's policy in Western Asia, and is the prompting hope of the new movement in China. Whoever owns the railways of a country determines very largely the future of that country.

"I am convinced that we should think of Alaska as a land not only of mines and fisheries, but of towns, farms, mills, and factories, supporting millions of people of the hardiest and most wholesome of the race. If this conception of a possible Alaska is a true one, our legislation should be such as to most surely bring about this possibility. It seems to me there is less of hazard as to Alaska's future if the Government of the United States owns the railroads, which will make its fertile interior valleys accessible from the coast and bring its coal, iron, copper, and other mineral resources within the reach of the world.

"This is a new policy for the United States. Very true. This is a new part of the United States. And policies properly change with new conditions. The one determining question in all matters of Government should be 'what is the wise thing to do?' The ancient method of opening a country was to build wagon roads. The modern method is to build railroads.

"To build these railroads ourselves and control them may be an experiment, but such a plan does not suggest scandals more shameful or political conditions more unhealthy than many we have known in new portions of our country under private ownership. And in the end we will be free to establish and maintain our own chosen relationship between Alaska and the rest of the United States, unhampered by threats of confiscation or the restraining hand of any merely selfish influences. We can only secure the highest and fullest use of Alaska by making her railways wholly subordinate to her industrial and social life and needs—true public utilities.

"I favor the adoption of this policy. I believe it to be that under which Alaska will develop most safely and most speedily and under which the resources of that Territory will most certainly become available to the whole people."

Brig. Gen. F. A. Smith Retires.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Brig. Gen. Frederick A. Smith, in command of the Fifth Army Brigade, stationed on the Texas border, retired to-day under the age limit. He was born in New York, was appointed to the Military Academy from that State, reaching the grade of Brigadier General in 1908, and fought in the Indian frontier wars, in Cuba, and in the Philippines.

SENIORS' GIBES END TAP DAY'S GRAVITY

Avery, end on the football team, and Ketcham, Captain of the team for next year, would fill the two other places, the Keys men and their graduate advisers were stirred to great activity, and there was a hasty comparing of lists in the shadow of Battell. The Keys members struck out boldly, for they knew what men were to be had for the tapping. They had several places to fill when Bones practically was through.

Avery was tapped at 5:37 o'clock, and three minutes later Ketcham received the blow and the Bones list was full. Keys rushed in and ended its list with Sloane Colt of New York and Richard A. Douglas of Philadelphia, Chairman of the Board of Editors of The Yale News. Keys was through at 5:43 o'clock, and Wolf's Head at 5:45. The latter society, youngest of the three, did not meet a single rejection.

When it was all over and the critics in the tree, who had seen the latent fun in Tap Day, which generations of Yale students had missed, had scrambled down, it was found that the following men, with these distinctions, had been elected:

SKULL AND BONES.

Thomas L. Daniels, St. Paul, Chairman of the Junior Promenade Committee.

Richard Osborn, Fall River, 'Varsity nine.

Clement M. Gile, Colorado Springs, 'Varsity pitcher.

George W. Patterson, Ann Arbor, business manager of Yale News.

Stoddard King, Spokane, managing editor, News, Phi Beta Kappa.

Percy G. Cornish, Albuquerque, N. M., 'Varsity nine, and member of Junior Promenade Committee.

Lorrin A. Shepard, East Orange, Captain soccer team and President Y. M. C. A.

Henry W. Hobson, Colorado Springs, manager 'Varsity crew.

Herman L. Rogers, Hyde Park, N. Y., crew.

Almet F. Jenks, Jr., Brooklyn, manager dramatic association.

William C. Warren, Buffalo, football and track teams.

William J. Lippincott, Cincinnati, captain crew.

George Gill Jones, New Haven, son of Dean Jones, editor of News, manager soccer team.

Benjamin F. Avery, Aurora (N. Y.) football team.

Henry Holman Ketcham, Brooklyn, Captain of eleven.

SCROLL AND KEY.

John G. Kilbreth, Woodmere, L. I., manager track team.

Gurney L. Smith, Syracuse, football and track teams and Glee Club.

William J. Schieffelin, Jr., New York, Junior Promenade Committee and Phi Beta Kappa.

Edwin J. Phelps, Minneapolis, leader of Banjo and Mandolin Clubs.

Francis Bergen, Bernardsville, N. Y.

Allen Evans, Jr., Haverford, Penn., tennis team and Junior Promenade Committee.

Hugh Harbison, Hartford, football and track teams.

Kenneth L. Moore, Detroit.

Watson S. Harpham, Evanston, Ill., baseball team.

Richard W. Dyer, Chester, Penn., baseball team.

H. Emerson Tuttle, Lake Forest, Ill., editor Literary Magazine and Yale Courant.

Nathaniel Wheeler, Fairfield, Conn., football team.

Ehrman B. Mitchell, Harrisburg, Penn.

Sloane Colt, New York, manager Glee Club and President University Club.

Richard A. Douglas, Chairman News and member track team.

WOLF'S HEAD.

Morgan P. Noyes, Warren, Penn., editor News.

Laurence M. Marks, Brooklyn, editor News and manager debating team.

John F. Blossom, Cleveland, Captain of nine.

Coleman B. McGovern, New York, manager wrestling team.

Frederick G. Blackburn, Pittsburgh, assignment editor.

George H. Semler, New York, Dramatic Association and Phi Beta Kappa.

Alexander M. Hammer, Brookline, Mass., swimmer and manager swimming team.

Scott H. Paradise, West Medford, Mass., editor Literary Magazine and Courant.

Norman K. Evans, Pittsburgh, manager basket ball team and captain class baseball team.

Harold L. Hemingway, New Haven, football team.

William S. Innis, New York, leader Glee Club.

George de F. Lord, Cedarhurst, L. I., Dramatic Association.

Charles M. Baxter, Knoxville, track team.

Everett D. Davis, Elizabeth, N. J., manager Football Association.

Carl C. Brown, Erwin, Tenn., 'Varsity pitcher.

All in Junior Fraternities.

All those men are members of the junior fraternities, of which there are five—Psi Upsilon, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Alpha Delta Phi, Zeta Psi, and Beta Theta Pi. The last-named fraternity had one man, Shepard, President of the Y. M. C. A., and he was the first member of that fraternity to receive an election to Skull and Bones in several years. The membership of the senior societies is about equally divided among the four other fraternities.

This Tap Day was unusual in that there was no great surprise, no great disappointment. Undergraduates seemed to agree that the men had been chosen who had a right to expect it. Such surprises as there were came in the cases where the family connection broke down. It had not been unusual for brothers to be elected to the same society in succeeding Yale classes. In three cases that tradition failed to-day. In one of these cases a junior was expected to receive an election to a society in which his brother was an active member, but was passed over, the brother giving an election to another man.

The insurgent sophomores are not expected to act on to-day's election at present. The men who pledged themselves not to join a senior society unless changes were made will take a vote on to-day's election, and decide whether it has been based on deserts and achievement. That vote may not be taken until next Fall.

The election of Blackburn to Wolf's Head was taken to him in the Yale Infirmary, where he was ill with typhoid fever.

Sons of well-known New Yorkers in the list are William J. Schieffelin, Jr., Almet F. Jenks, Jr., son of Justice Jenks, and Sloane Colt.

Dean F. S. Jones said to-night he was very happy over the result of to-day's ceremonies. He felt that the objections made by the sophomores had been recognized by the societies, and that the men were selected on merit alone.

"The men elected this year are noticeably strong," said the Dean, "and certainly no one can object to them."

He was particularly pleased with the fact that scholarship had received greater recognition than in certain years. Eleven of the men elected were members of Phi Beta Kappa.

CURRENCY BILLS UNDER WAY

Wilson Has a Friend Drafting One—Glass Framing Another.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Wilson declared to-day that a friend of his, a professor of political economy, was drafting a banking and currency bill carrying out his ideas. The President would not reveal who the professor was, but he laughingly answered in the negative a question as to whether it was Prof. J. Lawrence Laughlin of the University of Chicago.

Another bill is being drawn by a member of the House of Representatives, presumably Carter Glass of Virginia, prospective Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, and it is the President's understanding that this bill and the measure his friend is preparing follow the same lines. Any suggestion that the bill would deal with the clearing houses and stock exchanges has been turned down by Mr. Wilson, who insists on a strict currency reform bill.

TARIFF'S EFFECT ON ART.

American Federation Urges Change in Customs Regulations.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Revision of the tariff regulations, which prevent the creations of American artists abroad from entering this country for display, was urged to-day at the convention of the American Federation of Arts.

Thomas Wood Stevens of Chicago said one of the reasons why the small museum failed to flourish was the lack of proper exhibits. This, he added, was because many of the American artists working abroad preferred not to encounter the red tape necessary to be unwound before shipping his works home for exhibition purposes.

In the Underwood tariff bill works of art are placed on the free list.

GANG MADE LEVY OF $500.

Rubin Went to Park with Decoy Package and Arrests Followed.

Harry Rubin, who has a pickle stand at Tenth Street and Avenue A went to Police Headquarters last night with the report that a stranger had served notice on him that the sum of $500 was wanted by the Rivington Street gang. The money was to be taken before midnight to the first bench in Tompkins Square Park.

A decoy package of paper and marked bills was given to him, and with this he went to the Park. When he took his seat Detectives Nagersmith and Saltachia were lolling on a bench near by, and Detectives Maher and McGrath were posted at the gate.

Two men soon slouched to Rubin's bench and seemed to be talking to him. Rubin had arranged to shift his raincoat to the back of the bench as a signal that the money had been passed. He gave the signal and as he did so the two strangers strolled away.

The detectives, although they were two to one, had much difficulty in making the arrests, for one of the prisoners, who said he was Morris Dones of 159 Forsyth Street, had enormous strength. He tossed Detective Saltachia about in a manner quite new to that muscular policeman.

When they were finally subdued all four detectives were battered and Nagersmith's finger was bitten to the bone. The second prisoner said he was Max Miller of 214 East Tenth Street. Rubin said he was the man who had first visited him. The police say the marked bills were found in his pocket.

WOULD GIVE ALASKA STRIP TO BRITAIN

Texas Congressman Offers a Resolution as Harbinger of Universal Peace.

536 MILES ALONG PACIFIC

Project, Fathered by Peace Union, Contemplates Appointment of International Boundary Commission.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—A remarkable proposal in the interest of universal peace was laid before Congress to-day by Representative John H. Stephens of Texas—to donate the pan-handle of Alaska to Great Britain so as to avoid a source of possible friction in the future. The pan-handle is the coast strip of southeastern Alaska, and extends for 536 miles along the Pacific Ocean.

The idea was brought to the attention of Mr. Stephens by the Universal Peace Union of Philadelphia. At the request of this organization Mr. Stephens introduced a joint resolution requesting President Wilson to communicate with Great Britain with a view to the appointment of an international commission to inquire whether a feasible plan could be found for rectifying the pan-handle boundary of Alaska for the benefit of both nations. The resolution says nothing about obtaining any quid pro quo for the surrender of this territory other than the good will of the British nation and the avoidance of a source of possible controversy in the future.

The resolution is prefaced with a preamble of many "whereases," in part as follows:

> Yukon Territory, the northern half of British Columbia, and almost the entire Mackenzie Basin, an aggregate area nearly as large as the portion of the United States lying east of the Mississippi, with a climate like that of Scotland, Scandinavia, and Russia as far south as Moscow, are shut off from the free use of the most direct route to the Pacific by the coast strip of Southeastern Alaska, 536 miles long and, in some places, only eight or ten miles wide.
>
> This unnatural boundary, created in response to conditions which have long since ceased to exist, hampers the economic development of the lands on both sides of it and gives rise to an irritation which is bound to become more and more acute as the demand for those lands increases.
>
> This situation offers an unique opportunity for the United States to set an example in the policy of mutual concessions by an impressive model concession. The celebration of the 100 years' peace that has existed between the two branches of the English-speaking people should not be confined to mere words and ceremonies, but should, if possible, be accompanied by a deed of such nature as to prove the sincerity and earnestness of the participants.

The resolution declares that "nothing could accomplish that object more happily and effectually than the removal of a standing source of irritation between the United States and Canada, which at the same time would constitute the initial record-breaking step in that policy of mutual concessions which is the indispensable prerequisite of universal peace."

MRS. WILSON SLUMMING.

Visits Congested Washington Alleys—Aims to Better Conditions.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Seeking first-hand information for the movement to improve the living conditions of the poor in Washington, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President, has been slumming through a dozen congested alleys.

One of the tours was made yesterday afternoon. The alleys then visited included Logan Court, Snow Court, Goat Alley, Hughes Alley, and Ragland Alley. With Mrs. Wilson were Mrs. James W. Pinchot, Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, and Mrs. E. P. Bicknell, all of whom are interested in sociological work. Representatives Kent and Curry of California and Humphries of Mississippi accompanied them to gather information to submit to Congress regarding conditions in Washingtno's alleys.

Willow Tree Alley, one of the sore spots of the capital, is to be converted into a park under an appropriation made last session. Mrs. Wilson is a member of the Woman's Section of the Welfare Department of the National Civic Federation and is much interested in the demolition of such congested tenements.

It was learned that the President's wife was deeply impressed with the necessity of legislation to do away with the alleys. At least 16,000 persons, white and black, live in these places.

'MOTHER JONES' AT DEBATE.

West Virginia Labor Leaders Hear Senators Discuss Their Troubles.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Senate listened for an hour and a half to-day to a discussion of the right of West Virginia's Governor to establish a military zone in his State, set up martial law there, and to say that prisoners brought before the military tribunal created by him, should be tried by it instead of in the civil courts. Senator Kern's resolution for an investigation of conditions in the coal fields, which brought forth the argument, failed once more to come to a vote.

When discussion of the resolution was begun to-day, "Mother Jones" and a company of West Virginia labor officials occupied seats in the Senate gallery, and closely followed the arguments.

Senator Goff maintained that the Governor's cause was upheld by decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States and the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

"If in such cases," Senator Borah declared, "the Governor of the State can close the doors of the courts and deny the right of trial by jury, when the courts are able to proceed with cases under their jurisdiction, and we, the United States, are forced to sit idly by and see it proceed, we become Mexicanized in forty-eight hours."

No Federal Rockefeller Charter.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Representative Andrew J. Peters of Massachusetts, author of the bill for the Federal incorporation of the Rockefeller Foundation, which failed of enactment in the Sixty-second Congress, said to-night that this measure would no longer be urged upon the consideration of Congress. The project to give the Foundation a Federal charter, said Mr. Peters, would be aoandoned because of its failure at the last session and because of its incorporation in New York State.

WILSON PUTS CHECK ON RUMORS OF WAR

of the current acute differences in a manner satisfactory to the honor of the Japanese Government and the feeling among the people.

The prospect of a continuation of diplomatic exchanges extending probably over a long period are regarded as favorable in spite of the alarmist rumors prevalent in Washington. The traditional friendship between Japan and the United States is looked upon as a great factor in bringing Japan to consider the situation with more complacency.

President Wilson has no intention of entering into further communication with Gov. Johnson. The next move of this Government will be the State Department's answer to the Japanese note of protest.

JAPAN RADICALS AROUSED.

Learn Johnson Will Sign Bill and Again Denounce United States.

TOKIO, May 16.—The announcement that Gov. Johnson of California would sign the Alien Land bill has again aroused the radicals, some of whom have seized the occasion to denounce the Government policy. They describe the legislation as inhuman and oppressive, and ask if the spirit represented by Lincoln, Washington, Garrison, and the Statue of Liberty no longer exists.

Several radical parliamentarians have called a mass meeting for to-morrow, but the more responsible element among the Japanese declare they will not attend, adding that they place complete confidence in the Government to settle the controversy amicably and honorably. They decry any agitation which might prove embarrassing.

The Japanese Foreign Office is optimistic as to the outcome of the controversy. A high official said: "The negotiations are progressing satisfactorily. We expect to reach a friendly and permanent solution of the difficulty."

JURY TAKES TRAIN TRIP.

Goes to Poughkeepsie to Get First-Hand Information.

Judge Mack took the jury in the case of the Amsterdam Building Company of New York against the R. U. Delapenha Company of New Jersey, which he has been hearing in the Federal District Court for the last six weeks to Poughkeepsie yesterday. The jurors were accompanied by the attorneys on both sides and several court attendants.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendant owes it $3,000 for work performed on its factory in Poughkeepsie, and as the question was involved it was decided that it would be best, after the counsel had summed up to have the jurors look over the premises themselves.

The party left the Grand Central Station yesterday morning and after spending the day in Poughkeepsie returned last night. Judge Mack will charge the jury this morning. It was expained last night that the journey merely carried out to an unusual and probably unprecedented extent the principle of the "jury view."

New and Increased Service of Western Trains

On and after May 25, 1913

For the better accommodation of its passenger traffic between the East and the West a new time table of through trains covering the Pennsylvania System will be made effective on the above date. There will be new and increased service between New York and Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and St. Louis. The leaving and arriving time at all the principal cities will be adapted to the requirements and convenience of all classes of travelers and fixed to fit connections with the trans-continental systems. A wider range of choice of leaving time from New York by trains of most acceptable accommodations will be offered.

The through car service will be increased and in a number of cases expedited.

The new time table will present many advantages of completeness and satisfactory arrangement which will at once engage the attention of the traveling public.

Detailed announcement of the schedules and equipment of both the new and old trains will be made before May 25.

THAW, AT HIS EASE, TELLS OF BRIBERY

SUSTAINED BY THE COURT

He Believed He Would Walk Out of Matteawan Free After His $25,000 Reached Dr. Russell.

Harry K. Thaw, the principal witness against John Nicholson Anhut, the lawyer on trial before Justice Seabury, in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, for offering a bribe of $20,000 to Dr. John W. Russell of the State Asylum for the Criminal Insane to obtain Thaw's release, was on the stand all yesterday afternoon. He was not in the least bit ruffled when he was done, and was at ease throughout his testimony, despite the fact that he was in the very courtroom where he had twice been tried for his life for the murder of Stanford White. Only once did he show any feeling, and that was when Arthur C. Palmer, counsel for Anhut, asked him if he was not the man who killed Mr. White. Thaw flushed, and, leaning forward in his chair, seemed about to make an angry retort, when he controlled himself, and, sitting back, said, leisurely:

"Yes."

The greater part of the morning session was taken up in the selection of the jury to try Anhut, and it was 12 o'clock before these men were seated in the box: William S. English, 101 West Forty-eighth Street; Wiliam C. Betts, 49 West Eighty-third Street; Jacob Stern, 308 West Eighty-second Street; Frederick W. Many, 325 West 175th Street; George R. Steinberger, 126 St. Nicholas Avenue; Eugene Fuller, 608 West 140th Street; Stanley H. Stead, 181 West Eighty-seventh Street; Louis F. Smith, 99 Claremont Avenue; Charles T. Hannah, 163 West Eighty-ninth Street; Richard Root, 4 East Sixtieth Street; John G. Taylor, 213 West 136th Street, and Henry L. Plate, 539 West 160th Street.

Assistant District Attorney DeFord in opening said he would prove that Anhut visited Thaw as the result of a prearranged plan and after a long talk with him said he could obtain his release from Mattewan provided Thaw gave him $25,000 with which to bribe Dr. Russell Mr. DeFord said he would call witnesses to corroborate every line of his opening address. He said that the $25,000 was given to Horace A. Hoffman to give to Anhut and that it was understood between Anhut and Thaw that if Thaw was not released by Jan. 1 he would get back $12,500 and that if he was not out by July 1, he should receive the other $12,500.

Thaw was dressed in a gray mixed suit and wore a pair of gold rimmed eyeglasses which he occasionally removed as he answered from the witness chair. To the usual questions he said he was an inmate of the State Asylum at Mattewan and knew the defendant.

"What was said when Mr. Anhut came to see you?" asked the prosecutor.

Thaw's Meeting with Anhut.

"He told me that Dr. Russell knew him, and I asked if they were friends. He said yes, and I asked if I could get out, and how much it would cost me. I knew that Anhut would come, as Dr. Russell had promised to get me a confidential lawyer, and I was a bit disappointed when I saw that Anhut was so young. I guess he saw me about Nov. 2. When I asked what it would cost, Anhut said $25,000. I was surprised, as I did not think it would cost any more than any other alienist, but Anhut said Dr. Russell would do more for me than any other alienist could. I asked Anhut what his part would be, and he said either $2,500 or $5,000, I am not quite sure which. We talked for some time, and Anhut explained that I would get a simple discharge, and would not have to appear in court."

"How were you to get your discharge?" asked Mr. De Ford.

"Why, openly, but not with any undue publicity. If Mr. Anhut said anything, I can't recollect it, but I said that the matter should be taken to court, but he said that the court might not agree on the discharge."

"Was anything said about the doctor's right to discharge any one if his sanitty returned after being sent to Matteawan?"

"Yes, I asked him about that when I asked about the return to court, and we spoke about that. I told him of the case of Mr. Mathewes, who killed his nephew and niece and was acquitted on the ground of insanity, but discharged after two years by Supt. Lamb. I think I spoke of another case, where a man was discharged in six weeks, and the court took no part except to be informed of the discharge. I then asked if I couldn't wait until I got out before paying, but Anhut said that I couldn't, as I would have to pay in advance, as Dr. Russell demanded. Anhut warned me that if anything came out about the transaction he would be disbarred, and he said that nine out of ten persons believed that I was sane."

Thaw then said he expected that he would be discharged as any other patient, and all that would happen would be that he would be put in a carriage and taken to the railroad station.

Q.—Did Anhut say anything about the money being raised in a manner which would not excite suspicion? A.—Yes, something like that was said, and I assured him that no questions would be asked. I had some stocks made out in blank, and asked if Anhut would be able to dispose of them. He said he would, so I got 140 shares of Consolidated Gas stock from one of my relatives. I wish you wouldn't press the question as to who this is, though. I also got $5,000 in $1,000 bills which were sent to me by mail. I received them about a week after my conversation with Anhut. I got the stock and delivered it to a certain person.

Q.—Who? A.—Horace A. Hoffman, a private detective.

Q.—Did you give him some instructions? A.—I don't want to appear that I am talking nonsense, but I really can't recall the instructions I gave.

Q.—Mr. Thaw, I simply want to know what understanding you had with Hoffman? A.—Well, I sent the stock back to get an additional signature.

Q.—You gave him some verbal instructions, didn't you?

Thaw's Own Objections Sustained.

"I'm afraid that an objection here might be sustained," observed Thaw.

"Objection sustained," echoed Justice Seabury.

Thaw smiled and said that the stock was later brought back again and given to Anhut. This ended direct examination, and Mr. Palmer arose and said:

"You are the Harry K. Thaw who shot and killed Stanford White?"

Thaw looked displeased, but, recovering himself quickly, said:

"No; that is not my name. My name is Henry K. Thaw."

"But you shot and killed Stanford White?"

"Yes," replied Thaw.

"Did you intend to kill him?"

"That I refuse to answer."

"Did you intend to shoot him when you pointed a pistol at him?"

"That is a question I also refuse to answer, not because it will tend to incriminate or degrade me, but it is absolutely outside of the issue here."

Mr. Palmer asked Justice Seabury to direct Thaw to answer, but the Court upheld Thaw's contention. Thaw denied that he had ever seen Anhut before the latter visited him in Matteawan. Mr. Palmer asked him if he had not seen Anhut in White Plains. Thaw said that he might have, and added that when Anhut saw him at Matteawan he said he had waved his hand to him in White Plains.

Q.—Are you still friendly with Dr. Russell? A.—Yes, and I always have been. I was not quite so friendly with him, though, after his testimony in White Plains You see, I had been led to believe that he was of the same opinion as Dr. Adolph Meyer, but when he testified differently I was surprised.

Q.—Didn't Dr. Meyer say you were constitutionally inferior, and didn't Dr. Russell say that, too? A.—Yes

Q.—Well, then, they said you were insane, didn't they? A.—No, what they said does not mean that I am insane.

Q.—Haven't you said that you believed that if Dr. Russell took you to the front door and said you were discharged, you would be legally discharged? A.—That is what Dr. Russell and Gov. Stone of Pennsylvania told me.

Q.—But don't you know that under those circumstances you would be a fugitive from justice and liable to arrest without warrant? A.—That is absolutely untrue. Both Dr. Russell and Gov. Stone told me the truth as the law shows.

Q.—Then you hold that all that had to be done was for an attendant to take you to the door and say, "Here, Thaw get out?" A.—No, an attendant would be much more polite than that.

Says He Has Been Patient.

"I object to such a reply," shouted Mr. Palmer.

"It is a direct reply to your question, Mr. Palmer," replied Justice Seabury.

"Who gave you the stock certificates?" asked the lawyer.

"My sister, Mrs. George L. Carnegie."

"You have been very anxious to get out?"

"I think I have been very patient," answered the witness, resignedly.

Thaw insisted that he did not see Anhut at his own request, but that Dr. Russell had sent Anhut to see him He denied that he had ever promised to give Anhut any of his legal business to attend to. He was then handed two slips of paper torn in two, which he identified as receipts for the money he had given Hoffman to give Anhut. Thaw denied that he had ever said that he had been waiting for an opportunity to appear in a legal proceeding, as he believed it would help him obtain his release from Matteawan.

"You have spent a great deal of money in your attempts to get out, haven't you?"

"No, not so much. I should say about $65,000 in all, counting the $25,000 given to Anhut. I was pretty well swindled on my two trials here, though. The costs were something tremendous," and he smiled.

"You said that Russell had given Anhut away, didn't you?"

"I was told that Anhut would see me and fix matters, and Dr. Russell told Mr. Clark that Anhut had offered him a bribe."

Mr. De Ford then took up the redirect examination. Thaw said he had seen Dr. Russell alone on many occasions, but denied that Dr. Russell had spoken of any scheme to obtain his release.

Justice Seabury adjourned court until 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Thaw went away in a taxicab with three attendants from Matteawan. A curious crowd was waiting for him as he jumped into the taxicab, and crowded about it so that it was some minutes before the machine could be started. Thaw was driven to the Grand Central Terminal, where he took a train for Matteawan.

Dr. Russell will be the first witness called to-day, and Horace A. Hoffman will follow him.

STRIKERS ASSAULT HOFFMAN HOUSE

Raiding Barbers Smash Plate Glass Window When Workers There Refuse to Quit.

MOBS ACTIVE IN THE BRONX

I. W. W. Men Break Up Peace Conference—Boss Barbers to Appeal to Gaynor—Rioter Gets Six Months.

The striking barbers continued their campaign of stoning and wrecking in various parts of the city yesterday, but instead of confining their violence to the east side thoroughfares or the highways of the Bronx they carried it right into the heart of Manhattan. The most lawless outburst of the day occurred in Broadway, when 150 strikers massed themselves about the entrance to the barber shop in the Hoffman House.

They found the proprietor out and the journeymen exasperatingly satisfied with their jobs and determined to stick to them. This led to bitter denunciation from the street, and the noise of it arose to a rebellious roar as Policeman Mohne of the West Seventeenth Street Station undertook to disperse the crowd outside. His appearance was the signal for a shower of stones. One of them struck Mohne and another shot through the big plate glass window of the shop.

Mohne saw the man who threw that last stone and he made a dive for him. The man took to his heels. Mohne followed and the mass of the strikers swept along behind. The fugitive was so fleet that he and the policeman managed to keep ahead of the rest and to maintain that lead until Mohne caught his man at Twenty-first Street. Then the crowd caught up and the trouble began. The policeman had to lay about him savagely with his club before he landed his man in the station.

In the Jefferson Market Court Magistrate Cornell did the rest. He has already handled several cases of offending strikers and when this prisoner was arraigned as Alois Genaro of 17 Hancock Street, Brooklyn, the Magistrate packed him off to the workhouse for six months, by which time the strike ought to be over. In imposing sentence the court said:

"These strikes are the work of professional agitators, who come into peaceful communities, causing unrest and dissatisfaction. There is in existence in this country an organization known as the I. W. W. which should be driven from every decent city. I have never witnessed such conditions as have been brought about recently through the agitators working on the feelings of hair-brained individuals. I feel that I shall have done my duty by sending this man away for six months."

A lively incident of the strike in the Bronx was staged at the shop of Joseph Merendeno, at 1,259 Boston Road. The strikers turned the tables by having him arrested. On their several visits to the shop they were warned away by the boss barber, who pointed a revolver at them. On the last visit yesterday afternoon they suddenly jumped upon him, pinioned his arms and ran him out of his own shop into the street, where they handed him over to a policeman as a man who had broken the Sullivan anti-pistol law. Magistrate Marsh, in the Morrisania Court, held Merendeno in $1,000 bail for further examination.

A party of striking barbers raided a shop on 164th Street, near Washington Avenue, at 6 o'clock last night, driving out five customers. Outside the barber's shop the strikers began throwing rocks and the routed customers ran to a hardware store at 3,549 Third Avenue, taking refuge inside. Street work in progress in front of the store furnished the strikers with an unlimited supply of stones, which they began throwing through the plate glass windows.

Jacob Bruell, proprietor of the barber's shop summoned help with his police whistle, there were nearly a score of holes in the windows, and Patrolmen Voeldel and Koster of the Morrisania Station responded. They arrested Francis Sasso of 2,375 Belmont Avenue for malicious mischief, but when they tried to take him to the station they had a mob of strikers and strike sympathizers to reckon with.

Magistrate Kernochan in the Night Court sentenced Frank Mandesi of 242 West Sixty-second Street to ninety days in the workhouse for disorderly conduct in connection with the barbers' strike. Mandesi was arrested on Wednesday night at Ninth Avenue and Forty-eighth Street, after Policeman Salmon of the West 100th Street Station had been hit on the had with a stone. Salmon is now on sick leave. Mandesi, according to the testimony, was caught with a stone in his hand, and he had thrown one.

Magistrate Kernochan followed the sentence of Mandesi with sentences of 30 days each for Tony Dominick of 321 East Ninety-first Street, and Josani Gerrezzano of 314 East Seventieth Street. They had been members of the same crowd.

As a result of the failure to settle the barbers' strike at a conference between representatives of the four associations of employers and the strike leaders yesterday afternoon, Julius Browner, President of the largest of these associations, announced last night that he would appoint a committee of fifty boss barbers to call on Mayor Gaynor some time today and present the employers' side of the case. The committee, he said, would ask the Mayor to use his influence to bring about a settlement, or, failing in that, to provide ample police protection for those who do not want to strike but who have been forced to quit work through fear.

The conference was called by the local representatives of the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration and was held in the rooms of the board, 381 Fourth Avenue. The employers present were Michael Starace, President, and Tony Franzi, Secretary, of Boss Barbers' Association No. 1, employing 500 barbers; Julius Browner, President and Patsy Zarelli, Secretary, of Boss Barbers' Association No. 2, employing 3,000 barbers; Robert Burns Laidley, President, and Frank Grieco, Secretary, of the West Side Barbers' Association, employing 500 barbers, and Nick Patitsas, representing a fourth association. Hugh Frayne, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, and representatives of the American Federation of Labor union barbers were also present.

The meeting was scheduled for 2 P. M., but the bosses were kept waiting until 3:30 before the representatives of the strikers appeared. They consisted of Frank Cancellieri, who is running the strike, and several members of the strike committee. The strike leaders were not in a conciliatory mood. Cancellieri wanted to know if the bosses present represented the barbers. When he was told that they employed 4,000 barbers, he demanded to know if the associations were incorporated, and was told that they were unincorporated.

"Then there's nothing doing," he said.

"Is your union incorporated?" asked John J. Bealin of the State board, who presided.

Cancellieri replied that it was, and when he was asked what incorporation meant, he said:

"Our union is going to get a charter from the Industrial Workers of the World."

When incorporation, as it is generally understood, was explained to him the meeting went on and the employers submitted the counter-proposition they agreed on last week and under which the barbers would go to work at 7 A. M. instead of 8 A. M. as demanded by the strikers. He proposed that committees of four thrash the matter out. The strike leaders refused to enter into any negotiations unless the bosses would guarantee to enroll all the bosses of the city in one organization, and the conference then broke up.

Browner, who was the spokesman of the other boss barbers, said after the conference:

"The I. W. W. leaders don't want to settle while they can make a good living out of the strike, and that is all there is to it."

A meeting of committees of the United Hebrew Trades and the unions of Jewish, American, and Italian barbers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor will be held to-day to take action on the strike. Members of these unions complain that they were forced to go out by mobs of I. W. W. strikers.

The I. W. W. strikers will try to get a permit to-day for a parade in the afternoon from Columbus Circle, through West Fifty-ninth Street, down Fifth Avenue to Seventeenth, and then to Union Square, where it is proposed to hold a mass meeting.

SAFE ROBBERS BIND AND GAG WATCHMAN

Threw Their Prisoner Into a Vacant Room, Where Big Rats Kept Him in Terror.

Safe blowers early yesterday morning ventured south of the "dead line" established years ago at Fulton Street for the protection of the financial district by Thomas Byrnes when he was Superintendent of Police, and got away with $9,000 worth of unset diamonds, pearls, gold, and platinum from the safe of Sigmund Kohn on the second floor of 41 Maiden Lane. They left behind in a vacant office in the rear of the same floor a private watchman whom they had gagged and bound. It was the second time within a year that thieves had invaded the heart of the wholesale jewelry district.

On the first floor of 41 Maiden Lane are the offices of Stone & Cohen, one of the largest diamond firms in the street, which the robbers had to pass in going to Kohn's offices, but which they made no attempt to enter. After clearing out the gems from one of the safes in Kohn's place the thieves broke into two other rooms, both of which happened to be tenantless, and were drilling a hole through the wall of the jewelry rooms of Pine & Cohen on the third floor rear when interrupted by the arrival of the watchman. The thieves went down to the second floor to meet him, concealed themselves near the elevator, and attacked the watchman as he came up from the street door.

Harry Bartel, the watchman, is the chief of some half dozen private watchmen employed by jewelers of the district. He entered 41 Maiden Lane at 5:45 A. M. to make his customary rounds. The street door was locked, and he relocked it as he went in. This is his story of what followed:

"When I reached the head of the winding stairs which curl around the elevator shaft two masked men jumped out of the corner of the hall and began choking me. I got only a glimpse of them from the light of the lantern I carried when they knocked the light from my hand and had me pinned to the floor. Before I could cry out they had gagged me with three handkerchiefs. Then they dragged me to a big vacant office midway on the same floor, where bags of paper and waste were stored, and threw me across the bags, tieing my legs and arms with rope and wire cords."

The room where Bartel was placed was infested with big rats, which terrorized the imprisoned watchman as they ran over and around him in the darkness, but the struggles he made to release himself evidently kept them from attacking him, for he escaped with only a scratch on his hand from the teeth of one of the rodents.

It was nearly an hour later when Bartel managed to release himself and call Patrolman Albert H. Stanley of the Old Slip Street Station. After telling his story to the police Bartel was so unnerved by his experience that he went at once to his home at Elizabethport, N. J. He is an elderly man and has been a watchman in the district for thirty years. He was unable to describe the thieves, who, he says, were masked. Only two attacked him, but there may have been more in the party, he says.

The thieves entered Kohn's office by removing the putty around the glass in a partition in the hallway dividing that office from others on the floor. This gave them an opening two by three feet. Once inside they drilled a hole near the top of one of the safes by attaching the drill to the electric fixture. In this hole they inserted a long sectional jimmy known to the police as a "can-opener," and pried open the safe door. The contents of the safe they emptied into newspapers and towels.

The stolen gems were carried to the third floor rear, where the burglars broks into Room 23, which was vacant, but which still bore the sign of the diamond merchants who had tenanted it, and which evidently led the safe crackers to believe they could get more booty there Through the partition dividing this room from that of Pine & Cohen a hole eight by ten inches was cut.

Scattered around the floor of the empty room the police found $1,000 worth of jewelry and gems which the thieves had dropped in their haste to escape after the attack on the watchman. There, too, were checks and memoranda of jewels received by Kohn from customers who had left articles with him for setting.

The door of an office occupied by H. B. Roelker and the Allen Dense Air Ice Machine, adjoining that of Kohn, was also broken open. It is supposed that the thieves first tried to enter Kohn's from that side, as there was a small hole drilled in the wall until the hard brick partition was struck.

A safe in Kohn's office containing many gold and silver mesh bags, which he manufactures for the trade, was overlooked by the thieves. Much of the stolen plunder belonged to customers of the firm, and as Kohn had no insurance and is not a member of the Jewelers' Alliance, the loss will fall heavily upon him.

Miss Kate Ackerman of 815 Washington Avenue, the Bronx, and Miss Schneider, clerks in Kohn's office, told the police of two young men who had called there the day before, and acted in a way that seemed suspicious to Kohn and his employes. Two sectional jimmies and two smaller burglars' tools were found on the floor with some of the stolen articles. Beyond these slight clues the detectives had nothing to work upon.

It is believed that the thieves were concealed in the building all night, probably in the room where they bound Bartel. The fact that the front door was closed and locked supported this theory. After binding the watchman they took his keys from him and opened the front door, leaving the keys in the lock.

Six years ago, when Kohn had a store on Broadway, near Twenty-third Street, he was robbed of $2,500 in jewelry, of which 75 per cent. was recovered by the police. On Feb. 12, 1912, $20,000 worth of jewelry was taken from S. Rose at 47 Maiden Lane.

WILL KEEP PARKS CLEAN.

Mayor Orders That People Who Throw Paper There Be Arrested.

Mayor Gaynor has started a crusade against persons who litter the parks with rubbish. In a letter to A. H. Spencer, Chairman of the Parks Advisory Committee, the Mayor said he had called the attention of the four Park Commissioners to the subject, and that they would put placards at the entrances to the parks, notifying those who entered that they would be arrested if they threw any paper or other material whatever on the ground, and that cards would be circulated to the same effect.

"I am also going to tell the Commissioners to send a special squad of police to arrest all who commit this offense," wrote the Mayor. "I hate to arrest people, but those who throw papers and other litter in the parks, or in any way dirty or defile them, ought to be arrested. We must follow this matter up until these dirty people, who have no gratitude for the fine parks which we put at their disposal, are taught a lesson."

FOR G. O. P. CONVENTION.

Senator La Follette Is Said to Favor One Next Winter or Spring.

Special to The New York Times..

MADISON, Wis., May 15.—Senator Robert M. La Follette will favor the holding of a Republican National Convention either in the Winter or Spring, according to statements made to-day by his lieutenants. The explanation given for his refusal to participate in the Cummins conference in Chicago last Monday is that he does not feel that the "time has arrived yet for taking steps to call a National Convention."

Congressman Irvine L. Lenroot, a La Follette leader, expressed what the Senator's friends say were his own sentiments when he dclared for a convention this Winter.

"I beileve a National Convention will be called in a year for the purpose of reorganizing the party," he said. "There should be no thought of Presidential candidates for 1916 in that convention."

Both Congressman Lenroot and Lieut. Gov. Thomas Morris are being groomed by the La Follette forces to seek Senator Stephenson's seat.

State Senator George E. Scott, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, indorsed the idea of a convention this Winter. "We are in line here for a reorganization that limits Southern representation in the convention," he said. "We favor the election of delegates to National Conventions by State primaries."

The plan of the La Follette men is to induce the Senator's supporters in all the Middle Western States to hold banquets and meetings in the next few days to give indorsement to the project of a National Convention this Winter and to discuss means for the rejuvenating the party in each State.

American Killed by a Mexican.

EL PASO, Texas, May 15.—William Protexter, an American conductor on the Mexico Northwestern Railroad, was killed Tuesday in La Junta, Chihuahua, acording to information received here to-day. He had a dispute with several Mexicans. Protexter killed a cousin of Pascual Orozco and wounded another Mexican. Then, his ammunition exhausted, he was shot by his wounded victim.

"Four alterations and I have it on!"

¶ A gentleman was in to see us the other day, who is noted for dignity and good taste in his dress.

¶ And the conversation happening on the subject of clothes, he yanked a recreant collar into place and apostrophised the suit he was wearing in the following terms:

¶ "Four alterations and at last I have it on! Made by Mr. Blank and cost me $85! What do you think of it?"

¶ In reply to which we told him that we were always reluctant to criticise other people's clothes, but that we thought he was old enough to know better.

¶ No, Sir, he did not buy a suit of Saks clothes, despite the fact that he has a singularly receptive mind and is always open to reason.

¶ But don't you know that there are certain people in this world who would rather spend $85 and be dissatisfied than spend $40 and be happy?

¶ In which connection, and if you belong to the class of people referred to, let us suggest that you consider the advisability of coming to Saks' where satisfaction in clothes is a thing assured.

Saks-Hartmann "Berth-high" Steamer Wardrobe Trunks

¶ One of the best wardrobe trunks made for rail and ocean travel. Its greatest merit is its capacity. There is such economy used in the distribution of its interior space, that not an inch of it is wasted. Another feature of the "Berth-high" is a hinged wardrobe tray, equipped to carry gowns or suits, as the case may be, which swings up and out and remains stationary, being automatically locked. Underneath this wardrobe tray, in the lower berth, so to speak, are minor trays and compartments, conveniently arranged for whatever you care to put into them. A beautifully constructed trunk that will give a lifetime of hard service.

Saks-Hartmann "Rite-Hite" Wardrobe Trunks

¶ There are so many patented features in this celebrated wardrobe trunk that it would tax space and patience to describe them. Suffice it to say, that all have for their purpose the greater convenience and comfort of the user. The hangers are clean cut and not cumbersome, allowing more space for gowns or suits. The drawers are most capacious and a very ingenious contrivance is a pair of top drawers which are readily convertible into a large compartment for the accommodation of millinery. A really wonderful trunk, and magnificently made and finished.

SUFFRAGE LEADERS HELD FOR TRIAL

Allowed Out on Bail—Militants' "Roll of Honor" Produced in London Court.

SEVERAL BOMBS ARE FOUND

One Outside the National Gallery—Painting in a Church Defaced—Churchill's Children Guarded.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, May 16.—The six militant suffragette leaders who were arrested on the charge of conspiracy at the time of the raid on their headquarters were committed for trial yesterday by the Magistrate at the Bow Street Police Court. The analytical chemist Clayton was also held for trial, bail in his case being fixed at $15,000. The women were allowed out on bail in smaller sums.

A new kind of suffragette outrage was committed yesterday, a sacred painting in a church at Eastbourne being defaced.

The day's catalogue of discoveries included four supposed bombs, one near the National Gallery; a church fire, banana skins on a golf course, arranged in the letters of the suffragette motto; an organized attack on shop windows in a provincial town, and several bomb hoaxes.

In consequence of letters received by First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill and his wife, threatening the kidnapping of their children, a Scotland Yard officer goes to Mr. Churchill's house every morning and afternoon and accompanies the nurse and her charges during the children's daily outings.

LONDON, May 15.—All the accused militant suffragette leaders, with a male adherent of the "cause," who were committed to-day by Henry Curtis Bennett, the Magistrate at the Bow Street Police Court, to take their trial at the Old Bailey Sessions on charges of conspiracy under the Malicious Damage to Property act, pleaded not guilty and reserved their defense.

Bail was allowed on the usual undertaking being given by the prisoners that they would refrain from participation in militancy pending their trial.

The amount of the bail ranged from $4,000 in the case of Alice Lake, Laura Lennox, and Mrs. Beatrice Saunders to $15,000 in the case of the chemist Clayton. The others committed were Annie Kenney, Harriet Rebecca Kerr, and Rachel Barratt.

The militant suffragettes' "roll of honor," entitled "The Crimes Record Book," created profound interest when it was produced in the course of to-day's proceedings. Particulars of some 1,400 convictions for suffragette outrages, in which 456 persons were concerned, were entered in the list exhibited, which was accompanied by receipts for money paid to some of the perpetrators.

Mrs. Pankhurst's conviction on the charge of inciting others to commit the bomb outrage which destroyed Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George's country house at Walton Heath was among the entries, as well as all sorts of trivial disturbances arising from deputations of women to the Houses of Parliament.

One item, referring to "Prisoners' hampers—$400," indicated that considerable quantities of chocolates and other delicacies must have been supplied to the imprisoned "martyrs."

A comprehensive form was provided for the signature of those seeking to have their records entered in the "Crimes Record Book." It asked the name, prison, date of arrest, date of committal for trial, result of the trial, where imprisoned, date of release, reason for release, "did you hunger strike, and if so how long?" and dates of previous imprisonments. Attached to some of the forms were receipts for medals, illuminated addresses, and brooches.

Magistrate Curtis Bennett is the latest public man for whose protection detectives have been assigned by the police authorities at Scotland Yard. He is accompanied every day to and from the Bow Street Police Court by two officers in plain clothes.

A so-called suffragette "bomb" was found last night outside the National Gallery. The machine consisted of a tin can filled with live cartridges wrapped in a copy of The Suffragette. It was labeled "Pills to break the windows of the National Gallery." There was no mechanism or detonator connected with the explosives, and therefore the "bomb," like many previous ones, was harmless. Suffragettes apparently threw it over the high railing, as it was found lying against the wall of the west wing of the building.

Several more suffragette bombs were discovered to-night, but they had done no damage. One was found at the railway station at Aylesbury, another at a hotel at Brentwood, and a third in the private chapel on the Duke of Buccleuch's estate at Dalkeith, Scotland.

The Oxford Union to-night debated the question of woman's suffrage, Israel Zangwill being the principal speaker. A motion in favor of woman's suffrage was carried by 199 votes to 190.

EASTBOURNE, May 15.—A fire started by militant suffragettes to-day damaged the organ in St. Anne's Church here, but it was discovered in time to prevent the flames spreading to a valuable painting in the building representing Christ being entombed.

The picture was defaced, the word "Votes" being scratched in several places.

BURNS WORKS ON MYSTERY.

Trying to Find a Hungarian Who Disappeared at Nice.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, May 15.—W. J. Burns, the detective, has been engaged by the well-known Budapest banking family of Havas to endeavor to discover the whereabouts of Ernst Havas, a lawyer, son of the Director of the Budapest Bank.

M. Havas was with his family at a well-known Nice hotel and mysteriously disappeared some time ago. The French police made a thorough search of the coast and even of Corsica, but it was unsuccessful. The family thereupon called in Mr. Burns, who is now at Nice making an investigation.

A Nice correspondent of THE NEW YORK TIMES says it is reported there that M. Havas was murdered and that his body was tied in a sack and thrown into the sea near Cannes.

FIRST VICTIM OF AIR LAW.

French Aviator Moulinais Charged with Violating British Act.

LONDON, May 15.—The well-known French aviator Marcel G. Brindejonc des Moulinais, who landed at Hendon from his monoplane last Sunday after a 450-mile flight from Bremen, is the first airman to fall a victim to the comprehensive prohibition issued under the new Aviation Regulation act by Home Secretary McKenna against flyers invading Great Britain without permits.

The aviator was arraigned at the Bow Street Police Court to-day on the charge of violating the act. He pleaded ignorance of the regulations, but he was ordered by the Magistrate to deposit a bond of $200 to appear for judgment if called upon to do so.

The summons charged the airman with failing to send notice to the British Government before he entered the country and with traversing one of the prohibited areas.

In his flight from Germany to England the aviator made a new record for the passage across the English Channel from Calais to Dover, which he accomplished in twenty minutes.

American Inquirers Get More Facts as to Rural Credits.

FLORENCE, May 15.—A large party of members of the American Commission for the study of European systems of agricultural co-operation and rural credits arrived here to-day.

The Americans were received by the United States Consul, the Mayor, and the Aldermen. They immediately set to work on their investigation of the economic conditions prevailing among the agriculturists of Tuscany.

PALERMO, May 15.—Fifteen members of the American Agricultural Commission arrived here to-day and were cordially greeted by the authorities.

They afterward obtained much information in regard to rural credits and economic conditions from leading agriculturists and economists.

FRENCH SCANDAL GROWS.

Gambling Commissioner Says Alleged Report by Him Was Forged.

PARIS, May 15.—The statement in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday by Vicomte Gustave de Kerguezec that many Deputies and Senators were addicted to gambling in public and private places, and that the police had therefore found much difficulty in establishing any case of a breach of the law because of the protection given to those places, was made on the alleged authority of the special Gambling Police Commissioner, M. Aschwanden.

The Commissioner to-day declared that he did not write the gambling report read in the Chamber, and asserted that the document was forged.

Minister of the Interior Klotz has ordered an investigation. Georges Berry, Deputy for the Seine, mantains the authenticity of the report, which, he promises, he will prove before a committee of investigation.

The Paris newspapers deplore the controversy as threatening another public scandal.

AFRICAN LINER SAFE.

Belief That Cape Blanco Wreck Is Ship Abandoned Six Years Ago.

LONDON, May 15.—The Union-Castle Steamship Company received a message to-day establishing the safety of the liner Kenilworth Castle, which, it was thought, might be the steamer reported ashore at Cape Blanco, on the west coast of Africa.

The vessels of the company are thus all accounted for, and it is believed that the wreck is that of the French cruiser Jean Bart, which went ashore at Cape Blanco in February, 1907.

A wireless message from the British cruiser Forte say that although she searched the coast she found no trace of the liner reported ashore. The Forte's commander expresses the belief that the Jean Bart was the wreck seen on May 10.

MORGAN MEMORIAL OPEN.

Family of Late Financier Makes Further Donation to Aix Hospital.

AIX-LES-BAINS, May 15.—The Leon Blanc Hospital, given by the late J. Pierpont Morgan to the City of Aix-les-Bains as a memorial to his former physician, Dr. Leon Blanc, was formally opened to-day by the Mayor in the presence of representatives of the French Government, of the Red Cross Society, and of a number of medical organizations.

A great gold medal which was to be given to Mr. Morgan was received by his nephew, Walter Burns, and by Henry P. Davison, a partner of the late financier.

On behalf of the Morgan family Mr. Davison gracefully acknowledged the eulogies of Mr. Morgan that were uttered. He then announced a gift of $3,000 from the Morgan family to the institution.

ROTHSCHILD'S PLAY A STORM CENTRE

Buyer of English and American Rights Enjoins Performance of "Croesus."

STAR SIDES WITH AUTHOR

Hansen Says They Misunderstood and Violated Contracts—He May Sue for $3,500 Damages.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 15.—Baron Henri de Rothschild is having serious difficulties over the production of his new play "Croesus," whose central idea is that the millionaire's lot is an unhappy one. The first performance is fixed for Thursday next at the Garrick. Arthur Bouchier has the title rôle, and Baron de Rothschild is already in London to witness the rehearsals. Matters, however, are not proceeding as merrily as a marriage bell at the Garrick. Indeed, an injunction has been taken out to restrain Mr. Bouchier from using the Garrick, or continuing rehearsals. The law is invoked by J. Salter Hansen, an American, who, as announced by THE NEW YORK TIMES recently, has obtained the English and American rights to "Croesus" from the Baron. To-night the theatre is guarded by Mr. Bouchier's employes to prevent Mr. Hansen from obtaining possession.

Mr. Bouchier refuses to make a statement, and Baron de Rothschild, who has been busy all day with his lawyers, is likewise reticent, so at present the only information throwing light upon the strange situation comes from Mr. Hansen. He asserts that he paid the Baron $3,000 for the British and American rights and gave Mr. Bouchier, who was the original lessor of the Garrick Theatre, $7,500 in advance on a three months' rental; also that he hired Mr. Bouchier to play the title rôle at $625 a week. Rehearsals were in progress for some weeks, but, as Mr. Bouchier had another play running at the same theatre, May 10, Mr. Hansen says, was stipulated as the date on which he was to take charge of the premises. On that date, according to his story, he was barred from the theatre, Mr. Bouchier and Baron de Rothschild announcing that they would produce the play without him.

Mr. Hansen further alleges that during the preliminary rehearsals Mr. Bouchier made changes without his consent and also refused to engage certain actors previously named for the cast. Mr. Hansen now declares that, as Mr. Bouchier has violated his contract, he will not allow him to play the title rôle whenever the play is produced. He also explains that the whole trouble has arisen from the fact that Mr. Bouchier had not understood that Baron de Rothschild had sold Hansen the rights outright and regarded him merely as the Baron's representative; also that Baron de Rothschild formed his alliance with Bouchier, not understanding that Bouchier had let his theatre rights to Hansen, besides hiring his services as an actor.

Mr. Bouchier and Baron de Rothschild, it is said, admit that Mr. Hansen has contracts, but advance as their reason for not allowing him possession of the theatre the fact that the Baron advanced him $15,000 for the British producing and publicity funds, which to date have not been applied to that purpose.

Mr. Hansen also says that if he does not produce the play under his present contracts he will sue for $3,500 damages.

Baron de Rothschild, who is at the Carlton Hotel, denied himself to interviewers to-night, saying that to-morrow would determine the course he was to pursue. Mr. Bouchier was found to-night in his box at the Kingsway Theatre and invited to make a statement of his side of the case, but angrily refused.

GERMANS GET BRITISH JOB.

Bids for Works on London Docks Below Those of Home Firms.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 15.—Two big English contracts have gone to Germany. They are for two pairs of lock gates and a swing bridge for the East India Dock here.

The Port of London Authority says it found it necessary to place the contracts abroad, the lowest tender from a British firm being £51,371, ($256,855,) against £34,729 ($173,645) from the Continental firm, with considerable acceleration in the time of delivery promised by the German concern.

OIL TRUST WINS SUIT.

Hamburg Must Return Taxes Collected from Vacuum Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 15.—The German Vacuum Oil Company, one of the German offshoots of the Standard Oil Company, has won its long drawn-out litigation against the tax authorities of the City of Hamburg.

The company paid income tax assessed against its profits under protest and then sued the city for repayment. Its claim was first rejected, but the Court of Appeals has now upheld it and has ordered the tax authorities to reimburse the company the full amount paid, together with 4 per cent. interest for three years.

The bone of contention was what particular revenues of the company were taxable as profits.

He preserves secrecy regarding the name of his fiancée.

BIGGER ARMY "INEVITABLE."

French Premier's Declaration—Chamber Indorses the Policy.

PARIS, May 15.—Premier Barthou declared in the Chamber to-day that the retention of this year's time-expired soldiers in the army was urgent and inevitable in consequence of the European situation.

He made this statement in reply to questions by Deputies Durafour and Brizon, who asked him whether it was necessary to keep the men with the colors for another year. The Premier said the Government took the fullest responsibility for this action.

The Premier's declaration was followed by an animated debate. Mr. Durafour alluded to what he termed the "audacity" of the Premier in using bellicose language in a speech at Caen two weeks ago, "at a moment when the peace of Europe was assured." The Government, without adequate cause, the speaker said, was depriving a quarter of a million young men of their liberty and was depriving France of a year of their more useful service in civil life.

Edouard Lachaud, Radical-Republican, said there was no place to house the new recruits if the time-expired men were retained, and he asserted that the barracks were now breeding places for tuberculosis.

The Chamber approved the Government's military policy by a vote of 315 to 241.

MEXICAN DEPUTY SEES END TO HUERTA

Fabela Predicts His Quick Fall if United States Fails to Recognize His Government.

A MOVE TO IMPEACH HIM

Conspiracy and Usurpation the Burden of Charges Made in Mexican House.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, May 15.—Dr. Isidro Fabela, a Mexican Deputy who was forced to flee Mexico after last Saturday's session of the Chamber, arrived in Havana to-night and gave out an interview in which he said:

"The attitude of the United States in not recognizing Provisional President Huerta's Government will cause the early fall of the present Administration in Mexico."

President Huerta intends to dissolve Congress as soon as the present budgets are approved, according to Deputy Fabelo.

"For that reason," said the Deputy, "the opposition expects high-handed measures on the part of the Government. Conditions throughout Mexico rapidly are becoming worse. Already the rebel forces under the insurgent Governor of Coahuila, Venustiano Carranza, control the States of Chihuahua, Coahuila, Sonora, Tamaulipas, Durango, Michoacan, and a large part of Zacatecas, as well as various towns in Jalisco and Tepic.

"Although not as bad as in the North, Southern conditions also slowly but surely are getting beyond the control of the Federals. Emiliano Zapata already is invading parts of the State of Mexico and Guerrero, while rebel bands also are appearing in Vera Cruz and Puebla, which until recently have been tranquil. Cuernavaca has been attacked twice, but each time the Federals repulsed the attacks because they outnumbered the rebels, but that place may fall any day.

"Notwithstanding the fact that they supposedly are immune," the Deputy continued, "the Liberal Deputies feel that they have no guarantees of safety. More than twenty of them have been compelled to flee the country. I was obliged to flee from Mexico after last Saturday's session of the Chamber, wherein I interpellated the Ministers of the Government regarding the arbitrary detention of the editor of El Voto and the suppression of his paper. Such arbitrary action now is of daily occurrence, showing that the Huerta régime respects no existing laws."

MAY IMPEACH PRESIDENT.

Charges of Conspiracy Brought Against Him in Lower House.

MEXICO CITY, May 15.—Formal charges of conspiracy, usurpation and assassination against Gen. Victoriano Huerta, provisional President of Mexico, have been made by Heriberto Barron, formerly commercial agent of the Madero government in the United States. Barron is now in New York City. The charges were read at an executive session of the Chamber of Deputies to-night. Barron asks for the impeachment of the President. The charges were referred to a committee, and it is expected that they will be reported to the House.

Manuel Calero, formerly Ambassador at Washington, had a long conference to-day with President Huerta. It is reported that he notified Huerta of his intention to stand as a candidate for the Presidency.

The newspaper Independiente, which has been pronounced in its antagonism to the United States, will publish to-morrow the alleged discovery of an intervention party in the United States, made up of representatives of many sections and including several Congressmen.

MEXICO RAISES $25,000,000.

Loan Arranged Through Lord Cowdray, Owner of Oil Fields.

LONDON, May 15.—A Mexican Government loan of $25,000,000 for the restoration of the railroads in that country is understood to have been practically arranged here and in Paris. The terms have not yet become public, but it is stated that they are high.

The Mexican agents are endeavoring to secure a total of $75,000,000, the balance of which is to be utilized for governmental purposes.

Lord Cowdray has been active in the negotiations, but not through Coutts's Bank, as previously reported.

Lord Cowdray, who was Sir Weetman Pearson before he was raised to the Peerage, is heavily interested in Mexican oil properties.

BRITISH HOLD GUN RECORD.

Superdreadnought's 13.5-Inch Pieces Make 97½ Per Cent. of Hits.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 15.—The world's record with 13.5-inch guns has just been made by the super-dreadnought King George V. Out of forty rounds fired by these guns thirty-nine hit the target. They fired 1,400-pound shells as against the 1,250-pound shells discharged by the 13.5-inch guns of the Orion and the Lion.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—American ordnance officers to-night manifested interest in the report of record-breaking gunnery from London.

The American naval record for big guns was made by the battleship South Carolina at target practice in 1910. On that occasion 54 hits out of 57 shots were registered with 12-inch guns. This record is almost as good as that of the King George V. Reduced to percentages the record reported for the King George V. is 97½ per cent. of hits out of a possible 100 per cent. The record of the South Carolina in 1910 was 94 7-100 per cent.

The range and conditions under which the King George V. made her record are eagerly awaited here, but it is asserted by naval ordnance men that the conditions under which the King George V. fired were probably approximately the same as those under which the South Carolina made its record for the American navy.

The King George V. is armed with the new 13½-inch guns, which were introduced only a few years ago, having been brought out just about the time that the American Navy completed the construction of its first 14-inch guns. These 14-inch guns are to be installed first in the new battleship New York, which is nearing completion, and will mount ten weapons of that calibre.

MRS. D. S. MACKAY'S DENIAL.

Daughter Not Going on the Stage, Her Mother Says.

"Report to the effect that Miss Winifred Mackay, daughter of Mrs. Donald Sage Mackay, intended to embark upon a stage career, was denied yesterday by her mother, who is at her country residence at Bluehill, Me. Miss Mackay, who is now attending a fashionable girls' school, was reported to be considering the purpose of amplifying her experience in amateur theatricals by a taste of the professional stage.

Mrs. Mackay characterizes the report as absolutely false. Mrs. Mackay is the widow of the Rev. Donald Sage Mackay, who died in 1908, and was well known among New York clergymen when he was pastor of the Collegiate Church of St. Nicholas, at Fifth Avenue and Forty-eighth Street. Mrs. Mackay is the daughter of J. Gregory Smith, ex-Governor of Vermont.

DOG BITE STOPS DOGFIGHT.

One Owner Accused Other of Cruelty Because Dogs Wouldn't Wait.

A highly indignant citizen appeared before Magistrate Geismar in the New Jersey Avenue Court, Brooklyn, yesterday, and accused one of his neighbors of cruelty to animals.

"He let his bulldog bite mine, your Honor," the complainant explained.

"Well, how did it all happen?" the court asked.

"Well, it was this way, Judge. You see, I took my pup over to his place to arrange for a dog fight, and while we were talking his dog jumped at mine and bit it."

The complainant was greatly astonished and aggrieved when the Magistrate held both him and the man he complained against for the Court of Special Session in $100 bail each.

GREETING FOR BRYAN AS PEACE APOSTLE

Ambassadors and Ministers of Latin America Hear His Assurances of Closer Sympathy.

DINNER AT THE WALDORF

Wilson Administration Pledged to Help Business Men, but Will Exact Good Faith and Honor.

Among Ambassadors and Ministers of twenty Central and South American Republics, Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, at a dinner given in his honor and theirs by the Pan-American Society of the United States at the Waldorf last night, urged the need of closer sympathy and co-operation between the countries of the Western Hemisphere, and declared that this Government, while determined to help American capital and enterprise as much as possible in the fullest development of the latent resources of the sister republics to the south, would insist under the Administration of President Wilson that American business men should carry into those countries the highest conception of honor and good faith, and that in their dealings they should give a dollar's worth of service for every dollar they collected as compensation.

Secretary Bryan was hailed by the 750 diners who made up that gathering of diplomats, bankers, business men and professional men interested in cementing closer relations between the North and South side of the world, as an apostle of world peace. Special emphasis was laid by the speakers on the pacific mission to the Western coast from which he had recently returned, and on account of which the dinner of last night was postponed from the original date, April 23, at the urgent request of Central and South American Ambassadors and Ministers at Washington, who felt that without his presence it would not be truly Pan-American.

In responding to the acclaim for him, Secretary Bryan declared that the only thing that troubled him in his relations with the distinguished diplomats there present was that his opportunities to meet them seemed to be proportionate to the disturbances rather than to the quiet of their lands.

"And I have become so attached to them," he added, "that I almost yearn for trouble. But I am anxious that they should go away as smiling as when they came that, while I am a bit desirous of irritation, I want none that will not yield to diplomatic negotiations. I am so proud of my relations to these distinguished gentlemen from the South that I can assure you the Secretary of War will never be substituted for me, and even the Secretary of the Navy will have to content himself with personally inspecting his target practice in peace.

Secretary Bryan's statement, "The Lord has made us neighbors; let justice make us friends," was made the keynote of the meeting last night. Flags of the United States and all its Central and South American sister republics were draped everywhere in the grand ballroom, and in clusters on every table. They hung from the boxes, too, which had been thrown open to the ladies of the diners. The floral decorations were almost wholly of the peaceful palm.

The Distinguished Company.

Secretary Bryan sat at the right of the toastmaster, Henry White, former Ambassador to France and now President of the Pan-American Society. The Brazilian Ambassador, Domicio Da Gama, sat at the toastmaster's left. Toward either end of the long table were ranged the remaining Ministers of the Latin-American countries, with the exception of Mexico, that country, in its present unsettled diplomatic state, being represented by its Chargé d'Affaires, A. Algara R. de Terreros. The others at the speakers' table were:

John Barrett, Director General of the Pan-American Union; Alberto Membreno, Minister of Honduras; Federico A. Pezet, Minister of Peru; Joaquin Mendez, Minister of Guatemala; Dr. John H. Finley, President College of the City of New York; Carlos M. de Pena, Minister of Uruguay; Lloyd C. Griscom, Vice President of the Pan-American Society; Salvador Castrillo, Minister of Nicaragua; Dr. J. Julio Henna, President, Club Ibero-Americana; Federico Mejia, Minister of Salvador; Talcott Williams, School of Journalism, Columbia University; Joaquin B. Calvo, Minister of Costa Rica; Supreme Court Justice James W. Gerard, President the Mexico Society; Ignacio Calderon, Minister of Bolivia; the Rev. Thomas J. McCluskey, S. J., President Fordham University; Pedro Ezequiel Rojas, Minister of Venezuela; Robert Bacon, former Ambassador to France; Romulo S. Naon, Minister of the Argentine Republic; Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, Judge Advocate General, U. S. A.; Eduardo Suarez Mujica, Minister of Chile; Francisco J. Peynado, Minister of the Dominican Republic; Julio Betancourt, Minister of Colombia; Hector Velasquez, Minister of Paraguay; S. S. Wither S., Chargé d'Affaires of Ecuador; J. E. Leferve, Chargé d'Affaires of Panama.

Mr. White, the toastmaster, proposed as an initial toast that the diners drink to the healths of the Presidents of all the American republics, which, although it was a pretty big toast, they all did in single wineglasses with the Apolinaris bumper of Secretary Bryan.

Referring to Secretary Bryan's recent trip to California for the sole purpose of endeavoring to prevent susceptibilities being ruffled of a great nation with which we have always been and wish to remain on terms of closest friendship, Mr. White declared the Secretary had been brought face to face with a combination of diplomatic problems such as rarely confront ministers of foreign affairs of this or other countries at so early a period of their careers.

"It is a source of great satisfaction to us of this Republic," he said, "as it must be, I am sure, to all the diplomatic representatives in this country and citizens of other American republics, that the relations of their Northern neighbor with them will be in charge of one so deeply imbued with the spirit of peace and good-will among men, so understanding of the difficulties of others, so capable of placing himself in their position, and who has not only traveled extensively in many lands of this hemisphere to the south of us, but who has visited most if not all of the important countries of the Old World."

Mr. White said that to bring about a closer relationship and intimacy between the citizens of the North and Latin American republics two things were necessary: fast ships of commerce between our ports and those of South and Central America, and, secondly, a capacity to speak fluently the Spanish and Portuguese languages.

The Brazilian Ambassador.

Mr. White introduced Ambassador Da Gama as a diplomat who had made an interesting speech at the last year's dinner, and who, he hoped, would make another. The Brazilian Ambassador said he would try, although the times had changed, and he with them. He declared that the "mutual strangeness" that had been complained of by the speakers at the dinner of the Pan-American Society a year ago was fast becoming a thing of the past. The cure, he said, lay in getting better acquainted, and to get better acquainted the duty of both sides was in the first place "to be optimistic when dealing with foreigners if we wish really to understand them."

"Three Secretaries of State of the United States have used it these last years," he said, "and they can bear witness of its efficacy for the improvement of their minds and hearts. One of them, who is sitting with us tonight, and by right of office is our honorary President, started three years ago as a tourist on a trip along South America and returned a Pan-American.

"He was lately heard to say that, being a strong Nation and keeping so much place under the sun, the United States have more duties toward the small countries than toward the great powers of the earth. This is certainly a noble and generous thought, that elsewhere he developed with an explanation that the mutual duties between nations are always the same, irrespective of their relative importance; only the slights from the great are more easily and deeply resented by the small, because they have no physical power to enforce their claims and obtain a redress for the damage suffered.

"Some day that I foresee not very remote I may take our present situation of mutual strangeness as a lesson of the past, as a proof that in international relations, as in social life, justice and respect and good will are orderly, constructive sentiments, that are taking every day a larger place in the heart of the civilized man."

Bryan First Journalistic Secretary.

Talcott Williams, head of the School of Journalism at Columbia University, the next speaker, emphasized the fact that Secretary Bryan was the first working journalist to hold that office.

"He has already shown, in the brief time he has held the portfolio of State," said Dr. Williams, "that so far as he can he is not going to permit humanity to be crucified on a cross of war, but instead that he will work to have it crowned with the golden crown of peace."

In the bringing about of permanent world-peace, said the speaker, there was no stronger force to-day than the newspapers throughout the world.

Secretary of State Bryan was the last speaker of the evening. He expressed surprise at learning from Dr. Williams that not all Secretaries of State had been journalists before him, but added that he himself noticed some difference between Bryan the journalist before and after accepting the portfolio of State. His language, he said, had suffered, and he found himself constantly in his correspondence with the diplomats then present using words that permit of construction, such as he was most careful to exclude from the party platforms he had helped draw. In fact, he added, he expected to have a claim for damages against the United States when he got through his office for having destroyed his chief political usefulness, that of a platform maker.

Mr. Bryan said in part:

Bryan Explains the Objects.

"The Pan-American Union is an institution established for the purpose of reducing to a minimum any friction that may be elicited by the intercourse between American Nations and of increasing to a maximum the beneficent results that flow from mutual helpfulness.

"Geographically, we are neighbors, and this physical relationship could not be altered even if we desired to change it, and we would not desire to change it even if it were possible to do so. We are nearer to each other than we are to the lands across the seas. Only to our neighbors on the north are we so intimately related by the position which we occupy upon the map. All the countries north of Panama are within 2,000 miles of New York, and the northernmost countries of South America are nearer to us than the nations of Europe.

"The canal with which we shall soon divide the Isthmus will connect us with the western shore of South America. Whether we will or no, we must be neighbors, and it is to our mutual advantage—as it must be our mutual delight—to make the most of this proximity.

"Latin-American Republics are but partially developed—their latent resources cannot even be estimated with any accuracy. They await the enterprise, and the activity that have during the last century elevated the United States from a colony to a world power. They turn naturally to the United States for such assistance as can be legitimately rendered. We have capital in abundance. We have constructive ability to spare and we have the experience necessary for the successful employment of both. All that is necessary is that that which the newer republics need shall be supplied on terms that are fair and under conditions that are just.

"The President has by speech outlined and by act illustrated his conception of fairness. He is prepared to give to American enterprise every proper encouragement, but knowing that commercial intercourse rests for its value as well as for its permanence upon mutual advantage he will insist that American business men shall carry into the countries to the south of us the highest conceptions of honor and good faith, and that in their dealings they shall give a dollar's worth of service for each dollar that they collect as compensation.

"There should be an intellectual exchange between the American republics as well as an exchange of commodities. The intellectual life of all the countries should be quickened by acquaintance and a comparison of views. Every effort should be made to stimulate an interchange of thought and an inspection of methods of instruction should be invited. A part of that increasing stream of travel that has fertilized the Old World should be diverted to the South. Especially should our instructors be urged to give some of their vacations to a study of the institutions, conditions, and possibilities of the Republics of Central and South America.

"There already is throughout the United States a marked increase in the study of the Spanish language, and there should be a still greater increase in the future. This language, rich in literature, is one of the most rapidly growing of the languages. It is designed to be a century hence the spoken word of a much larger number than use it to-day.

"Why not bring instructors from the Latin-American countries? They would not only quicken the interest of students but they would bring with them an ever increasing number of students from their own countries and thus multiply the bonds of unity which would unite the Pan-American nations.

"The American Union is considering an extension of its work in this very direction, and I wish to give to the proposition my most cordial support. The Canal Zone should be made a meeting place for those who would acquaint themselves with the peoples and ways of the other American nations—a clearing house where intellectual exchanges can be made.

"But no matter what phase of the subject we consider, we find ourselves returning to the one basic proposition—namely, that we must deal with each other sympathetically. The consciousness of this relation—of this kinship, if I may describe it as such—is the first step toward friendly relations between individuals and between nations."

LUNCHEON FOR BRYAN.

Samuel Untermyer Entertains Him at His Country Home, Greystone.

Samuel Untermyer entertained at luncheon yesterday Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan and fifty-eight guests at Greystone, Mr. Untermyer's country home. Secretary Bryan was to have spent a day with Mr. Untermyer two weeks ago, but the visit of the Secretary to California prevented it.

Mr. Bryan arrived at Greystone yesterday morning at 7 o'clock and was the guest of Mr. Untermyer until late in the afternoon when he left to attend the dinner of the Pan-American Society.

Among the guests at the luncheon were Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio; Supreme Court Justice Dowling, Seth Low, Chairman Edward E. McCall of the Public Service Commission, Abraham Elkus, Thomas Ewing, Jr., Frank R. Lawrence, William B. Thompson, Judge E. H. Gary, Daniel Guggenheim, Lewis Nixon, Louis Stern, Henry Morgenthau, Herman Ridder, Dr. Albert Shaw, George W. Perkins, John B. Stanchfield, Justice Morgan J. O'Brien, Adolph Lewisohn, Col. George Harvey, Representative Robert L. Henry of Texas, L. F. Loree, James M. Beck, Andrew Freedman, Corporation Counsel A. R. Watson, Justices Guy and Pendleton, and Benjamin F. Hamm.

HONOR PEACE DELEGATES.

Many Functions for the International Envoys in Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 15.—This city extended a warm welcome to-day to the peace delegates from Great Britain, Canada, Australia, and the municipality of Ghent.

Those who arrived this afternoon are Sir Arthur Lawley, former Governor of Madras; Charles Thomas Mills, M. P.; Neil Primrose, M. P., younger son of Lord Rosebery; R. A. Hay, nephew of Sir Arthur Lawley; G. F. Barwick of the British Mueseum, and C. de Bruyne and Alphonse van Werke of Ghent. The American delegates with them are John A. Stewart, William B. Howland, Dr. E. R. L. Gould, Gutzon Borglum, and Dr. Louis Livingston Seaman.

The visitors were met by committees representing the Chicago Asociation of Commerce, the Hamilton Club, and the Chicago Press Club. They were taken to the Hamilton Club, where they were greeted by President Austin, and all joined in drinking the healths of King George V. and President Wilson. Sir Arthur Lawley, in a graceful speech, thanking the members of the Hamilton Club for the warmth of their reception.

After an automobile ride about the city the delegates were taken to the University Club, where another reception was tendered them. In the evening they were entertained at a private dinner at the Blackstone Hotel by Ira Nelson Morris, after which they attended a reception and dance at Mr. Morris's residence.

To-morrow the delegates will have a strenuous day. They will attend a public meeting in Mandel Hall, University of Chicago; visit the Union Stock Yards, be entertained at luncheon at the Chicago Press Club, review a peace pageant by pupils at the Forestville School, and in the evening attend a banquet given by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

MOTOR CYCLE IN A CRASH.

Collides with Bicycle and Its Rider Is Hurt Fatally.

As the result of a collision between a motor cycle and a bicycle last night, Frederick Zimmerman, 38 years old, of 501 Rogers Avenue, Brooklyn, is dying in the Swedish Hospital in that borough from a compound fracture of the skull and internal injuries, and on an adjoining cot, Adam Collizi, 15 years old, of 653 Union Street, is lying seriously injured.

Shortly before 7 o'clock last night, Zimmerman was riding a motor cycle south on Bedford Avenue on his way to Flatbush. He was traveling at a fast rate when at the corner of Carroll Street, Collizi shot directly across his path on a bicycle. The motor cycle struck the lighter machine with such force as to hurl it and its rider several feet to one side. The impact hurled Zimmerman over the handlebars of the motor cycle and he struck the asphalt on his head.

TELLS BOOKSELLERS THEY GUIDE PUBLIC

Percy Mackaye Says They Are the Real Makers of Literature.

DINNER CLOSES CONVENTION

The Rev. Dr. Fleischer Makes a Plea for a Distinctive American Religion—Association Elects Officers.

Five hundred booksellers, with their wives and other guests, attended the annual dinner of the American Booksellers' Association at the Hotel Astor last night, which closed the association's thirteenth annual convention. President Walter L. Butler acted as toastmaster, and the speakers were George McAneny, President of the Borough of Manhattan; Percy Mackaye, the poet; the Rev. Dr. Charles Fleischer, leader of the Sunday Commons, Boston; Irvin S. Cobb, and Thomas Augustine Daily.

Mr. McAneny began by reciting the historical fact that Peter Minuit and his company had bought all of Manhattan Island for the sum of $24 after having reduced the owners to a state of intoxication, so that the Indians gave to the island the name of Manahattas, which Mr. McAneny said was Indian for "the island of blissful intoxication."

"I am glad that it has lived down its name," he said. "But, seriously speaking, gentlemen, we like to believe, and we would like you to believe, that we are a city of booklovers. There is not an appropriation which we make more cheerfully than those for books for our libraries. New York is the literary capital of the country, as it is the political and the financial capital."

Percy Mackaye, the next speaker, hailed the assembled booksellers as the real makers of literature, because, he said, they have it in their power to guide the taste of the public.

Dr. Flelsher offered as his contribution to the thought of the evening the desirability of an American religion in place of what he termed the outworn Hebraic-Christian cult.

"This American religion awaits formulation," he said, "but it is already the practical religion which is lived by most members of the imported faiths, and even more definitely believed and practiced by those great masses, in fact, the vast majority of Americans, who are gladly outside of the existing forms of faith.

"This American religion is developed out of the actual life and the real interests of America. It is the moral idealism which we are infusing into our material concerns, and it is the spiritual implication of our scientific and philosophic beliefs. It is eminently sane, though radical, and reverent, though rationalistic. It is not generally recognized as religious, because it speaks the speech of our day and our country. But it is glorifying American life, dignifying our material interests, and in every way exalting our age."

"You gentlemen," said Mr. Cobb, "represent what is to my mind the highest calling in life. The public must come to you for its reading matter, and I am willing to share the responsibility with you. Publishers are a necessary evil, but by hearty co-operation between you and me I believe we can give the publisher an awful run for his money."

The guests of honor, in addition to the speakers, were F. A. Stokes, H. C. Bainbridge, C. C. Schoemaker, Simon Brentano, C. E. Wolcott, F. N. Doubleday, and George H. Doran. Others present were J. O. Crowell, T. I. Crowell, C. W. Dawson, Russel Doubleday, Lowell Brentano, E. Byrne Hackett, Alfred Harcourt, B. W. Huebsch, and J. W. Lippincott.

At the morning session of the convention officers were elected as follows: Walter L. Butler of Wilmington, Del., President; Walter L. Lewis of Philadelphia, Secretary; Eugene L. Herr, Lancaster, Penn., Treasurer, and V. M. Schenck of Springfield, Mass., and J. J. Wood of Cleveland, Vice Presidents.

After the election of officers, the convention adjourned in a body to the new store of Charles Scribner's Sons, and, after inspecting it, the booksellers took part in an informal reception on the tenth floor of the new Scribner Building. Messrs. Charles Scribner and Arthur Scribner were the hosts, and among the well-known authors on hand to greet the sellers of their books were F. Hopkinson Smith, John Fox, Jesse Lynch Williams, and Henry van Dyke.

In the afternoon a final business session was held at the Hotel Astor, at which members of the new Booksellers' Board of Trade were elected, as follows: C. E. Butler, W. S. Lewis, and E. L. Herr, for the three-year term; V. M. Schenck, H. S. Hutchinson, and W. H. Arnold, for the two-year term; A. B. Fifield, Ward Macauley, and J. M. Grant, for the one-year term.

SEVEN MEN TO TALK FUSION.

Republicans Will Send a Committee —Applaud Hint of Whitman.

The New York County Republican Committee last night joined with the Progressive Republicans of the Middle West in calling upon the Republican National Committee to issue a call for a National Convention to meet some time this year to plan to rebuild the party lines. It also indorsed the plan to reduce the representation from the South in future National Conventions.

The two plans were embodied in a resolution offered by ex-Senator Saxe at the monthly meeting, which was held at the Murray Hill Lyceum. Before the meeting the Executive Committee had passed on the resolution and accepted it without a dissenting vote.

The County Committeee also adopted a resolution offered by Frederick C. Tanner, leader of the Twenty-fifth Assembly District, providing for the appointment of a committee of seven members to confer with similar committees from the other Republican county organizations in this city, with a view of determining some line of action in relation to the proposed anti-Tammany fusion movement in the cominb municipal campaign.

"There is no reason why there should not be a strong fusion movement this Fall," said Mr. Tanner.

"If it be the policy of this fusion movement to back up deeds well done and to speed the elimination of graft and corruption from the City Government, then the Republican Party certainly ought to reap substantial benefit."

This reference to District Attorney Whitman as a prospective leader for the anti-Tammany forces in the Mayoralty fight was warmly applauded. A resolution presented by former Representative William H. Douglass, providing for the appointment of a Committee of Nine to consider direct nominations and report to the June meeting, was also adopted. County Chairman Koenig is to confer with Gov. Sulzer to-day about direct primaries in response to an urgent invitation.

ROOSEVELT SPEAKS MAY 28.

Colonel to be Heard Here with Sulzer in Primary Campaign.

ALBANY, May 15.—Theodore Roosevelt will make his first appearance with Gov. Sulzer in the State primary campaign at a series of meetings to be held in New York City on May 28. The committee in charge of arrangements announced to-day that William R. Hearst, William S. Bennet, William H. Wadhams, and Albert Dulin also would be among the speakers at these meetings. The committee announced that James Shevlin of Brooklyn would contest the leadership of John H. McCooey of Kings County.

The Governor has decided to open the State primary campaign at a noon-day meeting in Buffalo on May 19. Three other meetings will be held there on the same day, two in the districts of Senators Ramsperger and Malone, Democrats, who voted against the Governor's bill.

The Campaign Committee has arranged for the Governor to make a second trip to the western part of the State. He will speak at Olean on May 24. The committee also plans to have the Governor return to New York City on May 31. On that day he is to speak on Staten Island and in Queens County.

Nutmeg Sunday Laws Not So Blue.

HARTFORD, May 15.—The House today passed the Gross Sunday bill, permitting band concerts in parks and "recreative sports" on Sunday, Park Commissioners to make rules so that the peace and comfort of citizens be not disturbed. The Senate already had passed the bill, so that it now goes to the Governor.

NEBRASKA WIND KILLED 10.

Nobody in Seward Saw a Warning Cloud—Damage $250,000.

SEWARD, Neb., May 15.—Corrected reports showed to-day that eight persons were killed and fourteen injured in the tornado which swept a district a block wide and sixteen blocks long in the north part of this city at 6 o'clock last night. The wind followed a violent hail and rainstorm. No one has been found who saw the funnel-shaped cloud. Three of the persons who were killed had opportunity to seek refuge in their cellars. Half a dozen of the injured said they did not see the tornado approaching.

Those who met death were Mrs. William Hassinger, Mrs. G. W. Edmonds, Samuel Crim, August Schultz, Emma Schultz, little daughter of August; Mrs. David Imlay, Mrs. G. W. Wasserman, and Mrs. David Hoover.

The city will clear its streets, pay its bills, and get along without State troops.

OMAHA, May 15.—Reports received to-day showed that the tornado which formed in the southern part of Seward County last night took a toll of ten lives, injured many persons, and destroyed property valued at $250,000. Seward, Tomaro, and McCool Junction suffered, the greatest destuction being in Seward, where eight persons were killed. In Tomaro, much property was destroyed. At McCool Junction two deaths occurred. The storm crossed this city near the southern limits, but the damage was small.

TERRE HAUTE, May 15.—The section of the city devastated by the storm of Easter Sunday was visited by a storm to-day, and one house, which was wrecked on Easter and which had been rebuilt, again was smashed.

DULUTH, May 15.—A northeaster that attained a velocity of forty-four miles an hour played havoc with boats entering and leaving the Duluth-Superior harbor, and the shipping to-day was in bad condition. The canals were jammed high with ice. Outbound boats were held in the canals, and incoming craft were compelled to anchor outside.

FERRIS WON'T RUN AGAIN.

Drift of Progressives Discourages Michigan's Democratic Governor.

Special to The New York Times.

LANSING, May 15.—Gov. Woodbridge N. Ferris, who is a Democrat, announced to-day that he probably would not seek a second term, because the Progressives were drifting back into the Republican Party and the political alignment would be such that a Democrat would have little chance in Michigan.

"Last Fall it was predicted that I could not be elected," he said. "But through the fortunes of politics I slipped in. The Progressive Republicans are returning to the G. O. P., and 75 per cent. of those who strayed last Fall will be voting the Republican ticket again next year. The same applies to insurgent Democrats. So I am what might be termed a political mistake.

"Of course, there are a number of highminded men in the Progressive Party who are there from principle, but the most of them joined because they thought they saw a chance to win, and when this did not materialize they went back to their party."

106 Fine SUITS for Men

Intended for the E. A. Newell Stock Here Today at $23, $26.50 and $33

Before the E. A. Newell firm wound up its affairs, it placed an order with a fine New York tailor for a quantity of high-grade Summer Suits for Men.

Most of them were finished in time to be included in the notable Gimbel Sale of the Newell stocks last week.

These 106 Suits, however, were not completed in time. In fact, they reached us but yesterday from the tailor's hands, with the Newell labels. They go on sale this morning at the same low prices that created such a sensation in the Newell Sale—$23, $26.50 and $33.

Newell's Prices for These Suits Would Have Been $30 to $45

They are typically Midsummer Suits. Mostly flannels and soft-finished worsteds—a few in hard finish. Light colorings, in pin stripes, mixtures and checks; with a few blues. All sizes, though not in every pattern. Half, quarter and skeleton-lined.

A beautiful lot of Suits, that will spell real hot-weather comfort for the fortunate men to claim them.

The Newell Suits remaining from the last sale, and some handsome styles from our own stock, are included at the same special prices.

RAINCOATS at $11.50, $14.50 and up to $28.50, and NORFOLK SUITS at $18.50 and $24 also afford fine choosing. Fourth Floor

PRAISE FOR KAISER ON REIGN OF PEACE

Americans Forward Congratulations for His Record of a Quarter of a Century.

POINT TO GERMAN PROGRESS

Due in Great Measure, Address Says, to the Emperor's Unwearied Efforts—Notable Signers.

A message of congratulation to the German Emperor on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his reign, for the unbroken peace and progress maintained by Germany in the quarter of a century past, was presented yesterday to the German Ambassador at Washington, Count von Bernstorff, by Dr. George F. Kunz, on behalf of the Association for International Conciliation, which is one of a group of societies in different parts of the world organized with the object of removing the misunderstandings and prejudices which are often the cause of war.

The address, which was engrossed in vellum with a portrait of the Emperor William the central feature of the cover, was as follows:

> To His Imperial Majesty the German Emperor:
>
> On behalf of organizations and societies which represent the effort of American citizens of every section, creed, and race, to advance the cause of civilization, we venture to express to your Imperial Majesty our congratulations upon a reign notable in countless ways, in none more so than in the maintenance of twenty-five years of unbroken peace between Germany and the other Nations of the world. The memorable words of your Majesty shortly after ascending the throne, "the peace of my country is sacred to me," came both from the head and from the heart; sacred indeed the peace, the order and the prosperity of the German people have been.
>
> More than once during the past twenty-five years it has been the high privilege of your Majesty not only to exercise peaceful forbearance but to inspire it in others. We beg to tender our thanks to your Imperial Majesty for what you have done to prevent war and to advance the coming of the day when there shall be peace upon earth to men of good will.
>
> In addition to the preservation of international peace we know well that every department of government has received and is receiving your sympathetic co-operation. The remarkable developments in the commerce and the manufacturing industries of Germany and the improvement of agriculture owe much to your Majesty's judicious and unwearied efforts. During your Majesty's reign the condition of the masses of the German people has steadily improved. Their education is now better and more practically helpful than ever before, the laws for the protection of the public health, for the compensation and care of the aged, the injured and the incapable are all due in large measure to your Majesty's support and approval.
>
> The increasing population and the growing wealth of Germany under improving conditions of life and of labor are an impressive tribute to your Majesty's labors for your people's good.
>
> Those of us engaged in the development of the industries, the commerce, the education, the science and arts of our country, and in promoting, as far as lies in our power, the brotherhood of man, unite in expressing to your Majesty our sense of obligation for the example that your reign of twenty-five years has set.
>
> We congratulate your Majesty upon the notable advance made by Germany in every field of human effort during your peaceful, prosperous and civilizing reign. Long may it continue unbroken.

The address bore the signatures of:

THREE FIREMEN HONORED.

Each Gets a Medal for Saving a Man from Drowning.

Capt. Henry Lakestream, in command of the fireboat Thomas Willett; Pilot Herbert E. Whitcomb of the Thomas Willett, and Fireman Patrick J. Barry, attached to the fireboat William L. Strong, were presented at the Fire Headquarters yesterday with medals for distinguished bravery in saving human life. The medals were the gifts of the Life Savers' Benevolent Association. The presentations were made by Deputy Fire Commissioner Olvany, as Commissioner Johnson was being away in Albany.

Capt. Lakestream on the night of Sept. 20, 1918, jumped overboard and saved the life of eighteen-year-old Julius R. Chadwick of Wilmington, N. C., who had gone to sleep on the pier at the foot of Bloomfield Street and rolled off into the river. The pilot of the Willett followed his commander overboard, and between them they got young Chadwick safely out.

Fireman Barry rescued a would-be suicide, Frank Eldorado, who jumped into the river from the pier at the foot of Grand Street on the night of Dec. 15, 1912. Barry had a hard fight in the water with the frantic man, but got him out alive.

BOGUS CHECK AS REWARD.

Public Library Porter Thinks He Met "the Meanest Man."

William Henry Leighton, a negro porter at the New York Public Library, is trying to find some trace of a certain "J. Harrison Knowles," who he believes has qualified as "the meanest man." Leighton told the story to a TIMES reporter yesterday after keeping silent about it since last Oct. 20.

At 8 o'clock on the evening of Oct. 20 a man about 28 years old left a wallet on which was stamped the name "J. L. Gilbert" in gold letters in a room on the third floor. Leighton examined it and found that it contained a number of checks and certificates for stock. It was too late to deliver the wallet to the Superintendent and the porter was wondering what to do with it when a young man ran into the room in a state of great excitement. After he had carefully described the wallet and its contents Leighton decided to turn it over to him.

"That wallet contains checks and certificates worth $80,000. I am a member and Treasurer of the Stock Exchange," the young man said, according to the porter. "You have saved me from ruin and disgrace."

"I told him that I didn't believe all he told me, but that I was glad to give it back to him, and was an honest man," said Leighton yesterday. "Then he spoke of a reward. Finally he asked me if I had a bank account, and I told him I had a few dollars in the Ninth Ward Bank in Thirty-fourth Street, near Third Avenue. He wrote out a check in my name for $50 and told me to add that sum to my account. I thanked him and he hurried away, apparently much relieved."

Leighton said he turned the check in at the bank and a few days later it was returned as worthless. He told the Superintendent about it and they began a search for "J. Harrison Knowles," but without result.

Leighton showed the check to a reporter yesterday. It was drawn on the Merchants' Union Trust Company of Philadelphia. On the back were written the words "No account."

RISKED LIFE FOR BIRD.

Harry Rawlings Went Back Into Fire for His Mother's Canary.

Harry Rawling, 21 years old, risked his life early yesterday morning in a fire in the apartment house at 266 Marion Street, Williamsburg, to save a canary bird. His attempt was unsuccessful, and the fireman found the bird suffocated by smoke after the fire had been extinguished.

The fire started on the second floor occupied by Mrs. Mary McDonald and her eleven children She was awakened by the odor of smoke just before daylight, and found the hallway blazing. She awakened her children and hurried down the stairs screaming "Fire!" and awakening the other tenants. On the first floor Arthur Rawling, with his wife and five children, of whom Harry is the oldest, hurried to the street, when Mrs. McDonald remembered her pet canary "Bill." Harry Rawling volunteered to rescue it, and dashed up the stairs. The hallway and apartments were blazing fiercely by that time, and Rawling, though he entered the apartment, was unable to get into the dining room where the bird was. When he saw it was impossible he ran back to the stairs, but found his escape cut off. Then he ran to a front window from which he was taken down on a ladder by firemen. The damage amounted to $1,000.

CLEAN-UP FIRE KILLS CHILD.

Anna Devine's Clothing Ignites from a Bundle of Old Papers.

Eight-year-old Anna Devine of 51 James Street, Flushing, L. I., died last night in the Flushing Hospital from burns she received when playing about a bonfire in the yard of her home. In this fire her parents to help the "Spring clean-up" movement were burning rubbish that they had removed from their house.

Anna had seen her parents carrying rubbish from their cellar and attic into the yard, and throwing it on the fire. She picked up a bundle of old papers, and ran out to the bonfire with them. The bundle flared up suddenly, and before Anna could get away her clothing ignited. Her parents had gone into the house for a minute. They ran out at her screams, and extinguished the flaming clothing by rolling her on the ground, but not before she had been burned so badly that Ambulance Surgeon Elmer Baker said she had no chance of recovery.

Boston Mayor Reports on His Visit—Trade Opportunities.

Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, who, with his daughter, Miss Rose Fitzgerald, returned on the United Fruit Company's ship Metapan yesterday, said that the work on the Canal was very far advanced, and that Col. Goethals told him that in the event of an emergency arising water could be let in to enable warships to pass through to the Pacific at the end of this year.

The Canal will not be opened for commerce until some time next year. Mayor Fitzgerald started on his trip with sixty-nine members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. About thirty of them, after viewing the work at Panama, went on to visit various South American republics. The others returned on the Metapan. Mayor Fitzgerald said that the trade of the South American republics was worth millions of dollars a year to the United States and commercial relations should be cultivated by American business men.

ANDERSON DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC LIBRARY

Directors Name Assistant of the Late Dr. John S. Billings as His Successor.

SHAPED CARNEGIE POLICIES

Was at the Head of the Pittsburgh Library from 1895 to 1904—Turned Miner for a Time.

John L. Cadwalader, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the New York Public Library, announced yesterday that Edwin Hatfield Anderson, for five years Assistant Director of the library, has been elected to succeed the late Dr. John S. Billings as Director. As Mr. Anderson was closely in touch with the work of the former Director for five years preceding his death on March 11 of this year, his appointment as Director, it was announced, does not indicate that any new library policies will be adopted.

Upon March 12 last Mr. Anderson was made Acting Director and since that time has been in charge of the library, so that no formalities were associated with his assumption of office yesterday.

Mr. Anderson has been engaged in library work for the last 23 years. After graduating from Wabash College in 1883 he determined to be a librarian and took a post-graduate course at the New York State Library school at Albany.

The Carnegie Library at Pittsburgh furnished him his first opportunity to exercise a free hand in shaping library policies. He entered the Carnegie Library service with a station at Braddock, Pa., in 1892, and three years later he moved to Pittsburgh to become Director of the new Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh.

Almost immediately after he took charge Mr. Carnegie began to expand the library system through the building of branch libraries. Mr. Anderson designed the interior of these library buildings in order to make them attractive to readers. As the work grew the Carnegie system at Pittsburgh became well known as a model for other library builders to follow. Mr. Anderson's advice was sought by librarians from all parts of the county and many librarians visited Pittsburgh to study the plan in actual operation.

In 1904 Mr. Anderson decided to forsake library work and to turn miner. He mined for a year, and then was back again at the book shelves. This time his work was at the New York State Library and Library School at Albany. This institution was erecting a new building and wanted the services of a Director who could be depended upon to see that the interior arrangements were all that they ought to be.

On June 1, 1908, Mr. Anderson accepted an offer to become Assistant Librarian at the New York Public Library. Here again it was a decision to expand the library plant which brought him the offer of a place. Besides the 40 branches now operating under the control of the library organization five new branches are in course of construction, and of each of these Mr. Anderson has designed the interior arrangements.

"I prefer to talk about the policies I intend to pursue," said Mr. Anderson, "after they have been carried out. But of one thing I am fairly certain, and that is that the library of which I have become Director is the largest reference library in the world and is also the most used library in the world. My predecessor was a very active man right up to the close of his administration. He organized the work so well and left it in such splendid shape that comment upon expansion of it except through natural growth is superfluous."

COMPLAIN OF DOCTORS' TALK

Colleagues in Kings County Want Less Newspaper Mention.

The Council of the Medical Society of Kings County has been asked to investigate the alleged "unethical conduct" of forty-two members of the society. The complaint, made by two of the members, is based on the fact that the names of the physicians complained of have been used in newspaper stories having to do with things in medical circles in the borough. Within the past few weeks four of the members have been "on the carpet" for talking too much through the newspapers. Two were "admonished," and one was exonerated, while the explanation given by the fourth is still being considered.

No action has been taken yet on the complaint against the forty-two physicians, but it was said yesterday that, as the complaint had been signed by two members of the society, the Council, under the rules, would have to call upon the accused for explanations.

Gets $15,000 for Husband's Death.

Mrs. Bridget Reddy of 260 Academy Street, Astoria, yesterday obtained a verdict for $15,000 damages from the Degnon Contracting Company before Justice Van Siclen in the Queens County Court for the death of her husband, John Reddy, who was killed by the falling of a trestle in Long Island City on Feb. 10 last. Reddy was a fireman on a dummy locomotive that was hauling concrete over the trestle when it collapsed.

SPRING CARNIVAL OPENS.

100,000 Persons at Coney Island Pelt One Another with Flowers.

A crowd of 100,000 people visited Coney Island last night for the opening of the Spring Floral Carnival. The floral parade began at 9 o'clock, after several automobiles loaded with roses, carnations, and all sorts of flowers had passed along Surf Avenue scattering flowers to the crowd. Flowers were thrown instead of confetti.

There were twelve floats and twelve bands in the parade. The May Queen traveled incognito, surrounded by her court, on one of the floats. Besides the floats, there were countless flower-decked vehicles, so that the parade lasted for more than an hour.

There was no disorder during the early part of the evening, and late last night not an arrest or an accident had been reported on the island. Inspector Dooley had 200 policemen to help him take care of the crowd.

To-night will be "Cabaret Night." Vaudeville artists and cabaret performers will parade on floats, singing and dancing anything but the turkey trot, which has been prohibited.

DEPOSITORS INVADE COURT.

Those Involved in Rosett Failure Ask Court to Hasten Payments.

The Federal Building was invaded yesterday morning by a throng of women and children, who represented the creditors of the bankrupt banking house of M. & M. Rosett. The depositors in the bank were in the main immigrants of half a dozen nationalities and the loss of their savings had been a great hardship to them.

Judge Holt decided not long ago that the fund of $100,000 which the bank was obliged to set aside to secure its depositors under the New York law was applicable only to the claims of depositors living in this State. The Rosett Association, which the creditors have formed, is anxious that this sum should be distributed immediately.

According to Meyer Persky, President of the association, when the creditors went yesterday to the office of Seaman Miller, the referee in the case, they were informed the money would be paid out in three installments. The creditors then flocked to the Federal Building and tried to see Judge Holt. Marshal Henkel was summoned to keep order, while Archibald Palmer, their lawyer, went in to see the judge. He obtained a temporary injunction restraining Mr. Miller from paying three dividends in place of one. The hearing on the injunction will come up for argument on Monday.

SIX WILD WEST FOLK HURT.

Goldie Griffith Again Injured When Deadwood Coach Broke Down.

Special to The New York Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., May 15.—Six performers in the Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill Wild West were injured badly as the result of an accident in the afternoon performance here to-day. The old Deadwood stage coach broke down in the hold-up scene, and the men and women in it were thrown out.

Mrs. Arline Finn, 22 years old, of 224 Johns Street, Grand Rapids, was hurt most severely. She suffered a deep scalp wound and a bad cut over her right eye, and was bruised in many places. She was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital.

The other victims, who are in the same hospital, include Mrs. Goldie Smith, 19, of 2,210 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, whos right leg was fractured and who was bruised seriously. She was married recently in Madison Square Garden, New York, to Harry Smith, a performer. Smith was driving the coach. he escaped injury.

Mrs. Eunice De Mott, 20, of 4900 Main Street, Frankford, Philadelphia, suffered arm cuts and sprains, and was bruised badly. William De Mott, 45, her husband, has a broken ankle. Alexander Lawanda of Chicago and Ernest Jones of New York suffered shock.

The hold-up scene was almost over and the coach, drawn by four mules, was rounding the arena when it struck a rut and a rear wheel snapped off. The coach turned over and the occupants were dragged many yards.

Mrs. Goldie Smith was formerly Miss Goldie Griffith, a cowgirl employed with the show, and her career as a rough rider has been marred by two similar misfortunes. On May 7 at Madison Square Garden she sustained a nasty fall while jumping her horse over a high wooden fence, and was removed to Bellevue Hospital suffering from slight injuries to her left hip and side. She had previously sustained an accident in Portland, Ore., when her mount fell upon her a year ago.

BOOTBLACK KILLS TWO MEN.

Wounds Three Others, Then Crawls Into Sewer and Shoots Himself.

FORT WORTH, May 15.—Tommy Lee, a negro bootblack, shot and killed Policeman Ogiltree and Walter Moors, a negro, and wounded David Colton and Harold Murdock, and an unidentified negro to-day. Pursued by a mob of 2,000 persons, Lee crawled into a sewer and shot himself.

The trouble started when Lee fired upon a negro with whom he had quarreled. Seeking to escape, the bootblack ran to a negro pool hall and killed Moore. The policeman was killed when he attempted to arrest Lee. The frenzied negro then ran through the streets firing at all who tried to stop him.

WESLEYAN SENIORS TELL THEIR CHOICES

Vote The Times the Most Popular New York Paper by Large Majority.

MIDDLETOWN MAN HONORED

First Choice in Four Competitions—Billie Burke Selected as the Favorite Actress.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., May 15.—Following the example of Yale, Princeton, Cornell, and other Eastern colleges, the senior class of Wesleyan University at its recent annual balloting elected THE NEW YORK TIMES the most popular metropolitan newspaper read by Wesleyan undergraduates. Although several interesting preferences were brought out by the elections, the large majority polled by THE TIMES in competition with other New York papers was perhaps the most striking result of the ballots taken. THE TIMES received exactly two-thirds more votes in the election than all the other papers combined, and thus easily tripled the vote of its nearest competitor.

In the selection of the favorite actress Billie Burke received the preference, although Julia Marlowe was only two votes behind. Elsie Janis was the third choice of the class, and Maude Adams was a close fourth. In the choice of the favorite actor, E. H. Sothern and John Drew polled the same number of votes, with Robert Mantell and Harry Lauder third and fourth, respectively. Rudyard Kipling was elected the most popular contemporary writer, with Rex Beach second, while Robert Louis Stevenson was named the most popular author of standard works.

In the student elections C. Everett Bacon of Middletown was first choice in four ballots, being voted the most popular man in the class, the best all-around athlete, the best-dressed man, and the best-looking man. For four years Bacon has played on the Wesleyan football team, and last Fall he was an almost unanimous selection for All-American quarter back. He is the star pitcher of the baseball team, a member of the Glee Club, and President of the German Club. He also plays on the 'Varsity tennis team, having, with Holton, '10, won the New England intercollegiate doubles championship in his freshman year, and having reached the finals in the singles last year.

James I. Wendell, President of the class and Captain of the Wesleyan track team, who is the intercollegiate 120-yard hurdler and who finished second last Summer in the Olympic 110-meter hurdle race at Stockholm, was voted the man "who has done most for Wesleyan." Over three-fourths of the class took part in the voting. The results of all the ballots follow:

Most popular man, C. E. Bacon.
Best all-around athlete, C. E. Bacon.
Done most for his college, J. I. Wendell.
Best dressed in class, C. E. Bacon.
Best student, W. C. Woode.
Best looking, C. E. Bason.
Best fusser, C. K. Hill.
Most likely to succeed, J. E. Stiles.
Laziest, W. D. McLarren.
Favorite author of contemporary works, Rudyard Kipling.
Favorite author of standard works, Robert Louis Stevenson.
Favorite actress, Billie Burke.
Favorite actor, E. H. Sothern and John Drew tied.
Favorite New York newspaper, NEW YORK TIMES.
Favorite beverage, milk.

WARNS FATHER, ENDS LIFE.

Youth Carries Out Telephoned Threat to Kill Himself.

NASHVILLE, May 15.—While Steven Wright was hurrying to a hotel yesterday to save his son, Steven Wright, Jr., aged 20 years, from suicide, the young man took a dose of poison and died just as his father reached his side.

Young Wright had told his father by telephone that he intended to kill himself. He also left a note saying he would end his life, but gave no reason for the act.

FLUSHING ROUTE UNDECIDED

McAneny Inclined to Build a Line to Centre of Flushing.

Flushing property owners were largely represented yesterday before the Board of Estimate, when the vexed question of the extension of the Corona elevated line, which is part of the dual subway plan, came up. Borough President McAneny, Chairman of the Transit Committee, said that the committee was divided as to what type of railroad should be constructed, but gave his own opinion in favor of the building of a line to the centre of Flushing, either as an elevated road or as a subway.

It was agreed that the matter should be put over for another two weeks, to permit of further consideration, and the views of Mr. McAneny were said by some of the deputation to be satisfactory. However, the College Point and Whitestone citizens considered that the line of the extension should be altered so as to benefit those localities.

Elect L. A. Best Again.

Principal Lyman A. Best was yesterday elected Secretary of the Board of Retirement of the Department of Education. He has held the office since it was created eight years ago. There were forty-six votes cast, of which Mr. Best got twenty-eight, Frederick Z. Lewis of the Boys' High School, Brooklyn, 12, and Frank A. Rexford of Erasmus Hall High School, 6. Messrs. Lewis and Rexford were put in nomination to represent the teachers in the public schools. The office of Secretary pays no salary. The term is for three years.

SULZER WILL VETO TWO-PLATOON BILL

Announces Intention After Hearing Arguments by Johnson and Kenlon Against Malone Act.

WOULD VIOLATE HOME RULE

Commissioner Johnson Denounces Clifford as Lobbyist and Declares Bill Would Demoralize Department.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 15.—Gov. Sulzer said to-night that he would not approve the Malone bill, which would compel New York City to establish a two-platoon system in its Fire Department. He made this statement after Fire Commissioner Joseph Johnson and Fire Chief John Kenlon of New York had presented arguments against the bill and after Senator John F. Malone of Buffalo had spoke in its favor. The bill makes a two-platoon system compulsory in New York, Buffalo, and Rochester.

The Governor bases his opposition to the bill on the ground that the recently-enacted Home Rule law gives Buffalo the right to establish the two-platoon system and New York the right to retain the present system.

"You voted for the Home Rule bill," said the Governor, addressing Senator Malone, "and I am going tot prevent, if I can, the enactment of any law which will weaken or nullify that meritorious measure."

Commissioner Johnson and Chief Kenlon were accompanied to Albany by Deputy Chiefs John Burns, Robert Calloghan, Thomas F. Hayes, Edward Worth, Thomas Langford, Frederick Gooderson and William Guerin, all opposed to the Malone bill.

"What does the Home Rule law mean if the New York City government is not to be allowed to order the hours of duty of its own firemen?" said Mr. Johnson. "If the framers of the Malone bill had been honest, they would have framed a separate bill for a two-platoon system for each city which appeared to desire it. This bill was sneaked through the Legislature. It was passed by the Senate to please Senator Malone and it was passed by the Assembly on the last day, when the leaders did not know of it. If it is signed, it will absolutely demoralize and destroy the finest fire-fighting force in the world."

Mr. Johnson charged that the lobbyist for the bill was James D. Clifford, President of the Firemen's Mutual Benefit Association, to which many of the uniformed members of the New York City force belong. The Commissioner said of Mr. Clifford:

"He was dismissed from the department in 1900 on three charges: First, disobedience of orders; second, violation of the city charter in relation to contributing to an association for the purpose of affecting legislation, and third, conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. This disgraced fire captain took his case to the highest courts, and his dismissal was sustained by all of them. From that day to this he has made a living by fomenting discord in the Fire Department, and I do not deny that his revenge would be ample if he were able to inflict upon us this iniquitous law."

Mr. Johnson said that throughout his service as Commissioner he would forbid contributions to the association so long as the pursestrings were held by "this Fire Department Catiline."

Senator Malone said he was a fireman and a Fire Commissioner before he was a Senator. He believed that the present hours of firemen were inhuman, declaring that some of them worked twenty hours a day.

"They sleep half the time," Commissioner Johnson remarked.

The Governor cut the hearing short by saying he would veto the bill.

Accompanying Fire Commissioner Johnson to Albany, besides Chief Kenlon, Deputy Fire Commissioner Farley, and a number of Deputy Chiefs, were delegates from the Retail Dry Goods Association, Central Mercantile Association, Merchants' Association, City Club, South Brooklyn Board of Trade, Board of Trade and Transportation, and Harlem Chamber of Commerce.

The two-platoon system received a tryout in one of the Fire Department battalions some time ago, and it proved worthless, the Commissioner said. In other cities where the system has been tried the results have been anything but desirable, the Commissioner holds.

VETOES ANTI-HORSE CAR BILL.

Gov. Sulzer Fears Securities Abuses —Other Measures Disapproved.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 15.—Assemblyman Silverstein's bill making it a misdemeanor to operate horse cars in New York City after Jan. 1, 1914, was vetoed to-day by Gov. Sulzer. The Executive had no fault to find with the proposed abolition of the horse car, but he said the measure was not properly printed and that, as worded, there was grave danger of the unregulated issuance of securities by the company affected.

The Governor also vetoed the McCue bill, which would amend the railroad law by allowing one railroad company to purchase the property of another. In a memorandum the Executive said the purpose expressed in the measure of protecting the minority and dissenting stockholders was worthy of approval, but he objected to the section which would allow corporations having unlimited franchises to acquire the property of other companies and extend their franchises to the acquired property. It was believed that the bill would affect the Harlem Railroad and that if, under its provisions, the New York Central should purchase the Harlem Company's property it would extend the Central's franchise over the acquired property. The Central has a 999-year lease of the Harlem.

The Pollock bill, which authorized savings banks to pension officers and employes, was another measure vetoed

"The pension," says the Governor, "is to be accomplished out of the depositors' moneys. This diversion of the property of the depositors should not be made without their consent."

The Governor suggests that the objects sought might be accomplished through the organization of a membership association.

All told, Gov. Sulzer to-day vetoed 26 bills. These included:

Senator Herrick's, designed to refund more than $500,000 in taxes on transfers of stock alleged to have been paid erroneously.

Senator Brown's, proposing the extension to rural communities of the facilities for high school education, including agriculture.

WILL STUDY STATE ROADS.

Washington and Parker to Pass on Specifications for Highways.

ALBANY, May 15.—A study of the specifications that have been prepared for the construction of highways in New York State, for the purpose of determining the type of roads required in different localities, is to be made by a committee of engineers, appointed by John N. Carlisle, State Commissioner of Highways. Two of these engineers, Col. William D. Washington of New York and Harold Parker, former Commissioner of Highways of Massachusetts, have been named, and a third will be selected in a few days. Col. Washington was a member of Gov. Sulzer's Good Roads Advisory Committee.

Commissioner Carlisle says that roads recently constructed are fast going to pieces and that he will ask the engineers to make a thorough examination of these roads, to ascertain whether the specifications were faulty or whether the contractors have not lived up to them. The engineers will also study the problem of maintenance.

ROOSEVELT TO AID SULZER.

Colonel to be One of the Speakers in Direct Nominations Campaign.

Col. Roosevelt has consented to speak at one of the big Sulzer direct nomination meetings in this city. The plan has not yet been approved by Gov. Sulzer but, according to members of his War Board who are planning his metropolitan campaign, no objections are expected from the man who naturally should be the central figure of the campaign. William R. Hearst will address one or two of the Sulzer meetings in this city.

It has been decided that Gov. Sulzer is to spend two days making speeches in this city during the opening stage of the campaign, and possibly one day toward its close. On May 28 the meetings, as announced in THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday morning, will be at Carnegie Hall, at Prospect Hall, in South Brooklyn, and at Niblo's Garden, in the Bronx. Gov. Sulzer will speak at all three. On the following day the Governor will address one big meeting and several smaller rallies in Queens. Borough President Connolly will preside at the big meeting. On the night of May 29 the Governor will attend a dinner to be given by William R. Hearst in honor of the naval officers who are to assist at the dedication of the Maine Monument.

Col. Roosevelt will speak at the Carnegie Hall meeting, which will be held under the auspices of the Non-Partisan Direct Nominations League. Charles H. Duell, Jr., who is Chairman of the league, and also one of the leading Bull Moosers in this city, will preside at the meeting. Mr. Hearst is scheduled to address the meeting at Prospect Hall, and possibly will speak at the meeting at Niblo's Garden. At the Bronx meeting Borough President Cyrus C. Miller will preside. An effort is being made to get the Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis of Plymouth Church to preside at the Prospect Hall meeting in Brooklyn.

John Purroy Mitchel and Controller Prendergast have volunteered their services as speakers in the Sulzer Direct nominations campaign in this city.

WORK FOR TERMINAL ROAD.

Mitchel Will Ask Governor to Sign Bills for Brooklyn Development.

John Purroy Mitchel will go to Albany this morning to urge Gov. Sulzer to sign the Cullen-Walker bills which provide for the creation of a municipal terminal freight railway along the Brooklyn water front from Brooklyn Bridge to Sixty-fifth Street, Bay Ridge. Mr. Mitchel will take with him a copy of a resolution passed yesterday by the Sinking Fund Commission which sets forth that the bills are essential to the establishment of this municipal freight terminal, and the veto thereof by the Governor of the State would be obstructive of a necessary and vital port development in the City of New York and render practically impossible the consummation of this great public work.

The Board of Estimate transmitted the bills to the State Legislature and they were passed at the last session. They have been approved by the Mayor.

$2,500 FOR A BROKEN ARM.

Jury Only Five Minutes in Returning a Verdict Against a Brewer.

After deliberation yesterday for only five minutes a jury under Supreme Court Justice Gavegan awarded a verdict of $2,500 damages to Loughlin Ward, an engineer, against George Ehret, the brewer. Through his attorneys, Alfred & Charles Steckler of 170 Broadway, Ward asserted that he was standing in front of his portable engine on East Fifty-ninth Street on Jan. 5, 1912, when a delivery truck from the brewery struck him from behind, throwing him to the ground and breaking his arm.

Ehret, through several witnesses to the accident, said that Ward had left the shelter of his engine, and walked into the path of the truck before it was possible for the driver to avoid a collision. This was denied by the witnesses for the plaintiff, and the jury made record time in bringing in a verdict for Ward.

"Delmonico's" Sues Foxhall Keene.

"Delmonico's," the restaurant company, brought suit yesterday in the Supreme Court to recover $261 from Foxhall Keene, the polo player, for food, drink, and attendance supplied from Oct. 19, 1907, to Feb. 5, 1909. The original bill, it was said, amounted to $470, but Mr. Keene paid $210 of this on June 29, 1908.

MAYOR VETOES FIRE AND POLICE BILLS

Placing Prevention Bureau Chief in Uniformed Force Would Be a Bad Step, He Says.

BARS OUT AQUEDUCT POLICE

Finds Measure Would Add Bad Men as Well as Good to the City's Force—May Sign School Bills.

Mayor Gaynor refused yesterday to sign the Legislative bill to make the Deputy Chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention a Deputy Chief in the uniformed force of the Fire Department. He also vetoed the bill to allow officers and members of the Catskill Aqueduct police force to become members of the regular force of the city.

Regarding the first bill the Mayor said:

> I cannot accept this bill for the city. The beneficiary of it is a most excellent officer. But he must understand that we cannot bring the members of the Bureau of Fire Prevention into the uniformed force. Let the beginning once be made and there will be no end until all of that bureau are brought into the uniformed force.
>
> The pension system for the uniformed force of the Fire Department and for the police force should be different to a pension system for employes of the city not employed in dangerous work. What we need is a general pension system for the employes of the city, leaving the present system of the uniformed force of the Fire and Police Departments substantially as it is now, because these men are subject to special danger of life and limb. I have had to veto several other bills of this kind, and they ought all to be vetoed. It will never do to be putting men on the uniformed force of the Police and Fire Departments who are in fact not members of such force, but on the contrary mere employes of these departments, performing duties similar to the duties of other departments, and not dangerous, like the duties of firemen and policemen.

This is the Mayor's comment on the Police bill:

> I refuse to accept this bill for the city. It requires that every officer and member of the Catskill Aqueduct police force shall be brought into the police force of the City of New York, instead of allowing discrimination to be made, so that unfit persons may be rejected. The bill bears evidence of having been drawn in haste or by a 'prentice hand. It should have been submitted to the proper officers of the city. There is no objection to such a bill being passed provided it permits the exclusion of officers and men who are not deemed fit.

The Mayor held a hearing on one of the McKee bills conferring power on the Board of Education to change grades of schools and classes over the heads of the Board of Superintendents by a two-thirds vote. Thomas W. Churchill, President of the Board, spoke in favor of the bill, and Howard W. Nudd, representing the Public Education Association, argued against it.

"We want to make the system of courses flexible," said President Churchill. "Supt. Maxwell says in his reports that the course of study is perfect. We want a loop-hole to fire at them when they lie down. Prof. McMurray is in favor of the bill. Mr. Howland, President of the Public Education Association, was in favor of it once, and President Strong of the City Club is for it."

The Mayor indicated that he would sign the bill as well as the one permitting the Board of Education to sell old school books for waste paper.

PLAN HOLIDAY 4 YEARS OFF.

Lutherans to Celebrate 400th Anniversary of Martin Luther's Birth.

Lutherans, in convention in St. Luke's Church, decided last night to urge upon all State Legislatures the making of Oct. 31, 1917, a legal holiday. The date is the four hundredth anniversary of the birth of Martin Luther. A committee was named to begin at once the preparations for celebrating the anniversary. A publicity bureau wil be established and lecturers will be sent all over the United States to speak on Luther and his services. The holiday refers only to the one day, the exact anniversary. Some are said, however, to favor a movement to make it a permanent holiday.

The Lutheran College at Bronxville had a debt of $5,000 until yesterday, when it was almost all wiped out by a collection, and the small balance remaining will be provided for to-day. The Mission Board reported a good year, but said that so many Lutherans of New York had removed to New Jersey and Long Island that it contemplated new missions in those regions. Three new churches were started last year, and the convention voted yesterday to raise the salaries of missionaries in this district $100 a year.

In this district are four theological seminaries, eleven colleges, and academies, with 1,100 students. In the entire Missouri Synod there are 2,467 pastors. On next Sunday the delegates will visit the Bronxville college.

$500,000 FIRE IN BUFFALO.

Elevator and Vast Quantity of Grain Burned on Waterfront.

BUFFALO, May 15.—In a spectacular fire on the water front to-day $500,000 worth of buildings, cars, and grain were destroyed. The Erie Elevator, filled with wheat, corn, and other grains, was burned. The Erie Railroad Company's freight sheds were damaged, and a large quantity of flour was ruined by water. The flames leaped across Buffalo Creek to the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company's trestle, but this blaze was quickly checked by a fire tug. Twenty-eight ox cars loaded with grain were destroyed.

While the Erie Elevator was burning thousands of bushels of grain released from the bins poured down in a blazing stream. This, with the intense heat, made it almost impossible for the firemen to get within striking distance of the elevator. Twenty-eight engines, 30,000 feet of hose, and three fire boats were used in fighting the flames.

SUIT OVER EQUITABLE SITE.

Gardiner Seeks to Recover $200,000 from Concern Formed to Buy It.

Suit to recover $200,000 was brought in the Supreme Court yesterday by George N. Gardiner against T. Coleman Du Pont, President of the Du Pont Company, which was organized on Sept. 18, 1912, with a capital of $12,000. In his complaint, which was filed yesterday, Mr. Gardiner said that the Du Pont Company was formed to buy and develop the site of the Equitable Building, which was destroyed by fire in January of 1912. This task was transferred by its President to another organization, he alleged.

Mr. Gardiner said that he was commissioned under a verbal agreement with Mr. Du Pont to transact all negotiations for the purchase of the building site. He was to receive as compensation for his work $100,000 of the preferred stock of the Du Pont Company, he asserted, and the first $100,000 paid for stock in the company. His part of the agreement, Mr. Gardiner says, he carried out, but he alleges that he received no payment for his services, as the Du Pont Company released its hold upon the Equitable site when he applied for payment.

SPLIT ON BRONX LEADERSHIP

Anti-Murphy Man Likely to Head the Democratic Organization.

There is a deadlock over the leadership among Democrats in the Bronx. Members of the organization say that whether the Bronx Democrats are to follow the example of the Democratic organization of Kings County and become merely an annex to Tammany Hall is one of the questions involved in the struggle. The Bronx County Committee consists of 1,221 members. The selection of a leader, under the rules of the organization, does not rest immediately with the County Committee, but with the six Democratic district leaders who form the Executive Committee. Their choice must be ratified by a meeting of the entire County Committee.

The Executive Committee met at the Jackson Club, the Democratic organization of the Thirty-fourth Assembly District, on Tuesday night and spent five hours in trying to select a leader. One after the other, each district leader was put in the field as a candidate. The committee was divided, three in the affirmative and an equal number in the negative on each ballot. At 1 o'clock in the morning the meeting adjourned until this evening, when the voting will be resumed.

The members of the Executive Committee are Deputy State Controller Wallace O. Fraser, who represents the northern half of the Thirtieth Assembly District; Thomas H. O'Neill, who represents the northern half of the Thirty-second; F. J. Humphries, who represents the southern half of the Thirty-second; Michael J. Garvin of the Thirty-third, Deputy Charities Commissioner Stephen Nugent, who is the leader of the Thirty-fourth, and Ellsworth H. Healy, who is leader of the Thirty-fifth Assembly District.

After it became evident that the Executive Committee could not agree on a candidate, the members voted to take advantage of a rule permitting the Executive Committee to add to its membership. Arthur Murphy, formerly leader of the Thirty-fourth Assembly District, and Eugene McGuire, who was one of the leaders in the Thirty-second, were thereupon elected to the committee. Both Murphy and McGuire retired as leaders after Tammany Leader Murphy had turned down their demand that he should call off Tammany's fight on the plan to make the Bronx a county, which was pending before the Legislature at the time.

Both men are reckoned anti-Murphy men, and it is expected that Arthur Murphy will be elected leader when the committee meets to-night.

LEAGUE NAMES OFFICERS.

The Policy of the PUBLIC LEDGER

The PUBLIC LEDGER'S single appeal for patronage will be on its merits as a complete newspaper with a news service better than ever before, and special, strong features to be found only in its columns. Ingenious schemes for forcing circulation will be tabooed. No money will be spent on what is not essential, to influence people to read it regularly; but money will be spent to make the PUBLIC LEDGER the best morning newspaper ever produced in Philadelphia.

To make it known to the public the PUBLIC LEDGER will take in large doses the medicine it prescribes for others—the only medicine that has stood the test of time and proved efficiency—advertising.

No premium or gift of any sort will be offered as an inducement to subscribe for the PUBLIC LEDGER; no cut rate will be offered, no clubbing plan or other seductive lure will be considered. The PUBLIC LEDGER must stand on its own merits as a newspaper. It has no patience with patent medicines, either for the individual or as a stimulant for newspaper circulation. They are as useless for the one as for the other. No subscriber will be sought who does not want the PUBLIC LEDGER for its intrinsic merit—for what he finds of interest in its pages. The reader who is "induced" to try it by some "gimcrack" gift or extraneous appeal is of no value either to the PUBLIC LEDGER or to the advertisers who employ its columns.—Editorial Public Ledger, May 14, 1913.

THREATEN A WITNESS IN TAXICAB INQUIRY

Vendig Won't Answer Questions Involving City Officials and Cab Company Officers.

FACES CONTEMPT CHARGE

Employes of Yellow Taxicab Company Produce the Books of the Concern Before the Grand Jury.

"Circular Joe" Vendig, a former bookmaker, proved to be an unwilling witness yesterday morning before the Supreme Court Grand Jury which is investigating the taxicab situation. The twenty-three members of the jury, with the aid of Assistant District Attorney Du Vivier, it was said, were unable to extract any information from the witness, though they threatened twice to report him to Justice Seabury for contempt of court. When the Grand Jury adjourned it was announced that Vendig would have another chance to testify to-day. If he persisted in his refusal to answer questions it was said he would be prosecuted for contempt.

Vendig, it was asserted, refused to answer any questions which tended in any way to involve officials of the Yellow Taxicab Company, by which he was employed as confidential agent, or any of the city officials with whom he had had dealings. Little corroboration was obtained therefore, of the admissions by Alderman Henry F. Grimm, Chairman of the Aldermanic Taxicab Legislation Committee, that officials of the Yellow Taxicab Company had entertained Aldermen.

When asked about his former occupation, Vendig, it was said, denied having been a bookmaker. He asserted that he was a "layer of odds." He was at one time proprietor of a garage, and he brought into the jury room with him photographs of a garage which he said he built himself. At another time he said he was in the "lobster palace" business in Broadway.

Other witnesses before the Grand Jury yesterday were Jesse M. Hudson, assistant treasurer of the Yellow Taxicab Company, and Benjamin T. Schaefer and Maxwell Rhine, clerks for the same concern. They went into the jury room with books under their arms, but they refused to tell the reporters what they had testified to when they came out. It was understood that the books throw further light on the company's "free list."

Outside the jury room was Edwin T. Banta, formerly a confidential agent of the Yellow Taxicab Company, who was discharged for soliciting business on his own account. His story to the District Attorney started the investigation.

Banta said yesterday that he estimated that the taxicab companies in this city paid at least $15,000 a year to hall boys and elevator boys and telephone boys in apartment houses. These boys, he said, were paid from 15 to 35 cents for each call for a taxicab. This added to the high cost of taxi riding, he asserted. The payments to traffic patrolmen "for closing one eye," he said, were from $5 to $10 a man.

"If the disbursements to the police went any higher than traffic patrolmen," said Banta, "some one else handled them. My dealings with the police were limited strictly to the patrolmen."

"The whole truth of the taxicab graft in this city will probably never be known," he continued. "It is not too much to say that the taxicab companies had to pay right and left at every turn. They even had to take on a lot of chauffeurs who were recommended by Police Inspectors. I know of one such chauffeur who is an ex-convict. But there is at least one Police Inspector who couldn't be reached. That man is Inspector Dwyer."

A report was brought to Assistant District Attorney Du Vivier in the day that actual cash had passed between officials of one of the taxicab companies and two Aldermen, and that the transaction had taken place in a taxicab. Mr. Du Vivier said that he had received no confirmation of the report.

The witnesses before the Grand Jury to-day will include Aldermen Daniel Coleman, Frank Cunningham, and John McCann, all members of the "majority" group on the Taxicab Legislation Committee, and several officers of the Yellow Taxicab Company and the Mason & Seaman Company. It is expected that the investigation will continue into next week.

HOTEL STARTER FINED.

Magistrate Denounces Efforts to Keep Guests from Outside Cabs.

Charles M. Moran, starter for the Universal Taximeter Company at the private stand in front of the Hotel Knickerbocker, was fined $10 yesterday by Magistrate Cornell in the Jefferson Market Court for interfering with a patron of the hotel in the selection of a taxicab. The technical charge was disorderly conduct, preferred by Edgar P. Lawson, a manufacturer of machinery, with offices at 70 Duane Street, who lives at 353 West Eighty-fifth Street.

Mr. Lawson procured a summons for the starter after Moran, he alleged, had tried to prevent him from hiring an independent taxicab which was passing the hotel. Moran, Mr. Lawson said, took his handbag and tried to push him into a taxicab belonging to the Universal Taximeter Company. A. L. M. West appeared for Moran and Assistant District Attorney Dickinson for Mr. Lawson.

Moran, the starter, testified yesterday that he had tried to protect Mr. Lawson.

"I am held responsible for all persons who take machines at the hotel," he told the Magistrate. "If patrons are overcharged in taxicabs of the company I am answerable for it. If a patron of the hotel takes another concern's cab and if later there is a complaint I am also responsible."

"Who pays your salary?" asked Mr. Dickinson.

"The Universal Taximeter Company," the starter replied.

Magistrate Cornell, in fining the starter, said that the case presented the simple question as to wether a man in this city had the right to enter a public conveyance of his own choosing in front of a public place and without interference. He said the action of the starter was "offensive."

RARE LINCOLNIANA SOLD.

F. W. Morris Gets One of Only Two Known Copies of Hawaiian Work.

Some rare Lincolniana was sold by the Merwin Company yesterday. Frederick W. Morris paid $58 for "Proceeding in Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, on the Death of Abraham Lincoln, with the sermon preached May 4, 1865, by Rev. S. C. Damon." This was published at Honolulu in 1865. It contains also an original poem, "written on receiving the news of the assassination." There are mourning borders throughout the book. Only one other copy is known, and that turned up at an auction a year ago.

A pamphlet, of four pages only, entitled "An Address on the Death of Abraham Lincoln, by Benjamin Ferguson," brought $14. It is without date or place.

The scarce "Trial of Aaron Burr on an Indictment for Treason," Washington, 1807-8, went for $6.50. "Recollections of the Jersey Prison Ship, from the original manuscripts of Captain Thomas Dring, one of the Prisoners," brought $8.

URGES ALDERMEN TO ACT.

Folks Says Course on Pictures and Taxicabs Will Determine.

Alderman Ralph Folks, the fusion leader of the board, warned his associates yesterday against further opposition to the moving picture and taxicab ordinances. The affairs of the board were at a crisis, he said, and its attitude on the two ordinances next Tuesday would show whether it was worthy to be continued.

"The question is now being asked: 'Why a Board of Aldermen?'" he said. "It is needless to say that any board that delays and refuses to pass proper legislation in accordance with public interest, regardless of politics, has no justification for its existence. The present board has passed proper and important ordinances in relation to market and speed regulations. It has also made a thorough investigation of the Police Department. There are, though, important measures relative to taxicabs, motion pictures, and the Building Code, which have been in preparation for several months. I believe and hope that the members of the board at next Tuesday's session will demonstrate to the public that proper action is being taken relative to these things. In the meantime the burden of proof rests with members of the board to show that public interest comes first and private interest last."

TEAM FOR ATHENS GAMES.

America to be Represented in Athletic Contests in Greece in 1914.

James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, made an informal announcement yesterday to the effect that the United States would sent an athletic team to the Olympic Games to be held at Athens, Greece, during the Spring of 1914. This meet belongs to the "local cycle" of Olympic Games, and can be held only in Greece. It has no bearing on the "international cycle" of meets, the next of which is scheduled for Berlin in 1916.

It is believed by members of the American Olympic Committee that the Athens games will take place during either May or June. If such proves to be the case a team of between twenty and thirty athletes will be entered. The majority of the entrants will be athletic club stars since the college track and field performers will not be available at such an early date. The team will sail about a month previous to the games, and will be in charge of one or more members of the committee and an officially appointed trainer.

The Olympic Games at Athens in 1906 were classified as belonging to the "Local Cycle." The programme consisted of twenty-three events in which the United States won eleven firsts, Ireland two, Sweden two, Finland one, France one, Canada one, Austria one, Germany one, England one, and Greece two. Archie Hahn, Paul Pilgrim, Martin Sheridan, George Bonhag, and Ray Ewry were the principal point winners for this country. Pilgrim scored two first, Ewry two, Sheridan two, Hahn one, Lightbody one, Prinstein one, Leavit one, and Bonhag one.

BAIT-CASTING TOURNEY.

Dr. J. H. Held Wins Two Events at Anglers' Club Meet.

The first day's competition of the annual three-day tournament of the Anglers' Club of New York yesterday at the big lake, Central Park, brought out many of the best fly and bait casters in the metropolitan district. Three events were decided, each of which was marked by good performances. In the opening event for bait casting with ¼-ounce weight, C. H. Higby averaged 108 1-5 feet. The open class resulted in lively competition, with Dr. J. H. Held as the leader, with 141 2-5 feet. Dr. Held also captured the competition for the most accurate throw at 60, 70, and 80 feet. He scored an average of 96 3-5, with 47 demerit. His record was four feet better than that of the second man. The tournament will continue to-day and to-morrow. The summary:

Best Cast for Distance, ¼-ounce weight, average of five casts to count.—Won by C. H. Higby, distance 108 1-5 feet; P. J. Frazer, distance 99 9-10 feet, second; Dr. J. G. Fulton, distance, 96 3-5 feet, third.

Class B, open bait cast for distance.—Won by Dr. J. H. Held, distance 141 2-5 feet; C. H. Higby, distance 118 1-5 feet, second; Dr. J. G. Fulton, distance 81 4-5 feet, third.

Bait Casting for Accuracy at 60, 70, and 80 feet, highest score to count.—Won by Dr. J. H. Held, demerit 47, distance 96 3-15 feet; Dr. J. G. Fulton, demerit 117, distance 92 3-15 feet, second; J. L. Kirk, demerit 118, distance 92 2-15 feet, third.

Ramsdell to Coach at Texas.

Special to The New York Times..

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Fred L. Ramsdell, the famous University of Pennsylvania football star and sprinter, has been elected Director of Athletics at the University of Texas, and left here to-day to begin the duties at that institution. Ramsdell has been assisting Dr. William L. Marks and Ernest Cozens in directing the athletic training at the Carnegie Technical School at Pittsburgh, but since Mike Murphy's illness has been at Franklin Field among the graduate coaches helping to round the Penn track men into form.

GRAFT WITNESSES ARE LOST IN EUROPE

Annie Grey, Tenderloin Resort Keeper, and ex-Policeman, Her Husband, Elude Whitman.

TO STAY AWAY TWO YEARS

District Attorney Had Counted on Them to Fasten Bribe Charge Against a Fifth Inspector.

District Attorney Whitman's detectives, it was learned yesterday, had lost all trace of the European wanderings of two important characters of the Tenderloin whom the District Attorney had depended upon to bring the graft investigation not only to the door of a fifth Police Inspector but also to the door of Police Headquarters. These persons were Annie Grey, a resort keeper, said to have had great influence, and her husband, Robert Ullner, an ex-policeman and lawyer. Both are under indictment for keeping a disorderly house in West Forty-sixth Street. That they had fled to Europe had been known for nearly two months, but it was not until yesterday that it was admitted that Ullner and his wife were not likely to return to this country for two years.

In the upper Tenderloin Annie Grey for many years was recognized as having the master hand among her associates in the disorderly house business. She boasted that she had the whole Police Department under her control. Ullner, her husband, who combined a knowledge of police affairs with knowledge of the law, was the go-between, it was said, who made it possible for Annie Grey to retain her place in the Tenderloin. But one day an honest Police Inspector cooperated with the District Attorney's office, and Annie Grey's power was broken. She went to the District Attorney at once and promised to "get even" with all corrupt policemen and police officials. She induced her husband to see Mr. Whitman, and the ex-policeman promised to work hand-in-glove in the future with the District Attorney.

After that Ullner made one more trip to the District Attorney's office. He said that his wife would follow him in a day or two, and that she would tell the Grand Jury some startling things about police corruption in the Tenderloin. Mr. Whitman waited for her. When she did not arrive after a few days he sent men to seek her. She could not be found, and neither could her husband. An indictment was then returned against both of them.

Later it was learned that Annie Grey had sailed for Rotterdam on Feb. 6, and that her husband had sailed for the same port four days later, on the very day that the joint indictment was found against him and his wife. From the principal cities in Europe came reports later of gay times, in which the Ullners were prime movers. Money, it was said, seemed of no importance to them. That set Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith to looking up bank accounts in this city. He found that the Ullners had drawn from their banks more than $12,000 just before their departure. He also found traces of a bribe fund, said to have been paid over to Robert Ullner by the representative of a high police official.

Two high police officials, it was said, were overjoyed to learn that the Ullners had arrived in Europe. One of these men, it was asserted, was on intimate terms with Ullner. He was once a frequent visitor at the Ullner home, it was said. A detective well known in the Tenderloin, it was learned, was associated with Ullner. This detective, who had been under suspicion for some time, was said to have made an arrangement with Ullner whereby Ullner helped to make the monthly graft collections throughout the Tenderloin.

While the Harlem graft investigation, which culminated in the conviction for conspiracy of four ex-Police Inspectors, was under way, there was little need for the presence of the Ullners. Now that the investigation of the Tenderloin is about to begin there are no persons whom Mr. Whitman would rather have near at hand than Annie Grey and her husband. Mr. Whitman could try them immediately if they were within his jurisdiction, and the danger of conviction, it was thought, would make them turn State's evidence. The charge against them is not an extraditable one, and so long as they are in Europe they are safe from prosecution.

Until two weeks ago, it was learned, Assistant District Attorney Smith was never out of touch with the Ullners. He had a complete account of their trip through Europe. It was said yesterday that the trail had been lost. Ullner's father, who takes care of his son's and daughter-in-law's interests in Manhattan and East New York, said that his son had reported in his last letter that he and his wife would probably be away for two years. Mr. Smith thinks that they expect to stay away until the graft prosecutions have "blown over." The indictment of another Inspector did not depend altogether on the Ullners, it was said, but it was admitted that their testimony would be useful as "short cuts" not only to the indictment of the fifth Inspector, but also in obtaining indictments against men still higher up. The District Attorney, it was said, would now seek to find where the money came from which was sent to the Ullners in Europe.

NAVY CREW AT PRINCETON.

Columbia Will Join Middies To-day for Race with Tigers To-morrow.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 15.—The first active interest incident to the Princeton-Columbia-Navy triangular regatta here on Saturday was manifested to-night upon the arrival of the Middies' rowing squad from Annapolis shortly before 8 o'clock. The squad of fifteen men was to-day accompanied by more than a score of naval officers who follow rowing. It is said that many prominent naval officers will be here on Saturday. The Columbia crew will arrive here with its shell to-morrow morning, and will take the water twice during the day.

Princeton was on the lake this afternoon for the first hard work since its victory over Harvard and Pennsylvania. Ted Briggs, who was out of the race on Monday because of an infected hand and who is one of Princeton's cleverest oarsmen, has returned to No. 5 in the Tiger boat. Chester has consequently been returned to No. 3 and Curtis went from No. 3 to bow, Bunzel retiring to the second boat. With Briggs, Chester, and Curtis in their regular places, the Tigers will present their strongest combination on Saturday.

TRAVIS MEDALIST IN OAKLAND GOLF

Jerome Travers Three Strokes Behind in Qualification Round.

Walter J. Travis of Garden City won the medal in the qualifying round of the first golf tournament held over the links of the Oakland Golf Club in thirteen years when he returned a score of 77 yesterday. In the last tournament, held over the Bayside course, Travis was the winner. Jerome D. Travers of Upper Montclair, the National amateur champion, went around in 80 and was a stroke behind H. B. Lee of Yale, former Michigan champion.

Travis began with a three at the first hole and went along smoothly enough, reaching the end of the difficult outward journey in 40. Nothing worse than an occasional five appeared on his inward card, which read 37, for a total of 77. "Jerry" Travers had Fred Herreshoff of Westbrook as a partner, and played the first nine holes in 39 strokes, missing a putt for the first time on the ninth green. Twice he visited traps. Travers went along smoothly the rest of the way except at the home hole, where he drove out of bounds and took 6. Herreshoff's 81 was good for fourth place.

Gardiner W. White, champion of the home club, who went around the course in 76 the day before, returned an 82 yesterday, which was ample to gain a place in the first division. There were 140 entries and 100 starters. In order to facilitate the movement of the field, some of the pairs were started at the tenth tee.

The luck of the draw brings together Travis and H. J. Topping of Greenwich and Lee and Travers. Travers and Travis are in the same half. The draw folows: Lewis vs. Kerr, Webb vs. Hicks, White vs. Tarleton, Cowperthwaite vs. Hunt, Lee vs. Travers, Ward vs. Hazen, Herreshoff vs. Peters, Topping vs. Travis. The scores:

Three weeks ago the sad tidings were flashed from Pittsburgh that Hans Wagner's baseball days were over. At the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon Hans admitted that his playing days are over—each afternoon about 5 o'clock, unless the game runs into extra innings. The broad-shouldered and bow-legged Teuton, generally referred to as the Pittsburgh team, made his first visit of the season to McGraw's yards yesterday, and, as usual, he left evidence of his visit in several sections of the field, the big crash being high up in the left field stands. The full extent of the damage to the Giant cause is included in the numerals, 7 to 2.

Despite the threatening weather about 7,000 fans turned out to see the National League's greatest exhibit. That cracked knee received so much publicity that they expected to see Hans hobble in, lay aside the crutches, and limp through the game until the hinge gave way under the strain. A glimpse over the box score shows how much trouble that much-advertised knee is giving the Teuton. He got only three solid hits, one a home run, into the left field bleachers, and another a grass cutter which almost carried Charley Herzog's left foot out into left field, besides a clean hit over Fletcher's head, which chased in the first Pirate run and put Hans in position to score the second. In the field seven chances came Wagner's way with the usual result.

The clubhouse door yawned early for Pitcher Al Demaree, all of whose previous starts have been marked by light hitting and lighter scoring. His control was poor and his slants failed to puzzle, so he heard his first major league recall in the second inning, after five Pittsburgh runs had been rung up. Wiltse finished the journey, and he suffered some heavy jolts, the most severe being Wagner's home run.

Demaree fitted himself with skids in the opening inning when he handed a pass to little Eddie Mensor, who moved up a base on Max Carey's sacrifice. Doyle took care of Viox's hoist, but Wagner was not so easily subdued. Hans reached his long bat across the plate and dropped a single into short left field, sending Mensor home. Hans came across a minute later when Jack Miller hit to the left field fence for a triple. Miller and Wilson tried a double steal after the latter walked, but Doyle's return cut Miller down at the plate.

The Giants bunched three of their seven hits off Robinson in the opening inning and managed to tie the Pirates, principally because of an error by Mensor. With Burns and Shafer retired on flies, Fletcher singled past Viox and Doyle followed with a line drive over second. The ball rolled through Mensor's hands and continued on its way to the fence, while Doyle made the circuit behind Fletcher. Red Murray followed with a single past first base, stole second, and continued on to third when Simon's throw rolled to the outfield, but Merkle hoisted to Wilson.

That one inning ended the Giants' activity with the willow. During the remaining eight innings they picked up four singles and three passes, but none of these seven base runners passed Jack Miller's station.

The Pirates resumed their attack on Demaree in the second inning after a pass and Meyers's error had paved the way. Byrne walked and Meyers fumbled a short bunt by Simon. On Cooper's long fly to Murray, Byrne raced to third and Simon went to second when Murray's throw hit Byrne. Merkle grabbed a grounder from Mensor's bat and threw Byrne out at the plate, but Carey followed with a double to right, scoring Simon and Mensor. Carey got an extra base when Murray fumbled the ball near the right field wall and counted on Viox's drive to left field. Wagner ended the busy inning by grounding to Merkle.

In the fourth Simon got one base on an ordinary double to left, then stole second, reached third on Cooper's sacrifice, and registered on Mensor's single to left. The last Pittsburgh run arrived in the fifth, when Wagner crashed into one of Wiltse's hooks and gave the ball a ride into the upper seats of the left field bleachers.

Hank O'Day, looking none the worse for his 1912 reception by the Cincinnati anvil chorus, was in charge of the pastime in his old specialty as an umpire, and his 1913 Manhattan debut passed off without an argument.

It was reported after the game that Manager McGraw had drawn a three-day suspension for his argument with Umpire Klem on Wednesday, but the notice did not arrive early enough to keep John J. away from the game.

Phillies Overtake and Beat Cubs.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Batting rallies in the ninth and tenth innings enabled Philadelphia to defeat Chicago to-day by 6 to 5. The visitors drove Alexander off the mound in the sixth inning, wonderful one-hand catches by Magee and Cravath in earlier innings saving several runs. Rixey and Brennan were taken out to permit pinch batsmen to hit for them. Seaton twirled the tenth inning, when, with one out, Saier tripled, Schulte and Bridwell were given passes, filling the bases, but Archer flied to Knabe and Overall fanned. Philadelphia tied the score in the ninth on Killifer's single, Walsh's double, Capron running for the latter, Paskert's sacrifice, and Knabe's single. In the tenth, with one out, Luderus singled, and reached third on Dodge's single and Clymer's fumble. Howley ran for Luderus after the latter reached third. The squeeze play worked, Howley scoring on Killifer's bunt to Overall. The score:

Reds Pound Boston Pitchers.

BOSTON, May 15.—Cincinnati pounded four Boston pitchers hard to-day, winning easily by the score of 11 to 5. Johnson held the locals to nine well-scattered hits. Marsans fell in attempting to get Connelly's long fly during the fourth inning and injured his neck. He fainted, but revived and finished the inning, Almeida taking his place. Connelly's drive went for a home run. The batting of Becker, Bates, and Hoblitzel was a feature, the former getting a hit and a run each of the five times he faced a Boston twirler. The score:

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 15.—Nearly 15,000 fans watched Frank Chance, ex-Cub chieftain, make his bow to Chicago as leader of the Yankees to-day and saw the White Sox triumph over their former city series rival 3 to 2 in the first game of the series.

The wildness of Schulz was responsible for the New York defeat. Two men whom he walked scored, while the other local tally resulted indirectly from another base on balls. Schulz's benders puzzled the White Sox when he got them across, and only four singles were made in the six innings he toiled. One following two passes and an out, netted two runs in the third inning and another came in the fifth after a walk, a sacrifice and Sweeney's error. Schulz was taken out in the seventh to allow a pinchhitter to bat, and Klepfer finished the game.

Scott was hit harder than both New York hurlers combined, but received better support and was effective in the pinches.

Cree robbed Schalk of an extra base hit in the seventh, catching the long drive as it was passing over his head. He was running toward the bleachers when he caught the ball. A one-handed running stab of Scott's near-safety by Midkiff in the same round was another feature play.

Fournier saved Scott considerable trouble and cut off a run by a one-handed stop of Hartzell's hard smash over first base in the sixth, a hit that scored a run, and an error following the stop, so it can be seen that Fournier's play was costly to Chance.

Chance's every movement was watched with interest by the White Sox fans by whom in past years he has been classed at a bitter enemy. The Peerless Leader did not take part in the pastiming but worked out at first base before the game and was cheered nearly every time he caught the ball. Chance was not given any testimonials to-day, all gifts being held until Saturday, when "baseball's biggest day" is to be staged for his benefit.

Chance was in the first base coaching box continually urging his batters to do their best. This struck local fans as peculiar, as during the latter part of his career as Cub manager he never poked his head out of the dugout. Chance's last appearance at Comiskey Park was in October, when the White Sox smothered his Cubs 16 to 0 in the deciding game of the city series.

Two passes and muffs by Stumpf of throws on attempted force outs at second put two Sox on the paths at the start of the first and second innings, but Schulz held his opponents scoreless until the third. Then he walked Schaller and Berger, the former being forced by Lord, Schulz to Midkiff. Schulz also threw out Fournier, but Collins's single to left drove Berger and Lord home.

The Yankees had a chance to start something in the second when Sweeney and Midkiff singled with two out, but Stumpf could only lift a Texas Leaguer to center, which Weaver grabbed.

The final Chicago run came in the fifth when Berger walked and advanced on an out. When he tried to steal third Sweeney threw to left field and Joe cantered home.

New York got it's first marker in the sixth. Wolter strolled and took second when Fournier's throw cut Hartzell down. Cree's swat to right drove Harry to the plate.

Scott held the Yanks hitless after this until the ninth, when Chase tripled and Midkiff doubled, the swats netting New York's last counter. In the seventh Lord's bad throw put Sweeney on first base and after Midkiff went out Chance sent in Lelivelt for Stumpf and Sterrett for Schulz, but both proved easy. McKechnie played short after this round.

Falkenberg's Seventh Victory.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 15.—In their first appearance here this season the Philadelphia Club lost to-day's game, 2 to 0. Cy Falkenberg gained his seventh straight victory, allowing three hits, one each to Murphy, Oldring, and McInnis. No one was on base when McInnis hit a two-bagger. Plank was displaced in the third inning by Wyckoff, after Cleveland had scored two runs in the first two innings. Wyckoff held Cleveland to one hit the remainder of the game, but was replaced by Bush, who pitched the eighth inning. Olson's double and Turner's single scored the first run for the locals. In the second Ryan walked, reached third on infield outs, and scored on Falkenberg's scratch single. The score:

"CHANCE DAY" AT CHICAGO.

Speculators Getting $7, $5, and $3 for Seats for To-morrow's Game.

CHICAGO, May 15.—President Charles A. Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox and a party of friends were on a quiet hunt to-night for ticket brokers who were said to be selling tickets to Saturday's game between the Chicago and New York American League Clubs. The day is to be celebrated as "Frank Chance Day," and friends of the former Chicago National League leader had planned to welcome him to the American League Park.

At the request of Comiskey a newspaper man telephoned a ticket broker in a downtown hotel:

"Have you any seats for the Chance Day game?" he asked.

"Yes, all you want."

"What are the prices?"

"Some for $7, some for $5, and others for $3. How many do you want?"

"We want fifty $7 seats. Have you that many?"

"I will have them for you before the game."

A tabulated memorandum of all the seats sold has been kept at the park, and President Comiskey declared he would trace the seats being offered at hotel stands at advanced rates.

He said he would attempt to bar from the ball park in the future the person responsible for blocks of seats falling into the hands of brokers.

Red Sox Wield Bats Heavily.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 15.—The Boston Red Sox batted Wellman and Adams all over the field to-day, winning from St. Louis, 15 to 4. Joe Wood was unsteady, passing seven men. Boston scored four runs in the second on a double, a sacrifice, a passed ball, triples by Wagner and Hooper and two singles. In the third Speaker's home run, a hit batsman, a single, and two errors netted three more for Boston. In the sixth a base on balls, a single, and Yerkes's home run counted three runs for the visitors. Boston bunched five singles with a base on balls and an error in the ninth for five runs. St. Louis scored three runs in the fourth on a double and an error, a wild pitch, a base on balls and a single. Pratt's single, a passed ball, and Austin's single netted the locals their last run in the fifth. The score:

Giants Release Joe Evers.

Joe Evers, brother of Manager Johnny Evers of the Cubs, was released unconditionally by Manager McGraw of the Giants yesterday. Evers has been with the squad since its departure for Texas in February. The Giants are within one player of the limit, which is twenty-five players after May 15. Pitcher Smith has refused to join the Lynn Club of the New England League, and he will be sent to some other team.

Former Baseball Stars Released.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 15.—"Hobe" Ferris, third baseman, and Glenn Liebhardt, pitcher, were to-day unconditionally released by President Cantillon of the Minneapolis American Association Club. Both men are old-time big league players. Ferris was at one time with the Boston Americans and St. Louis Browns, and Liebhardt was with the Cleveland Americans.

Ball Player Killed by Locomotive.

POTTSVILLE, Penn., May 15.—Clarence H. Irvin, a star baseball pitcher of this vicinity, who was signed by Manager Connie Mack of the Philadelphia American League Club, and who was to report for duty on May 26, was instantly killed to-day by tripping and falling in front of a Philadelphia & Reading Railroad locomotive near Cresson, Penn. He was employed as brakeman and was in the act of turning a switch.

RAGAN WINS SIXTH GAME FOR BROOKLYN

Superbas Regain Their Winning Stride by Defeating St. Louis Cardinals.

Pat Ragan, who is sharing the pitching honors of the Brooklyn team, scored his sixth straight victory at Ebbets Field yesterday when the Superbas defeated the Cardinals by the score of 8 to 6. While Ragan will be credited with the game it cannot be said that he earned it; on the contrary, there is no apparent reason why he should not have gone down to defeat in view of the reckless manner in which the St. Louis batsmen hit him all over the lot. But luck, which plays an important part in all baseball games, favored him, while his team mates accorded him magnificent support, both at bat and on the field.

It was one of the heaviest hitting contests of the season. Each club made fifteen safe hits with an aggregate of forty-three bases. Three home runs were made, one each by Konetchy, Wheat, and Daubert, Wheat making the longest hit recorded on the new field, the ball clearing the right field fence by several feet. Wheat also poled out a double and a single. Smith made four hits, one of which was a triple, and Daubert, in addition to his home run, batted out a two-base hit and a single. In his fourth time at bat Smith drew a base on balls. Moran also made three safe hits.

The Cardinals were also busy with the willow. Huggins led with four singles, Konetchy added two singles to his home run, and Magee, Mowrey, and Sheckard each touched Ragan up for two singles. The difference between the batting of the two teams was that Brooklyn hit at opportune times, while many of the St. Louis hits were valueless as run-getters.

Records of the past season had led St. Louis to expect something out of common from Brooklyn, but the visitors were not prepared for the alertness of the local players. Fast fielding prevented many other base hits and shut off more than one run which otherwise might have spelled defeat for Brooklyn. In this respect the local infield played an almost perfect game, and combination work was very effective.

St. Louis took the lead in the first inning, and for a short time appeared to have the Superbas on the hip, but three runs in the second scored on three consecutive hits, the last a home run, put the locals in the lead and Pitcher Steele out of the game. Perritt did mound work for the next six innings, and Sallee officiated in the final session. When matters looked serious in the seventh inning, Manager Dahlen sent a hurry call for Rucker, who finished the game despite the protest of Ragan. The score:

The other classes finished: 1915, 34½ points; 1916, 31½ points; 1913, 24 points. Banks, 1916, broke the college record in the high jump, clearing 5 feet 9¼ inches.

NO CHALLENGE ANSWER.

New York Yacht Club Meeting Does Not Mention Lipton Defi.

No mention was made last night at the third regular meeting of the New York Yacht Club in relation to the Lipton challenge which is in the hands of the committee of twelve appointed to handle all details in connection with it. Made up of Dallas B. Pratt, George F. Baker, Jr., J. P. Morgan, W. Butler Duncan, E. D. Morgan, C. Ledyard Blair, G. O. Cormack, C. Oliver Iselin, A. C. James, Henry Walters, Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Lewis Cass Ledyard, the committee had nothing to offer to the club concerning the matter.

Commodore Pratt was in the chair, and the other flag officers present. Sixty members were in attendance, twenty-five boats being represented. Routine business practically took up the attention of the session, and although the place was not mentioned, Aug. 5 was announced as the rendezvous date of the annual cruise. Twenty new members were enrolled, two of whom are navy men.

Beechhurst Y. C. Election.

Louis F. Eggers was yesterday elected Commodore of the Beechhurst Yacht Club, Whitestone. Mr. Eggers was for a number of years Rear Commodore of the Whitestone Yacht Club. E. D. Sinsabaugh has been chosen as Vice Commodore; Christopher O. Brown, Rear Commodore; Joseph Schenck, fleet Captain; Dr. Rupert Folger, fleet surgeon; Charles Wendt, measurer; Alfred E. Wilson, Secretary, and J. H. Surridge, Treasurer. The House Committee will be composed of Messrs. Eggers and Surridge, George T. Meech, William K. Murray, Walter Clifford, Robert Auston, and Herbert Katz. The formal opening of the club will take place on Decoration Day.

Gibbons and McCarron at Garden.

Madison Square Garden will be reopened for boxing to-night after a lapse of two months, and Manager Gibson has arranged an attractive card, featuring with two ten-round bouts. In the main event Mike Gibbons of St Paul will oppose Jack McCarron, the Philadelphia middleweight, who is under the management of Philadelphia Jack O'Brien. Gibbons has been working hard for this bout in the hope of regaining the prestige which he lost here in his bout with Eddie McGoorty at the Garden. He has figured in only one bout since that time, that being a few nights ago when he easily outpointed Gus Christie, the Western middleweight. McCarron has figured in several bouts at local clubs, and he is expected to make Gibbons extend himself.

In the ten-round semi-final Tom Gibbons, Mike's brother, will oppose Young Mike Donovan, son of Prof. Mike Donovan of this city. Tom Gibbons in his two recent bouts at local clubs showed wonderful speed and boxing ability, and promises to become as noted as his older brother. Donovan has been boxing in the professional ranks for only one year, but he has a steady run of victories to his credit. The usual number of four and six-round preliminaries will precede the longer bouts.

Miss Greene Reaches Semi-Final.

Miss Dorothy Greene, the leading woman tennis player in Philadelphia, yesterday reached the semi-final round of the women's singles tournament at the Morristown Field Club, Morristown, N. J. Miss Greene defeated Mrs. Pope in straight sets. Miss Clare Cassell and Mrs. C. N. Beard joined the doubles semi-finalists by winning from Mrs. Marshall McLean and Mrs. J. A. H. Hopkins in two sets, the second going to deuce. Competition in the mixed doubles and handicap singles carried both of these events well into the second round. The summaries:

Women's Singles.—Semi-final Round—Miss Dorothy Greene defeated Mrs. R. A. Pope, 6—2, 6—4.

Women's Doubles.—Semi-final Round—Miss Clare Cassell and Mrs. C. N. Beard defeated Mrs. Marshall McLean and Mrs. J. A. H. Hopkins, 6—3, 8—6.

Mixed Doubles.—First Round—Miss Jane Rowson and Mr. Read defeated Miss Edna Wildey and Mr. Wood, 4—6, 6—4, 7—5; Miss Bradley and Mr. Fox defeated Miss Fox and Mr. Davis, 6—3, 6—4; Mrs. Marshall McLean and H. Davis defeated Miss Adele Cragin and H. H. Pooream, 6—3, 7—5.

Second Round—Mrs. Marshall McLean and H. Little defeated Mr. and Mrs. James McLean, 6—0, 6—0; Mrs. A. G. Miles and A. G. Young defeated Miss Laura Livingston and R. H. Davis, 6—2, 8—6.

Handicap Singles.—Miss Jane Rowson (minus 3—6) defeated Mrs. A. G. Manvell, (plus 2—6,) 6—2, 6—1.

Second Round—Miss Jane Rowson (minus 3—6) defeated Miss Della Torre, (scratch,) 6—4, 4—6, 6—4; Mrs. R. A. Pope (minus 15) defeated Miss Dorothy Greene, (minus 30,) 6—3, 6—1; Miss M. C. Beste (plus 2—6) defeated Miss Enid Alden, (plus 15,) 6—3, 3—6, 6—2.

Australians Practice at Merion.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—The Australian tennis players who will meet the American team in the Davis cup matches held their practice to-day at the Merion Cricket Club's courts at Haverford. All played harder than in their previous practice matches at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club, going up to the net after a good serve and putting more snap and vigor into their strokes. At the start Capt. Doust opposed A. W. Hicks, manager of the team. A. B. Jones played Harold Sands, formerly of New York, while Horace Rice practiced with Stanley Rogers of the Merion Club. Later the visitors tackled Alexander Thayer, and Albert Kennedy, Jr., who recently won the championship of the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. E. B. Dewhurst, Rowland Evans and other local players. The Australians united to-day in declaring the American team a strong aggregation.

International Tennis Practice.

The first practice match for the tennis players selected to represent the United States in the Davis Cup matches against Australia will take place to-morrow at the West Side Tennis Club, 238th Street and Broadway, when Harold H. Hackett and Raymond D. Little, who will comprise the double team, will play Charles E. Haggett, the English professional, and a partner to be selected, upon the same turf where the cup contests will be decided in June. It has been arranged by Robert D. Wrenn, Chairman of the International Committee, to begin daily practice of all members of the team as soon as possible, and all of these contests will be the best three out of five sets. Haggett will take charge of the coaching and training of the players, which is distinctly a new departure in American lawn tennis.

Bull Wins Chevy Chase Singles.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—C. M. Bull, Jr., of New York to-day won the title in men's singles in the final day's play of the sixth annual open tennis tournament of the Chevy Chase Club, defeating C. B. Doyle of Washington in the challenge round in a four-set match, 6—4, 5—7, 6—2, and 7—5. Bull won out through his steadiness and ability to cover ground. Mr. Lawson of Cincinnati and Mrs. Carlisle of Washington defeated the Misses Eva Baker and Elisabeth Bryan of Washington in the finals of the ladies' doubles, 6—1, 4—6, and 6—1.

EDWARDS PLAYS POLO AT PIPING ROCK

Only Two of the English Team in Action After First Day Ashore.

Two members of the English polo team, five of whom arrived in New York on Wednesday evening, engaged in some preliminary practice work yesterday in anticipation of the international matches at Westbury June 10 and 14 against the American four for the Westchester Polo Club (Newport) Trophy, now held by the Meadow Brook team.

Capt. A. Noel Edwards, who will fill the position of No. 2 for the visitors when the first ball is thrown in on the field at Meadow Brook three weeks from next Tuesday, played the back position yesterday for the Piping Rock team against the Camden Fishcatchers, with the latter the winners. F. M. Freake, another member of the challenging team, and at present slated as a substitute, traveled to Phipps Field at Westbury, and filled in his first afternoon on American soil by knocking the ball around on the beautiful Westbury green.

The other members of the military aggregation who will make strenuous efforts to carry the cup back to England, Capts. Lockett, Cheape, and Ritson, the latter the field Captain, did not engage in any practice.

A number of American poloists, chief of whom were Harry Payne Whitney, the American Captain, and Louis E. Stoddard, were on hand at Piping Rock to give the visitors a welcome. The Englishmen will make the beautiful clubhouse at Locust Valley their home from now until after the championship series.

That there will be no general concerted polo practice by the members of the English team was evidenced by the statement made yesterday that their first game will take place next Monday, when the quartet will line up against a four captained by Capt. E. D. Miller, D. S. O., who has charge of the welfare of the ponies of the challengers, under sanction of the Duke of Westminster, who is financing the team.

The mounts of the visitors, which arrived at Piping Rock late Tuesday night, after a long walk over the country from Sea Cliff landing, were walked for less than ten minutes yesterday morning, it being Capt. Miller's idea that they had been buffeted about to a considerable degree while aboard the Oceanic during her eight days' voyage.

Two matches were provided for the many onlookers in order to make some amends for the disappointment in not being able to see the visitors in action. These called out the Cooperstown Fox Hunters and the Grasshoppers, with the latter four the winners by 7 goals to 5¾, the Fox Hunters being penalized by a safety by Joseph B. Thomas, while the other match had as teams the Piping Rocks, with Capt. Edwards at back, and the Camden Fishcatchers, who were conceded 8 goals, with the latter team the winners by 16 goals to 7. Capt. Miller refereed.

To-morrow the final will be played as an introductory game to a match between Piping Rock and Great Neck. Capt. Miller will play No. 3 in the Piping Rock team, while the Great Neck four will be "backed" by J. G. Milburn, Jr.

Haggis Wins Wrestling Bout.

Alexander Haggis, the wrestling instructor of the Greek-American Athletic Club, last night defeated Gus Peterson, the Princeton University professional, in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling bout in the gymnasium of the Greek-American Athletic Club, 313 West Fifty-third Street. Haggis, who is a former A. A. U. champion, proved the master of Peterson and won in two straight falls in 57 minutes 24 seconds and 51 minutes 15 seconds, respectively. Peterson made the mistake of trying to do all the aggressive work, while Haggis allowed his opponent to expend much of his strength before beginning operations. Haggis threw his man each time with a crotch and toe hold. Peterson's left ankle was weak and Haggis devoted his attention to this weakness, finally wearing Peterson down.

Columbia Event Shifted to Princeton

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J, May 15.—The Princeton-Columbia track meet, scheduled this season for the first time in many years, will be held in Princeton next Saturday instead of in New York, as was formerly arranged. Columbia does not have a 220-yard straight way on South Field, and the Tiger sprinters are not accustomed to any other kind of a track, this fact necessitating the change. Princeton's close meet with Yale last week makes Princeton a decided favorite over the New Yorkers.

Iowa City H. S. Champion Shooters.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—For the third consecutive year the Iowa City High School has won the interscholastic National rifle shooting championship and the Astor Cup, which goes with it. By its victory this school made a record score for interscholastic shooting, the team's total being 984 out of a possible 1,000, which is 4 points better than the record made by the same school last year. Deering High School of Portland, Me., was second with 976 points; Susquehanna, Penn., High third with 968; De Witt Clinton High, New York City, fourth with 956; Salt Lake High fifth with 947; Morris High, New York City, sixth with 946. Nineteen schools competed.

SOCIALISM AND STRIKES.

The conviction of QUINLAN, one of the leading agitators of the Industrial Workers of the World, for inciting the silk mill strikers of Paterson to acts of violence, calls attention to conditions existing in that city which are probably not generally understood by the public. The prevailing impression, no doubt, is that the silk mill workers are on strike to secure better wages and improved conditions of labor. This was true in the beginning. From the time that the Industrial Workers of the World, according to their practice, interested themselves in this strike, it has become a part of the general assault of Socialism upon society, and more immediately of the death grapple between Socialism and organized labor. The American Federation of Labor is not a Socialistic organization. Its leaders look upon Socialism as the deadly foe of the organization, and they are all the time fighting the Socialists who are seeking to get control of it. It is the policy of the I. W. W. to send its agitators and organizers to the scene of any considerable strike, with a view to turning the disturbance to its own ends. That is what is now going on in Paterson.

There are factions in Socialism, but the ground principle of the faith, which they all accept, is the abolition of private ownership of property. They aim at the transfer from private ownership to State ownership of the land and all the instruments of production, such as mills and machinery, and of means of transportation and exchange. Some Socialists believe that this can be brought about by a social evolution. Probably a greater number are prepared to see it brought about by revolution if necessary. The I. W. W. are the advocates of "direct action," that is, a violent assault upon the existing order of society. They preach and practice the use of dynamite, of sabotage, of the destruction of machinery and property. It seems to be their belief that if property is made worthless in the hands of private owners it will then of necessity pass into the control of the State.

These are the doctrines preached by HAYWOOD, ETTOR, GIOVANNETTI, and the others at Lawrence, they are now preaching them to the silk-mill strikers of Paterson, and ETTOR has been urging the striking barbers in this city to employ the methods favored by the I. W. W. QUINLAN exhorted the Paterson strikers to "club the workers out of the mills." Men on the ground who have diligently studied the conditions in Paterson assert that 70 per cent. of the operatives now on strike in that city would willingly return to their looms but for the fear of violence at the hands of the Industrial Workers of the World faction. Yet the conviction of QUINLAN for using language calculated to provoke acts of violence and riot and bloodshed has angered the I. W. W. faction in Paterson. One of them shouted, "We will put dynamite under the court." Railway travel through and near Paterson has been made dangerous in the last few days through the placing of obstructions upon the track, and while these crimes cannot in the absence of proof be fairly charged to the I. W. W., they have freely indulged in threats to use dynamite there and elsewhere. An I. W. W. speaker in this city said at a public meeting last week that the principal objection to the use of dynamite was that it was too "local" in its effects; he also said that he would trample upon the Stars and Stripes to put the red flag in its place and keep it there. There have been several instances, lately reported, of the placing of the red flag above the Stars and Stripes by the men of this organization.

It is time that the public should understand the real aim of strikes taken in charge by the leaders of the I. W. W. They scout the idea that better conditions of labor are the object of their agitation. They seek to destroy, they incite to violence as a means of obtaining their real object, the capture of mill property and other property, and the establishment of State ownership of everything. Yet when Mayor LUNN of Schenectady is arrested for preaching the pestilent I. W. W. doctrines, and when HAYWOOD, ETTOR, and the others rouse the passions of mobs to a dangerous pitch until the police interfere and arrests are made, the cry is at once raised that they are exercising only their constitutional right of free speech, and that police interference is unlawful and oppressive. It is difficult to understand how sane persons, not themselves of the I. W. W., whether they speak through the press or in any other manner, can with the slightest pretense of sincerity express such views. A far greater freedom of speech is permitted in England and in this country than anywhere else on earth. The belief exists that it is a safer policy to permit the ventilation and free expression of the doctrines of revolution and confiscation than would be the other policy of rigid censorship, which would not silence the agitators but would invite the still greater dangers of secrecy in their operations. But neither in this country nor in England has free speech ever meant the license to exhort mobs to burn and destroy, to wreck machinery and to blow up buildings with dynamite. These are the things that the I. W. W. men are to-day preaching at every opportunity. Current public misconceptions of what are the real issues at stake in the strikes they manage would be cleared away by an intelligent understanding of the facts.

THE CLOSED SHOP AGAIN.

The newspaper organ of the union of High German Nobility announces that the closed shop rule will be strictly enforced in the case of Miss NANCY LEISHMAN after she is wedded to the Duke of CROY, otherwise CHARLES RODOLPHE ENGELBERT PHILIPPE LEON, descendant of Hungarian Kings and Princes of the Holy Roman Empire, a hereditary peer of Prussia, and sovereign Duke of Dülmen, Westphalia. The very highest nobility of other countries profits occasionally from an infusion of fresh and pure blood. But the brahmins of Prussia set their faces against all intruders. They will not let Miss LEISHMAN have a union card. So she must content herself with being merely the wife of CHARLES RODOLPHE and known as the Duchess of CROY, a relative by marriage to the line of Princes of the Holy Roman Empire, consort of a hereditary peer of Prussia and sovereign of Dülmen, Westphalia, among the few comparatively unimportant people in the world who are not members of the union of High German Nobility.

It is a terrible affliction for a young woman to bear, but doubtless the wife of the Duke will bear it with fortitude and the cheerfulness inherent in a happy nature. She will be considered a "scab," of course, by the members of the Union, but she will not be subjected to violent treatment. The High German Nobility's union has not, in these later years, betrayed so much of the militant spirit that rioting need be feared. If there is an outbreak of sabotage, the German police may be trusted to act valiantly in upholding the right of a good-looking, well-bred young woman to serve as the wife of the man of her choice, with or without union papers, especially when she has the money.

It would be interesting to know what qualifications a person must possess to gain admittance to this select and gracious circle. The remote ancestors of CHARLES RODOLPHE were marauders, slayers of their fellow-men, stealers of cattle, hard fighters, and harder drinkers. They did not exceed in number, excel in strength, or surpass in wit the ancestors of Miss LEISHMAN. It is not likely that the present German High Nobility contains any woman comelier than Miss LEISHMAN, better educated, or of higher principles. The men of the highest British nobility do not hesitate to take wives from the theatrical calling, when they can get them, and indeed there is reason to believe that such weddings would be more frequent if the followers of the theatrical calling had not recently acquired a sense of their own superiority to any merely hereditary nobility whatever.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF RAILWAY REGULATION.

The railways no longer are subject to the reproach of resisting regulation or minimizing its effects and results. Their haughty spirits being subdued, is there not reason and room for hoping that the regulators themselves may realize the responsibilities thrust upon them? Ultimately the regulators are the people, upon whom individually the payment of the railway dividends, all that the railways get out of the railway business for their owners, imposes a burden of something less than 1 cent a day, say $3.26 annually apiece, being the sole profit to the railways from an investment of $160 for each person. Comparing what the railways give in return for the $3.26 they receive, can it be said that the average American suffers from the railway dividends, which are declared on the smallest capitalization in the world? The fact is that the burden of sustaining the railways when figured for each person, or for each article served to consumers, is so small that even the tax to the Post Office is larger.

The point is put in this way in connection with the railways' application for an increase of rates to sustain their credit by the maintenance of their dividends because it chances that the official regulators, the agents of the people, the Inter-State Commerce Commission, quite by accident put out in connection with the application a statement of the gross earnings showing an increase of operating income to a total of $591,456,331 for the eight months of the current year. It is a portentous sum, but not a hint is given of the related fact that the increase in the capitalization of the property placed at the service of the people during the year 1912 was about half of the sum named, say $272,049,938. If those who give the mandate to the official regulators wish to be as well served in the future as in the past they must make plain their wish that the growth of the railways shall not be stunted. This is a plea not for the railways, but for the customers of the railways. The profits and the dividends of the railways are matters of small consequence to the average man in comparison with the maintenance of their standard of service.

The case is somewhat different with the shippers. The money they pay to the railways is collected from the consumers of their goods, and is not, or ought not to be, decisive of their attitude toward the railways' request for a living wage and a little something for a rainy day. The shippers' real interest lies less in the advance of the rates than in the manner of the advance. An advance by percentage may not be so equitable as it seems. Great care is necessary to preserve the relation between classes of traffic and between communities. This is what the railways mean when they say that the advance of 5 per cent. is to be subject to such modifications "as may be required to preserve necessary differential relations." If the proposal be strictly construed the advance would bear the same relation to distance as existing rates. But if the differentials are to be preserved there must be an advance of a greater rate on some shorter distances, or else rates to Baltimore, for example, would be thrown out of relation to those to Chicago. The shippers and producers have a right to be heard for the preservation of their present relations, but why should they go further and oppose the railways' application? Why might they not co-operate with the railways, so far as their interests allow, on the ground that the prosperity of both is better than trade reaction for either? For nothing is surer than that shippers and railways will make profit or loss together.

The attitude of the Inter-State Commerce Commission is independent of such considerations as properly control the classes already mentioned. There are signs that experience has modified its earlier procedure, as though regulation and reduction meant the same thing. Since 1910 the Commission has approved sixty-six advances and disapproved sixty. In recent important cases it has perceived that the interests of the railways and the shippers were not so antagonistic as they have seemed, and the Commission, having despaired of deciding so as to please both, has favored their reaching an agreement which the Commission stood ready to approve. That is the better way. Such spokesmen for shippers as JOHN CLAFLIN have publicly favored advances of rates. There are dividends for neither in antagonism, but there is hope for the stability of prosperity in co-operation, including the Commission in the triangular agreement.

THE MAYOR AND THE POLICE.

"The complaints against the Department ought to be investigated "from the outside," is the reason assigned by Mayor GAYNOR for his approval of the Police bill which would substitute extra Deputy Police Commissioners for Inspectors at the discretion of the Commissioner. If his work is not satisfactory, an Inspector may be reduced to a Captaincy and a civilian appointee placed over his district.

We have heard that some, at least, of the Captains eligible for Inspectorships have questionable records, and that the reduction of a bad Inspector and the promotion to his place of a Captain often leads to indifferent results. This is the Mayor's reason for deciding to resort to civilian inexperience to fill the chief positions in the force, in the interest of efficiency. True, it is an extension of the idea of the civilian Commissionership, and undoubtedly the doctrine of investigation from the outside has its merits. The office of the Commissioner, with his present force of Deputies, should suffice for this purpose.

The reason it does not suffice lies not in the potential goodness or badness of the men who happen to fill the Inspectorships. The whole police administration has for years been fundamentally wrong because of the insecure tenure of the Commissioner. He is placed in command of a force of men whose tenure is permanent, who can be removed only by severe and protracted legal processes, while his head may come off at the nod of the Mayor. The police force and its officers have seen many Commissioners come and go. The ablest Commissioners have testified that they had not time to acquire experience in administering the Department. They could not command the respect of its permanent officers, the worst of whom invariably leagued together to overthrow their civilian head.

Mr. GAYNOR is tolerably familiar, we think, with this chief and radical defect. Why, instead of approving the appointment of amateur Deputies to be set over the Captains, Lieutenants, and rank and file of the Police, has the Mayor not urged the passage of a bill fixing a definite term for the Police Commissioner, and making its incumbent removable only on charges which may be reviewed in the courts? Such a law would result in the appointment of better Commissioners, in securer tenure, and in the knowledge by the Police that their head is appointed to serve out his term.

CITY PARKS AND THE MONUMENT IDEA.

Almost everybody who sees the monstrous combination of monumental masonry and plastic craftsmanship which screens one of the loveliest views of Central Park at the Grand Circle utters a word or two of amazement and protest. A huge pedestal of pinkish granite is flanked by utterly needless settees of the same material on which hoboes who find the spectacle of busy life in the Circle soothing to their jaded minds can rest at their ease. On the summit of the pedestal a gilded woman seems to be hopelessly urging forward a number of horses which, viewed from the street level, resemble the poor gored beasts of the Spanish bull rings vainly trying to regain their footing. The question is continually asked: "Why was this "thing done? Why was it permitted "to close forever to the public view "that vista of lawn and trees in the "midst of a crowded city?"

The question is one for the visiting member of Federal, State, and Municipal Art Commissions to ponder. In all the preliminaries of the erection of this perfectly well-intentioned but ill-placed monument, not a word of protest was uttered except by THE NEW YORK TIMES. There is no doubt whatever that a very small proportion of the citizens of New York could, if they chose, control the selection and placing of all public monuments, and also the management of the public parks. The disposition of the majority of the people is clearly to yield to the judgment of the experienced and well-informed in such matters. Yet the Municipal Art Commission of New York can tell its visiting friends that the influence of people who know a decent work of sculpture when they see it is rarely exerted in behalf of the city. We need sadly the influence of a body of good citizens anxious to make this town as nearly beautiful as possible, to prevent the erection of eyesores in conspicuous places, to preserve our parks from invasion and destruction.

Yet it must be remembered that while the project of this statue was under consideration, or should have been, many artists were engaged in an effort to secure a site in Central Park for a building of their own, and to set a precedent for the erection of other buildings which, in time, would destroy the park utterly. Their efforts, at that time, might better have been directed to the project of a monument to the victims of the Maine explosion. The idea of thus perpetuating the memory of the martyred sailors was worthy, the work of collecting a fund for the purpose was ably and energetically performed. But the wrong site was chosen for the monument which now turns out to be such an unsightly object.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Courageous Friend of Peace.

Possibly, and indeed probably, the speech made by Dr. LYMAN ABBOTT at the Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration shocked some of his hearers by the boldness of its assertion that there are some things worse than war. It is to be hoped, however, that most, even of those whom it shocked most, will on reflection appreciate that there was nothing in Dr. ABBOTT's words to show or to hint that he is not a sincere friend of peace or that he is not working and hoping for the ultimate abolition of war as a means of settling public quarrels.

To say that he is the one and does the other is merely to declare that he is a man who shares the enlightened intelligence and aspiration of his time. That he has not allowed his zeal for peace to make him blind to facts—that he realizes the relation of peace to justice—that he would not have the one without the other—these things only prove that he has not let zeal run away with his common sense or been led to confuse the world as it ought to be with the world as it is.

"Peace at any price" is a policy openly avowed only by mental defectives and those whose fanaticism, like that of TOLSTOY, verges toward or into insanity. But justifiable detestation of war causes too many advocates of peace to expose themselves to general suspicion of secretly holding to that policy, and these are they who bring on a noble cause whatever of obloquy such a cause can deserve. Of these Dr. ABBOTT is not one. He would doubtless admit, readily enough, that all wars are wrong, in the sense that in every case one side or the other—if not both sides, as has frequently happened—was trying to get or accomplish by force what it could not get or accomplish in right and reason. What he would not admit, and what no man should admit, much less assert, is that men worthy of the name are under any obligation to endure tyranny or rapacity from which they can protect themselves, by war when other expedients fail.

It is not true that it takes two to make a quarrel; one can do it unless the other does not allow his right or dare maintain it. Quite true is it, however, that it takes two to make an honorable peace, and that when it cannot be made, one of the disputants, at least, is thereby convicted of the greatest crime that can be committed, though in rare instances it may be one of ignorance rather than of intention.

What Japan Owes to the Ainu.

WILLIAM ELLIOT GRIFFIS, a high, though not always undisputed, authority on Japanese questions, gave in a letter we printed yesterday the support of his opinion to the contention, now first put forth as of political rather than of ethnological consequence, that this brave and ambitious people has enough of Aryan blood to be called non-Mongolian. This opinion he based on the belief, in turn founded on long residence among the Japanese and careful study of their history, that the original inhabitants of their archipelago were the Caucasian-like Ainus, and that this race of enigmatic savages played a potent rôle in making the Japanese what they are.

That the Ainus preceded other immigrants, Semitic, Malay, and Tartar, on the islands is too probable to be disputed, but one cannot help remembering the many cases in which autochthones have had little or no effect on the posterity of their conquerors. There is, for instance, practically no American Indian strain in the population of the United States, and even the negroes are among rather than of us, though it seems cruel to say so. The fact that the few remaining Ainus are a people apart from the Japanese, and held to be neither relatives nor equals, is against the theory of an ancient assimilation and amalgamation.

And it is a lamentable fact of almost universal observation that the crossing of races as distant as the Ainus seem to have been from any of their invading neighbors usually results in producing a hybrid, not superior to either, but of marked inferiority to both. This is perhaps a sociological rather than a physiological phenomenon, but that supposition does not materially affect its bearing on the problem under discussion. If the Japanese really are "Eurasians," they are strangely different from the other hybrids to whom the name is applied, for most of the "Eurasians" are far from showing Japanese qualities and potentialities and are pretty miserable specimens of humanity.

We call a man a negro, even though his white blood—in amount—far predominates over that from Africa. Theoretically, this should he humiliating to us, but we ignore theory and abide by what seems to us fact. Presumably the ancestors of the Japanese would have done the same thing and have put the Ainu half breeds, if there were any, in low places, not in high. That would have led, ultimately and inevitably, to the elimination of the Ainu strain.

Barbers Sent to Jail.

Our striking barbers are following the fashion of the day and endeavoring to attain their ends by violence. This Magistrate KERNOCHAN in particular, and his colleagues on the city bench in general, are trying to suppress by inflicting heavy punishment on the rioters brought before them. To do so is commendable, as it seems to be the only way to convince the barbers that they do not own the town and that the liberty they share with the rest of us does not include the right to throw brickbats at those who differ with them as to wages and hours of labor.

Why anybody ever wanted, or even was willing, to be a barber, has always been a mystery to those of us who practice their ancient art only on ourselves, and their tip-taking habit, in which they were about the first of white American residents to indulge, has prevented them from gaining that universal love and respect which their usually skillful performance of a task honest enough in itself might be expected to earn.

In spite of their long hours, however, they have always seemed to be a cheerful and well-nourished lot. Their present conduct is therefore about as surprising as would be that of a rabbit that turned on a dog and gnashed ferocious teeth at him. With real grievances they may be better supplied than their patrons have supposed, but they are now winning no sympathy, and they are further injuring a trade that has already suffered severely by the recent discovery that even in amateur hands a razor need not be mightier than the sword as a shedder of human blood. Their leaders, in jail, will have a fine opportunity to cool off, to reflect on their mercies, and to regain their old confidence in conversation as an alleviator of life's miseries.

ENGINEERING ETHICS.

Mr. Riker's Newspaper Interview Defended as Proper.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I note with interest your quotation from The Engineering News's article on Mr. Riker's plan for flood control in the Mississippi Valley, where reference is made to "that article in the code of ethics in force in some of the National Engineering societies which prescribes that new inventions or projects in engineering work should be spread before engineering societies or in the technical press before publicity is sought in the newspapers."

From the above quotation it would appear that codes of ethics are generally in force in engineering societies. So far as known to the writer such a code of ethics has been formally approved by but one of the great National societies, viz.: The American Institute of Architects, at Washington. The American Society of Mechanical Engineers will consider the adoption of such a code at its meeting next week in Baltimore. The American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the Boston Society of Civil Engineers and the American Institute of Consulting Engineers have the formulation and adoption of some such code under consideration, but have taken no formal action. The American Society of Civil Engineers certainly had no code of ethics for the guidance of its members, formulated or otherwise, nor is it considering any at the present time. So that the statement made by The Engineering News is both inexact and misleading.

Furthermore, in defense of Mr. Riker's permitting himself to be interviewed on this important matter of flood control by THE NEW YORK TIMES, the writer has read the proposed code of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers printed in The Engineering News, issue of Jan. 2, 1913, and I think that in view of the fact that the code quoted has not yet been adopted, much less "in force," The Engineering News goes out of its way to criticise Mr. Riker, because the wording of the code refers to "technical discussions and criticisms" and "technical descriptions of inventions," and does not refer to the discussion of engineering matters of such general interest, affecting such vast areas and such great masses of people, as the controlling of the floods along our great river valleys. Methods of flood control have so far proved so unavailing in this country that a man with a remedy, even though that remedy appear the wildest dream, deserves a serious and wide hearing.

SECRET OF GOOD COFFEE.

Connoisseur Gives Directions Which a Child Can Use.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

With the editor's permission I will gladly answer the inquiry of the coffee consumer who, signing himself "Three Times a Day," deserves the especial consideration of coffee dealers.

Two delusions must be exploded before coffee will be known at its best by the average public. First, as previously explained, the idea of boiling, stewing, or second cooking of the already fully-cooked, roasted coffee must be abandoned as unnecessary and destructive. It must be understood that fragrance and flavor, the true quality, is in the volatile oils which fuse instantly with boiling water when the cells are sufficiently opened as in pulverized coffee. Secondly, bury the old idea that the secret of good coffee lies in some magic "recipe" which, like the fountain of youth, is perpetually sought and never found. As right brewing is not a cooking process, no cooking "recipe" is anything but an obstacle to be explained away. One of the stubborn difficulties in coffee making reform is the imagined coffee-cooking skill of a "cook" who, by some elaborate and erroneous recipe or system, produces a concoction which she proudly and aggressively declares "coffee." Right brewing principle is so simply applied that the child of the house can make as good or better coffee than a vainglorious chef, whose cooking skill is not only superfluous, but detrimental to the necessary simplicity.

Brewing essentials can be stated in primer-like form as follows:

1. Pulverized coffee, (ground as fine as cornmeal.)
2. Boiling water, (at the galloping point.)
3. Cotton filtering material, (fine enough to prevent grounds going through. Unbleached muslin, for instance.)
4. Action. Pour boiling water quickly through the grounds, the liquor filtering through without delay or overdrawing contact, into cup or earthenware vessel, for immediate serving.

This will produce a clear, highly fragrant, "real coffee," which experts understand as technically perfect, which consumers delight in, and which only poets can describe.

The "slip up" point in the filter process is apt to be the filtering material. Paper can as yet be used only when supported by a framework, such as a metal sieve. (And may the good angel of coffee preserve it from its sworn enemy, metal.) The framework necessary to support the paper, whether of metal or earthenware, damagingly retards the filtration. Muslin is the practical and efficient filtering material, and after being used should never be allowed to dry. All chemists will testify that filtering material is kept sweet by being kept moist. The muslin filter-bag, or disk, should therefore be kept in clear water after using, or fresh material used each time of making.

Equipped with these fundamental facts, the consumer is able to see for himself the faults and virtues of the many coffee-making devices on the market. As to certain coffees of the descriptions—"bitter," "mild," "strong," &c.—which your correspondent asks for, I would say that definitions of coffee flavor differ even as coffees differ, and the individual taste is to be "fitted," as a man is to his coat, by "trying it on," not by descriptions. It is to be realized, however, that properly made coffees show more of their individual characters, are more delightful themselves, and give more pleasures of taste and understanding of coffee.

A Coffee Recipe.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It may interest "Three Times a Day" to know that it is considered in France to be the best of all blends of coffees when equal parts of Mocha-Cheribon (Java) and Martinique are mixed. I believe that Alexander Dumas, the father, mentions that blend in his famous cook book.

DECISIVE BATTLES OF HISTORY

Should Include Constantine's Victory in 312 A. D.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The present celebration of the sixteenth centenary of the conversion of Constantine leads to some literary reflections:

Creasy's "Fifteen Decisive Battles" seems to resemble the various best lists of authors we read of from time to time—they always arouse criticism by some serious omission. It will be recalled that the "Five Foot Shelf" of what, in a great educator's mind, were the best imaginable books in English was found deficient in that it omitted both the Bible and Shakespeare. A few inches added to the shelf would have been a good thing in the minds of many.

The "Fifteen Battles" would have been quite as euphonious had it been called the "Sixteen" and had it included the battle of the Milvian Bridge in 312 A. D., where tradition declares that Constantine saw in the heavens the luminous cross which bade him conquer "In This Sign." Surely the giving of Europe and eventually America to Christianity was, to say the least, quite as important as the battles which saved Europe from Persian despotism or the later one which gave Western Europe to Latin rather than Greek supremacy, or any other named in the book. However great the consequences of others, none exceeded this in its results. Sins of omission are as bad as those of commission.

A Poem That Came True.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I wish to express my appreciation of the little poem by Miss Ella A. Fanning, entitled "Mutual Satisfaction," which appeared recently in THE TIMES. Early this Spring my two boys and I constructed a small "cottage" and fastened same to a long stake on top of the grape arbor, which brought it up among the branches of the peach tree.

We had about given up hope of getting tenants this Spring, when we observed early last Sunday quite some commotion in the garden, and later learned to our delight that Mr. and Mrs. Wren had taken possession of the dwelling. My rose garden is close by, and I have noticed that they are very active there, and have since been informed that the wren is a foe to the bugs that appear at this season, which is an added source of satisfaction.

Ice Monopoly Charged.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The so-called Ice Trust has been supplying me with ice for the last eight years. Up to the present season I have been accustomed to sign a contract on March 1 for one year's supply at so much per hundredweight. This season the company refused a contract, and on May 1 raised the price of ice 50 per cent. over the old price. I have since been informed by a representative of the company that there will be a similar increase about June 1. The present season is the first that I have not been solicited by independent dealers to supply me with ice.

If competition in the ice business has ceased altogether in this city, and those in control take advantage of same, then there is no alternative but municipal supervision.

THE HULL INCOME TAX.

Victor Morawetz Presses Home the Points of His Criticisms.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Mr. Cordell Hull, author of the pending National Income Tax bill, replies in THE TIMES of May 14 to my critisisms of his bill published in your issue of May 8. I think that Mr. Hull wholly fails to answer the points of my criticisms. Some of my points he does not even undertake to answer. Some of them he meets with the statement that a similar tax system works satisfactorily in England. But the English income tax law differs from Mr. Hull's bill, and English business conditions and methods differ from those prevailing in the United States. Thus, bearer bonds with coupons are the rule in America and the exception in England.

Mr. Hull points out that the English law exempts all incomes of $800 or less whereas his bill exempts all incomes of $4,000 or less, and he states that the lower exemption would embrace more taxpayers and hence more complications than the higher exemption. This seems a strange confusion of ideas. Of course the higher the limit of the incomes exempted the more incomes would be included in the exemption and the more complications would arise. The exemption of all incomes of $4,000 or less probably would exempt more than ten times as many incomes as an exemption of incomes of $800 or less. He states that under the English bill allowing abatements to all taxpayers whose income is over $800 and under $3,500 more than 700,000 people annually file claims for abatements and exemptions by reason of the amount of their incomes and that the Government refunds more than $8,000,000 of taxes under such claims. His bill contains no provision, like the English law, for refunding taxes by the Government; but, if 700,000 people are entitled to abatements and exemptions under the English law, it is obvious that the number would be vastly greater under his bill.

The English system of taxation has been in force for more than sixty years and the business conditions and methods prevailing in England grew up with the system of taxation and were adjusted to it. To thrust the English system of taxation upon the American people and to require them to change their business methods in accordance with the English system would not be a wise exercise of legislative power and would not meet the approval of the American people.

Other points which Mr. Hull undertakes to answer appear not to have been made sufficiently clear by me, as his answers do not apply to the points which I tried to make.

Mr. Hull says that my statement discloses a "veiled plan to get holding corporations from under the tax" and to free "corporations having in their bonds guarantees to the holders against taxation from the effects of such contracts." In this he certainly is mistaken, and I do not think that anything I have stated warrants his charge. The outline of an income tax bill suggested by me provides for the taxation of holding companies in the same manner as individuals and other corporations. Mr. Hull's bill would impose a double tax on income from stocks held by other corporations. Under the plan suggested by me corporations that have agreed to pay the interest on their bonds without deduction for taxes would have to bear the normal tax upon the interest paid to the bondholders. To enact an income tax that would saddle the tax upon bondholders whose bonds provide for the payment of interest without deduction for taxes would, in my opinion, defeat the just expectation of bondholders and would injuriously affect the value of corporate bonds and the borrowing power of corporations, especially in foreign countries. Mr. Hull's bill, however, would relieve the debtor corporations from the payment of the tax in all cases in which the interest was collected by other corporations and in all cases in which the bondholders applied for the authorized exemptions and deductions. In the latter class of cases the Government would lose the tax altogether.

No doubt it was not the intention of the framer of the bill to relieve holders of preferred stock from taxation and to saddle the tax upon the holders of the common stock of corporations, and it was not the intention to exclude incomes from preferred and common stocks from the progressive additional tax on incomes in excess of $20,000; but this appears to be the effect of the bill as it is drawn. It would certainly require a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States to determine that the bill means what Mr. Hull says it means.

I have not undertaken to criticise the policy of the bill, but have merely endeavored to point out that the bill fails to carry out its apparent purpose in a practical and workable manner. Mr. Hull says that his measure has been submitted to some of the best expert accountants in the country and to Treasury officials and that each has pronounced the measure entirely practical and workable. I have not met a single business man who holds the same view. A number of clear-headed business men have stated to me that they cannot make head or tail of the bill on account of its involved and complicated provisions. Others have declared that the enactment of the bill would result in an incredible amount of uncertainty, disarrangement of business, useless labor and expense.

In my opinion, the enactment of the bill in its present form would be a wrong to the people of the United States and would tend to bring discredit upon the political party responsible for its enactment. It would not be difficult to draw a bill which would carry out the main purposes of Congress in a simple, clear and effective manner, without disarrangement of business and without causing endless trouble and expense to the people. The entire bill should be recast.

SPRING CLEANING.

I.

The first Mrs. Brown cleaned house
In the good old-fashioned way.
No peace there was for man or mouse
In the merry month o' May.

She toiled like three strong men,
She led the strenuous life;
Each day one long blue Monday then—
Folks said "a model wife!"

But when she left this world for t'other
Brown promptly went and got another.

II.

The second Mrs. Brown
Put on her Springtime best,
And 'phoned to Mr. B. in town,
"Let's have a little fest."

No scrub or rub to spoil
The loveliness of May—
She let the vacuum-cleaner toil
While she was at the play.

And Brown declares he wed a treasure,
And even foots the bill with pleasure.

EDUCATION IS ELIOT'S PANACEA FOR WAR

Popular Enlightenment Surest Way to Root Out Causes of Strife, He Says.

EXTOLS LIGHT OF REASON

President Emeritus of Harvard Points to Ignorance and Suspicion as Arch Foes of Peace.

MOHONK LAKE, May 15.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard, addressed the International Arbitration Conference to-day on "How to Root Out the Causes of War." He said this could be accomplished by a combination of popular education; the progress of international law; the acceptance of the "open door" policy; the increase of mutual acquaintance and good will among nations, and the concentration of public attention upon the wastes and brutalities of war.

"What will be the probable causes of international war in the future?" said Dr. Eliot. "First, the survival of political or governmental institutions inconsistent with sentiments which in recent generations have gathered great strength. The first of these sentiments is the sentiment of nationality, vast, vague and hard to define, but tremendously potent. It is based on similar social customs and needs, on like passions good and bad, on common ethical standards, and on a love of independence and liberty.

"An active cause of war in Europe, Asia and Africa," he continued, "has been the opposition of the powers that be to the unification of peoples by nationality. The only way to root out this cause of war is to persuade publicists, governors and voters in all the strong nations that the sentiment of nationality is supremely potent, indestructible and rightful.

"Another sentiment which has caused innumerable wars is the objection to alien rule. To root out this cause of war, publicists and statesmen must discover better means than force of obtaining for alien rulers the advantages they find or seek through their ruling; so that they may peaceably withdraw from their conquests or cease to insist on exercising supreme power.

"A fruitful cause of war in the future is likely to be international distrusts, dislikes and apprehensions, nursed in ignorance, and fed on rumors, suspicions and conjectures propagated by an unscrupulous press. To root out this cause of war it is desirable to promote international acquaintance through knowledge among all nations of the characteristic literature of each, and through friendly international intercourse, especially of students, travelers, learned men and delegates to international congresses and conferences.

"Among the Western peoples the future causes of war are most likely to be clashing commercial or industrial interests. A better way of extending commerce and trade than fighting for it has of late years found a certain amount of favor among the Western powers in the case of China, namely, the policy called 'the open door.' The sincere adoption of this policy would root out a threatening cause of war in the East.

"A worldwide cause of war is the fear of sudden invasion of an overwhelming force. This fear is as keenly felt in China and Japan as it is in Germany, France and England; and there are no better defences against it in the East than in the West. The only hope in the West or the East for relief from this terrible apprehension of invasion lies in the progress of international law.

"Another apprehension is the fear lest the supplies of food and raw materials which come to a country over seas should be cut off. Such insular countries as Great Britain and Japan are peculiarly subject to this apprehension. The doctrine that private property should be exempt from capture at sea, as it is already exempted from seizure without compensation on land, will, when adopted by a few nations which maintain strong navies, relieve the nations adopting it from this fear."

The United States could do no better at the third Hague Conference than to demand that the programme it presented at the second conference be carried out, was the opinion expressed by Edwin D. Mead of Boston.

Settled rules of procedure for international peace courts were urged by Arthur K. Kuhn of the New York bar. Mr. Kuhn said that shortly after the decision of The Hague Tribunal in the Japanese House Tax case one of the counsel for Japan told him that he doubted whether his country ever would enter into another arbitration at The Hague unless the procedure of the court was established by international convention or agreed upon beforehand.

WANT DIAGONAL STATION.

Forty-second Street Owners Favor One for Lexington Avenue Line.

The Forty-second Street Subway Association has determined to press on the Public Service Commission and the Board of Estimate the adoption of the diagonal connection between the new Lexington Avenue line and the present Subway, with a station running from Forty-third and Lexington Avenue to Forty-first Street and Park Avenue. They believe that this arrangement is preferable to either a connection at Fortieth Street or at Thirty-third Street.

A petition has been put in circulation among the property owners along Forty-second Street, and already the signatures have been received of owners of property of the value of $30,000,000. The reasons assigned in the petition for the construction of this connection are that the convenience of the traveling public, including the people who have to go to and from the Grand Central Station and the large hotels, office buildings, and stores, west of Lexington Avenue, would be thus best served. It is urged such a connection would preserve the use of the present Park Avenue Subway, on the basis of which buildings representing in many cases investments of $1,000,000 have been erected.

It is pointed out also that the diagonal connection would be the most convenient if the present Subway route from Brooklyn Bridge to the upper west side is maintained, and that it would avoid sharp curves and so permit of easier operation. Finally it is urged that the expenditure of the additional money that such a connection would cost would be fully justified by the many important advantages it possesses in comparison with other suggested routes.

Among those who have already signed the petition are Alexander Taylor, Chairman of the Forty-second Street Subway Association; the Lincoln Safe Deposit Company, the Eagle Investing Company, Dodd, Meade & Co., the Architects' Offices, Inc.; the H. W. Johns-Manville Company, Walter J. Salomon, William G. Kern, the Forty-second Street and Madison Avenue Company, the Aeolian Company, the 503 Fifth Avenue Company, the Apex Leasing Company, Reginald De Koven, Felix Isman, the West Disinfecting Company, P. W. Fairchild, and I. & S. Korn.

FIRST WILSON DANCE IN THE WHITE HOUSE

MARQUIS CUSANI A HOST

Vice President and Mrs. Marshall Guests at Dinner Given by Miss Hilda Fletcher.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The President and Mrs. Wilson gave their first dance at the White House last night, when they entertained for their three daughters, the Misses Wilson, and their house guests, Miss Ruth Hale, Miss Helen F. Hunter, Miss Elizabeth Duffield, and Edwin Wilson, a relative of the President.

The dancing took place in the East Room, the Marine Band playing throughout the evening. The beautiful rooms, through which the guests wandered at will, were attractively decorated with the choicest flowers from the White House conservatories, and a buffet supper was served in the state dining room.

The invitations were limited strictly to young people. The officers of the army and navy present were in full uniform, thus adding to the brilliancy of the scene.

Mrs. Wilson attended the song recital given by the Misses Fuller this morning in the New Willard. This afternoon Mrs. Wilson attended a tea at the Home for Incurables, a notable local charity just north of the town. This was the annual open day of the institution, when Mrs. Archibald Hopkins and women of the board are at home to all visitors.

The Vice President and Mrs. Marshall were entertained at a dinner to-night by Miss Hilda Fletcher of Indiana at her apartment in the Burlington. Covers were laid for ten.

The Italian Ambassador, Marquis Cusani, was again host at a brilliant dinner to-night when he entertained at the Embassy in New Hampshire Avenue in honor of Ambassador Dumba of Austria. The guests invited to meet the distinguished diplomat were the Minister of The Netherlands and Mme. Loudon, Senator Henry A. du Pont, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont, the Counselor of the German Embassy and Mme. Haniel von Haimhausen, the Counselor of the Russian Embassy and Mme. Scherbatskoy, the Second Secretary of the French Embassy and Mme. de Laboulaye, Mme. Christian Hauge, Mrs. Robert Hinckley, Miss Julia Meyer, Miss Crosby, Miss Gladys Hinckley, Miss Lascelles MacCulsky, First Secretary de Jean of the French Embassy; Djevad Bey, Counselor of the Turkish Embassy; Mr. Catalani, Counselor of the Italian Embassy, and Commander Burstyn, Naval Attaché of the Austrian Embassy.

MISS NEW YORK ENTHRONED

Spirit of Play to be Depicted in Municipal Parade.

One of the features of the municipal parade to-morrow will be a float bearing a woman, entitled "Miss New York," depicting the city as leading the world in the true spirit of play. The nations of the world will be represented in tableaux by the playleaders of the Park Playgrounds of the Park Department of Manhattan.

"Miss New York" will be represented by Miss Mary E. McKenna, Assistant Supervisor of Park Playgrounds. There will also be a playground float showing swings, slides, and seesaws loaded with children. Then there will be the "Floral May Coach," drawn by a huge Teddy bear and 100 boys and girls selected from the forty park playgrounds of the city.

"Miss New York" will be seated on a throne holding the "Melting Pot" of the Nations, demonstrating the fact that playgrounds are not only the "aisles of safety" for the children of New York, but, in a civic way, that they are the "melting pots" of civilization. The various characters represented on the floats will stand and salute the Mayor in front of the reviewing stand at the New York Public Library.

SOCIAL NOTES.

The wedding of Miss Edna E. Marston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Marston, and Oscar Meech Burke, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Burke, will take place on Wednesday, June 11, at 4 o'clock, in St. Bartholomew's Church, and will be followed by a small reception at the Marston residence, 22 East Fifty-sixth Street.

Mrs. Charles G. Ayres of 152 West Fifty-eighth Street underwent a small operation yesterday in the Post Graduate Hospital, and is expected to be quite well in a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Carolan of Burlingame, Cal., gave a luncheon yesterday at the St. Regis for Charles P. Bryan.

Mrs. James A. Rumrill, who motored down from her country place near New London, is at the Gotham.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Newell have returned from Europe and are at the Plaza until they open their country place at Huntington, L. I.

Mrs. Susan Dimock Hutchinson has sailed for Europe to spend the Summer there. Her mother, Mrs. Henry Dimock, will Summer at Bar Harbor, and with her daughter will spend next Winter in Washington.

Lady Hadfield is at the Shoreham in Washington and has Mrs. Burd Grubb with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mott Warner, who are visiting friends in Virginia, will return next week to the Garden City Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Trumbull Norton (Miss Louise Talmadge), who spent the Winter in Ormond, Fla., where they have a bungalow, are expected North this Summer to visit Mrs. Edward L. Norton and Mrs. Talmadge.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Prime are occupying their country place, Wyonssing, North Water Gap, Penn.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Watson, Whitewright Watson, and Miss Mai Watson are booked to sail to-morrow on the George Washington to spend most of the Summer abroad.

Quoin Club Hears Coleman.

About fifty members of the Quoin Club and guests lunched at the Fifth Avenue Building restaurant yesterday to meet President George W. Coleman and Douglas N. Graves of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America. Mr. Graves outlined the interesting programme for the convention to be held in Baltimore during the week beginning June 8, and Mr. Coleman made a very strong statement of the work which had been accomplished by the organization during the past year.

Benefit for Rowland Buckstone.

A benefit performance in aid of Rowland Buckstone, the Shakespearean comedian, will be given this afternoon at the Casino Theatre. Among those announced to appear are Ethel Barrymore and company, Laurette Taylor and company, Ada Lewis, Melville Ellis, Cecilia Loftus, Joseph Kilgour, Yansci Dolly, Harry Fox, Ernest Glendenning, Lyn Harding, De Haven and Nice, Ina Claire, Doyle and Dixon, Charles King, Grace La Rue, Fanny Brice, Mollie King, Ambrose Manning, F. Owen Baxter, Reeves Smith, Edward Marks, Al Jolson, Elsie Ferguson, Doris Keane, A. E. Anson, E. M. Holland, William Courtenay, Mrs. Dellenbaugh, and Julian Eltinge.

BERNHARDT WREATH TO-DAY

Gold and Silver Gift to be Presented to Actress.

At the conclusion of the matinée performance to-day at the Palace Theatre Mme. Sarah Bernhardt will be presented with the gold and silver laurel wreath which has been subscribed for as a testimonial by the members of the theatrical profession and the other arts. At 5 o'clock the large number of subscribers to the fund will assemble at the stage door of the theatre, and, after passing the scrutiny of Miss Bijou Fernandez, Chairman of a committee, will be admitted to the stage. The curtain will then be raised, and the orchestra play "The Marseillaise."

Daniel Frohman, who is Chairman of the Bernhardt committee, will make the announcement that the theatre audience is invited to remain for the ceremony. David Belasco will make a short address, at the conclusion of which he will introduce E. M. Holland, who as one of the oldest American actors and a member of one of the oldest native theatrical families, will make the presentation speech. The wreath of laurel, borne on a cushion by the designers, Paul Gillot and John W. Alexander, will then be handed to Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, who will place it in Mme. Bernhardt's hands, making her address in French. Mme. Bernhardt will make a brief response, after which the orchestra will play "America" and the ceremony will come to an end.

MISS NELLIE GRANT WEDS.

President's Granddaughter Does Not Tell Mother of Her Plans.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—Miss Nellie Grant, a granddaughter of President Grant, and Lieut. Commander William Piggott Cronan, U. S. N., were married to-day by a Justice of the Peace without the knowledge of the bride's mother, who announced the engagement a few weeks ago. The Justice of the Peace had his chief clerk act as witness. When Mrs. Grant was informed of the marriage, she said she was satisfied.

The bride is the daughter of Jesse Root Grant of San Diego and San Francisco. Lieut. Commander Cronan is in command of the Destroyer Jouett, stationed at Annapois.

MISS STRONG A BRIDE.

Married to George Lindsley Burr in Her Father's Church.

The wedding of Miss Susan Sturgis Strong, daughter of the Rev. George Alexander Strong, rector of Christ Church, and George Lindsley Burr, a son of Prof. William H. Burr, was solemnized at 12:30 o'clock yesterday in Christ Church, the bride's father officiating, assisted by the Rev. Carlton P. Mills of Boston. The church was decorated in greens and Spring flowers, and the bride walked up the nave with her brother, Alexander Strong, and was given in marriage by him. She wore a trained satin gown, draped with lace, that had been worn by her great-grandmother, and her mother at their weddings.

The maid of honor, the bride's sister, Miss Margaret Wendell Strong, wore a white net and having a yellow girdle, and a short tulle veil held with a chaplet of white roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Eleanor Du Bois of New York, Miss Helen Clark of Baltimore, a cousin of the bride, and the Misses Dorothy Mills and Mary Tufts of Boston. Mr. Burr's best man was Thomas McClure Peters, 2d, and the ushers were Allmand M. Blow, J. H. Morecroft, James K. Finch, Albert Thornton, and Philip S. Dean of New York and Edward Reynolds of Boston.

The church ceremony was followed by a small reception for the relatives and a few friends at the residence of the bride's parents, 213 West Seventy-first Street. Mr. and Mrs. Burr wil live in Houston, Texas.

FRANCIS McADOO TO WED.

His Engagement to Miss Ethel McCormick to be Announced.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 15.—Formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Ethel McCormick, daughter of Mrs. Isaac E. Emerson, formerly Mrs. Anne Preston McCormick, to Francis H. McAdoo, son of William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, will be made at a dinner party to be given to-morrow night at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Emerson, Brooklandwood, in the Green Spring Valley.

When Mrs. Emerson was Mrs. McCormick she and her two children spent much of their time at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, where the McAdoos spent their Summers.

Francis Huger McAdoo is a graduate of Princeton University and is now studying law at the Columbia Law School, New York, and will be graduated next month.

Miss McCormick's stepfather, Mr. Emerson, is the father of Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, formerly Mrs. Smith McKim, and the latter was a close friend of Mrs. McCormick before she became her stepmother.

MISS IASIGI'S WEDDING.

Her Marriage to William M. Bullitt Is Set for May 31.

The plans for the wedding of Miss Nora Iasigi, who has many friends in New York, and William Marshall Bullitt, have been completed. The ceremony will take place on May 31 at St. Paul's Church, Stockbridge, Mass. The Rev. Thomas Yardley will perform the ceremony. Miss Iasigi will have no attendants, and her mother, Mrs. Oscar Iasigi, will give her in marriage.

Mr. Bullitt's best man is to be Henry du Pont of Washington. The ushers selected are Ross Todd, Scott Bullitt, Francis B. Crowninshield of Boston, and Mr. Culbertson of Louisville, Ky. A reception at Clovercroft, the Iasigi home, will follow the ceremony.

Mr. Bullitt and his bride will live at Oxmoor, Ky.

LICENSE FOR MISS O'GORMAN.

Senator's Daughter to Marry John A. Maher on May 24.

Miss Dolorita O'Gorman, daughter of United States Senator O'Gorman and Ann Leslie O'Gorman, obtained a license yesterday at City Hall to wed John Anthony Maher. The engagement of the young people was announced some time ago.

Miss O'Gorman said that she was 24 years old and lived at 313 West 100th Street, and Mr. Maher said that he was 26 years old and lived at Mount Morris Park. He is a broker and a son of Edward and Jane Tierney Maher. The wedding will take place at St. Ignatius Loyola Church on May 24, Mgr. McCready officiating.

Dr. Norton to Wed Hospital Nurse.

The engagement has just been announced in Baltimore of Dr. Rupert Norton, formerly of Cambridge, a son of Prof. Charles Eliot Norton of Harvard, to Miss Cecilia Hendrickson of Frederick, Md. Miss Hendrickson was until her resignation a few days ago a graduate nurse of the Johns Hopkins Hospital. Dr. Norton is a graduate of Harvard and the Harvard Medical School, and also studied abroad for several years. No date has been decided for the wedding.

Miss Barrows to Wed Hugh Rankin.

Ira Barrows of 521 Park Avenue and Rumson, N. J., announces the engagement of his sister, Miss Harriet Barrows, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barrows of North Attleboro, Mass., to Hugh Rankin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac O. Rankin of Brookline, Mass. Mr. Rankin is a graduate of Yale.

Miss Edith Day Engaged.

Mrs. Joseph Day of 1,003 Lafayette Avenue, Brooklyn, gave a dinner last night at which she announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Edith Day, to Harry J. Miller of this city. No date has been set for the wedding.

$10,000 PRIZE FOR AMERICAN OPERA

National Federation of Musical Clubs Announces Contest to Aid Native Art.

LOS ANGELES GIVES CASH

$40,000 Production of Prize-Winning Opera in California City in June, 1915.

The National Federation of Musical Clubs, representing 60,000 American music lovers, made public last night the terms and conditions of a series of quadrennial American opera contests to be held for the purpose of promoting a permanent interest in grand opera in English. The first of these contests will be decided in time for the production of the winning opera in Los Angeles at the ninth biennial festival of the federation in June, 1915. A prize of $10,000 is offered for the best score and libretto submitted by an American composer and author for production at the festival. The contest is open only to citizens of the United States, whether residing at home or abroad, and the score and libretto must be of such dignity and quality as to constitute grand opera in the accepted definition of the phrase.

The prize money has already been subscribed by the citizens of Los Angeles, who have further pledged themselves to finance a $40,000 production of the winning score. Approximately 300 musical organizations are interested in the scheme, and delegeates from the various clubs will attend the festival. The plans of the American Music Committee of the federation, under whose auspices and direction the contest will be conducted, entail a censorship of librettos submitted which will discourage the portrayal of sordid and vicious subjects, and an important feature of the contest will be the disqualification of such operas as contain objectionable sentiments.

Federation's Committee.

The committee consists of David Bispham, Mrs. Emerson H. Brush, Mrs. David Campbell, Mrs. E. T. Tobey, and Mrs. Jason Walker, Chairman.

The federation proposes to make the competition a permanent institution and, according to the present plans, will hold a simzilar contest every four years, thus encouraging the development of native opera. To enlist the interest of American writers and composers living or studying in the musical centres of Europe, notices will be sent to Rome, Milan, Vienna, Paris, Berlin, and St. Petersburg for the purpose of inspiring competition.

Mrs. Walker and Mrs. William H. Jamison of Los Angeles, Vice President of the Western District of the federation, are now in New York, where final details for the announcement of the prize competition were arranged. To carry forward the work in Los Angeles an association to be known as the Los Angeles American Opera Association has been organized, with F. W. Blanchard as President. It has been agreed between the federation and the citizens of Los Angeles that as long as the latter shall donate $10,000 prize money every four years for an American opera and sufficient sums for its production the federation will hold its alternate biennial festivals in that city. Other conventions will be called in either the Eastern, Southern, or Middle District.

One of the principal conditions of the competition is that each libretto shall be in English. It is also stipulated that the federation shall reserve the right to produce the prize opera for the first sixty performances presented, without payment of royalties to either the composer or librettist. These performances must take place within the period of one year, after which the federation shall relinquish all claims to the opera.

Opera True to Modernity.

Mrs. Walker, at the Martha Washington Hotel, explained last night that there existed a strong sentiment among the members of the federation not alone for good native opera, but for opera which was truer to the ideals of modern society.

"We have no desire to appear prudish," said Mrs. Walker, "but we are opposed to the stage presentation of vice, whether in the name of art or not. We believe that the public is weary of this eternal flouting of questionable themes, and that it is time for American critics and music lovers to insist upon the portrayal of the pleasanter things of life in preference to the baser. Byron's Don Juan is art, but who shall say that Keats's 'Lines to a Grecian Urn' is not more sublime. One is an expression of sensual and the other of sensuous pleasure. The National Federation of Musical Clubs, which is composed of organizations in forty-two States, voices the opinions of American music lovers as a class. Our prime motive is to encourage the writing and production of American opera and incidentally to have cleaner subjects for operatic plots."

CENTURY OPERA ELECTION.

Edward K. Baird Elected President at Meeting of Directors.

The first meeting of the Board of Directors of the Century Opera Company was held at the offices of Finch, Coleman & Baird, 32 Nassau Street, yesterday afternoon. At an election of officers Edward Kellogg Baird was named President, Otto H. Kahn First Vice President, Thomas W. Lamont Treasurer, and Edward R. Finch Secretary.

Edward Kellogg Baird, Otto H. Kahn, Thomas W. Lamont, George A. McAneny, and Philip M. Lydig were chosen as an Executive Committee.

The certificate of the Secretary of State of the incorporation of the company has been received. Many subscriptions in amounts ranging from $100 to $5,000 are being received.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Ethel Barrymore will play at the New Brighton Theatre, Brighton Beach, during the week of June 2, appearing in Barrie's "The Twelve-Pound Look."

"The Argyle Case," in which Robert Hilliard is appearing at the Criterion Theatre, will be done in Paris next season by arrangement with Klaw & Erlanger, the French version to be prepared by Pierre Decourcelle.

Maclyn Arbuckle will make his first appearance in musical comedy next season in Glen MacDonough's adaptation from Leo Birinski's "Narrentanz," ("The Fool's Dance.") The music is by Hugo Reisenfeld. Klaw & Erlanger will produce the piece.

A large number of Scotchmen attended Hammerstein's Victoria last night in honor of the Maclaine of Lochbuie, who is appearing there.

Grace George's arrangement in "Divorcons" will end at the Playhouse to-morrow night. The performance will be the one hundred and sixty-seventh of the role of Cyprienne that Miss George has given in New York.

Beginning next Monday evening patrons of "Arizona" at the Lyric will receive slips on which to write the name of the play which they would like to see revived next season at the same theatre. The management does not say that the play which receives the most votes will be produced, but promises "careful consideration" of the three receiving the highest number.

Florence Nugent Jerome, daughter of the song writer, has been engaged for the 1913 edition of "Ziegfeld's Follies."

Garnet Holme of San Francisco is sailing to-morrow on the Atlantic Transport liner Minneapolis for a visit to England in the interests of the pageant which is to be held at Portola, Cal., in the Fall. The pageant will be built around the story of Drake, and in it 8,000 people will take part. Mr. Holme is to visit Stratford-on-Avon and the London museums to gather information about costumes and other historical color.

Col. Thompson to Meet the Kaiser.

Col. Robert M. Thompson, who sailed yesterday on the liner France with his wife, will go first to Aix les Bains, and then to Berlin to meet the German Emperor. A conference will be held in the German capital in July by the representatives of the nations which competed at the Olympic games in Stockholm.

WILL WATCH FRIEDMANN.

Neighbors of New Institute to Guard Against Any Annoyance.

A meeting of householders having property near West End Avenue and 103d Street, where the Friedmann Institute is located, held a meeting last night at the home of A. C. Heaphy, 308 West 103d Street. William B. Ellison, ex-Corporation Counsel, and Thomas F. Smith, Secretary of Tammany Hall, were appointed a committee to observe what takes place at the institute when it begins receiving tuberculosis patients, and if conditions prove to be a nuisance the householders will complain to the proper authorities.

Dr. H. C. Frauenthal, head of the Hospital for Deformities and Joint Diseases, on Madison Avenue, where many patients have been treated with Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann's turtle vaccine, expressed regret yesterday that "what promised to be a great discovery was assuming the aspects of a joke." He said that in accordance with his promise to Dr. Friedmann the hospital would continue to care for patients under its charge.

"It seems to me deplorable that Dr. Friedmann should have taken more interest in drug merchants and lawyers than in demonstrating the merit of his remedy," Dr. Frauenthal said.

300,000 CHILD VICTIMS.

Annual Sacrifice to Parental Ignorance, Mothers' Congress Is Told.

BOSTON, May 15.—"Three hundred thousand babies a year is the sacrifice laid on the altar of parental ignorance," said Mrs. Frederic Schoff of Philadelphia, President of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, in her opening address at the seventeenth annual meeting of the congress, which began to-night.

Proper education of mothers and fathers would save more than 60 per cent. of this infant sacrifice, Mrs. Schoff estimated.

"At the root of the white slave traffic and the social evil," the speaker said, "is the absolute neglect of parents to educate their children in the laws governing life and the proper use of their God-given functions. The present condition is but the result one can properly expect from such neglect."

In referring to a need for change in the administration of justice in the cases of the wayward and delinquent children, Mrs. Schoff said: "The sacrifice of infant lives is nothing in comparison to the sacrifice of children to a life of crime by mistaken methods of dealing with child offenders." She added that "inefficient homes are largely responsible for bringing children into the courts."

CREDITORS ACCUSE BROKERS

Get Order to Examine New York Firm as to Embezzler's Losses.

Special to The New York Times.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., May 15.—United States Judge George W. Ray has granted an order authorizing B. Roger Wales, referee in bankruptcy, and Roger P. Clark, formerly counsel for Gov. Hughes, to investigate the operations of the brokerage firm of C. I. Hudson & Co. of New York, in an effort to determine what relations William B. Carver, who disappeared last November, and against whom indictments alleging the embezzlement of $55,000 have been found, sustained to it. It is the contention of Carver's creditors that the money taken by him was lost in stock speculations through the firm of C. I. Hudson & Co.; that bonds taken by him were hypothecated with the firm to cover margins, and that the firm is responsible to the creditors for the loss of the misappropriated money.

This raises a novel point of law, and the action to recover the funds promises to have a far-reaching effect in financial circles. The firm of Hinman, Howard & Kattel is expected to file the complaint following the investigation, which is to be made in New York, while former Senator Brackett will assist the New York legal representatives of the brokerage firm. George T. Crittenden, the New York manager of Hudson & Co., is to be examined, as well as George R. Dyer, one of the managing directors of the firm.

HANSON TO REJOIN WIFE.

So Says His Mother—Suit Against Her Settled.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 15.—Reports are current here that Walter L. Hanson of New York, who disappeared from that city Monday, leaving his actress bride, came here that day, but left the following evening, saying he was going to rejoin his wife.

His mother and attorneys in the case refuse any information beyond saying that he expected to go back to his wife and that he had made a satisfactory financial settlement of his fifty-thousand-dollar suit against his mother, who is a niece of the late Mrs. Leland Stanford of California. The son, who is 22 years old, had sought to recover possession of his father's bequest, which he said he assigned to his mother as the result of misrepresentations.

SETTLING BUFFALO STRIKE.

Agreement Reached One Store and Others in Prospect.

BUFFALO, May 15.—The clerks' strike in one of the large department stores was settled to-day through the efforts of P. J. Downey and William C. Rogers of the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration. The agreement reached recognizes the open shop, and provides for the reinstatement of all clerks in their old positions, for an eight-hour day, and for a minimum wage of $6 a week for women clerks and $12 for men clerks.

Messrs. Downey and Rogers held a long conference with representatives of other stores to-day, and Mr. Downey said the prospects for a complete settlement was bright.

Carney-Mulligan Wedding.

Special to The New York Times.

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., May 15.—A pretty wedding was celebrated last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carney of Van Brunt Street, Englewood, when their son, Joseph, and Miss Minnie F. Mulligan, also of Englewood, were united in marriage by the Rev. Father Angelus of St. Cecelia's Church at 9 o'clock.

Miss Pennock to Wed ex-Footballer.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15. — Invitations were issued to-day by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Pennock of Lansdowne for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Pennock, and Robert C. Folwell, Jr., the former Captain of the University of Pennsylvania football team, on June 5. The Friends' ceremony will be used for the occasion, and a reception will follow at the Pennock home in Violet Lane.

Pulls Hair from Nose; Death Follows

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Philip Hayden, a Washington policeman, pulled a hair out of his nose two weeks ago. To-day he died. The doctors said it was blood poisoning.

MOCK SUFFRAGISTS STARTLE BROADWAY

Columbia Sophomores Array Themselves as Women and Go on Parade.

BAND OF BELLS AND ANVILS

"Votes for We-Men" Demanded by Leader Riding a Mule and Made Up to Resemble Inez Milholland.

Most of the people who live in Broadway between Seventy-second and 116th Streets turned out last night at the call of alarm bells and heavily beaten anvils to witness a suffrage parade. The spectators thought they saw Inez Milholland on a milk-white mule, with a parader who looked like President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University marching along in stately dignity before her.

Behind them came an array of seeming women dressed in white and bearing banners. There were about 200 of them.

As the inhabitants rushed from the apartment houses they found the paraders were not women at all, and that the mounted figure resembling Miss Milholland was a Columbia University sophomore made up for the occasion.

The banner that the mock suffrage leader bore carried as a legend "Votes for We-Men, Women Can Wait." In front of the mounted leader of the parade and the student made up to resemble President Butler marched a band of anvil hammerers and bell ringers, who made a din such as upper Broadway has seldom heard. If traffic policemen interfered or came up to make inquiries a policeman in full uniform who resembled Chief Inspector Schmittberger galloped up on horseback and brushed him aside.

The horse of the Chief Inspector turned out to be a mock affair such as is sometimes seen on the stage of vaudeville theatres. The Columbia student who rode the trick animal occasionally obliged with a turkey-trot to the music of the bells and anvils.

The real traffic policemen whom he seemed to brush aside explained afterwards that what he really did was to hold a parade permit up before their eyes while creating an appearance of rough jostling.

One section of the paraders was composed of mock mothers with mock children in arms and in baby buggies. At 100th Street each mother stopped and began to protest that she had carried her baby as far she was able in such a long parade. A lively debate ensued in which the mock mothers harangued as to whether it were preferable to abandon the babies or the parade. A vote was taken in which the verdict was unanimously in favor of sticking to the parade.

For the next two blocks the spectators watched a line of baby carriages, wheeled by seeming mothers, in which imitation babies reposed while their clothing and their bodies too for that matter made nice little bonfires.

"No Votes, No Babes," was the banner displayed at the head of the division while the mock babies were converted into torches for the amusement of those on the sidelines.

At intervals the paraders tired of merely marching and fell into a serpentine dance during which they waved veils towards the spectators and sang snatches of suffragist songs.

One of the ditties that proved to be most popular had this refrain.

> Assassination is vexation
> And murder gets my goat;
> But arson, it is glorious;
> It's sure to get the vote!

A parader made up with gray hair and a limp supported himself on a staff from which flew this legend:

> "Starve, if you will, this old, gray head,
> But give us votes for girls," she said.

A Cubist section, which brought up the rear of the parade, flew a banner reading "We Are Futurists—The Present is He—"

The political faction carried axes and boomed a candidate for President, who was present. He was labeled "Our Carrie, Our Candidate." Col. Roosevelt, of course, was along in strenuous burlesque, consisting of a Rough Rider's costume with plumes and big bows of ribbon on the hat.

When the paraders reached the Columbia University campus they retired to the gymnasium, where they held the annual Sophomore Triumph celebration The indoor feature consisted of holding a mock-trial for Calculus, condemning him and burning him in effigy on the campus. At 2 o'clock this morning the celebration was still in progress, while the sophomores were debating whether to roll the ash cans on Amsterdam Avenue down hill or charter a Sightseeing automobile and go to Coney Island.

The Coney Island faction seemed to be in a slight majority, as they recalled that those who started the ash cans to rolling at last year's Triumph ended up in police cells, from which there was no escape till morning.

ANOTHER SUFFRAGE PARADE

Gen. Rosalie Jones Has Organized Something Special at Mineola.

General Rosalie Jones of Washington hike fame, has organized a suffrage parade for Saturday, May 24, at Mineola, L. I. It will have most of the features of the big New York suffrage parades and a few others. No one who wishes to ride will be left out, and with the carriages and motor cars will be farm wagons of various kinds.

The oldest suffragist, Mrs. Rhoda Glover of Baldwins, will have a special escort. Col. Ida Craft's walking club, which will represent the enfranchised States, will be led by Mrs. J. de M. Robinson on horseback, and there will be other women on horseback in charge of Miss Addie Tydeman, who will escort the woman suffrage clubs. There will be an Indian group under Miss Phyllis Muller, and the Zouaves under Miss Elizabeth Freeman will escort the children. The pretty yellow flower girls who marched in the New York parade will march at Mineola. College women, teachers and other self-supporting women will march.

The procession will form at 2:15 P. M. on Mineola Boulevard and First Avenue and will march down the boulevard to Franklin Avenue, to Front Street, across Front, down Main, to the end of the street, disbanding after a May pole dance at Hempstead. A flying squadron is to cover Nassau County making open air speeches in different towns.

Final Decree for Fritzi Scheff.

Fritzi Scheff's interlocutory decree of divorce from John Fox, Jr., the novelist, was made final yesterday by Justice Keogh in the Supreme Court at Westchester. The singer and the writer were wed in December, 1908, some six months after she was divorced from Baron Frederic Wilhelm Gustav Carl von Bardeleben.

OBJECTS TO WORD "OBEY."

Mayor Blankenburg's Wife Takes Exception to It in Wedding Ceremony

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, wife of the reform Mayor, has set a precedent for the women of this city by asserting that the word "obey" should be eliminated from the marriage ceremony, and has caused amusement among politicians, who are almost a unit in alleging that when she was married her husband "agreed to obey her." Mrs. Blankenburg generally is spoken of as "Mayor of Philadelphia." Persons seeking political favors have learned that the easiest method to "reach Rudolph Blankenburg as Mayor" is to have Mrs. Blankenburg first hear the appeal.

Mrs. Blankenburg based her statement on the fact that she was a member of the Society of Friends.

"In the Friends' marriage ceremony," she said, "there is no vow of obedience nor is there any 'giving away.' I know women of this denomination have much less with which to contend than other women, due to the broadmindedness of the men, who share equal rights with them."

Mrs. Blankenburg said the militant trouble in England was the result of ancient laws, which did not permit a married woman to control her money, even if she washed and scrubbed by the day and earned it. She also asserted that, although a suffragist, she had no sympathy with the militant methods of the English suffragettes.

TALE OF KIDNAPPING BAND.

Philadelphia Police Blame It for Twenty-two Disappearances.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—A new feature in the disappearance of Caleb Charles Hughes, Jr., the New York student, believed to have been kidnapped from Jefferson Medical College, was brought to light to-day, when the police asserted that an organized band was operating here and abducting persons of wealth. Director of Public Safety Porter is convinced there is such a band.

The police list of men believed to have fallen into the hands of the kidnappers numbers twenty-two. Two names were added to the list to-day, when the Detective Bureau received information that Theodore Newbury, a contractor of Point Pleasant, N. J., and James J. Porter of 3,750 North Carlisle Street were missing.

Detectives say the kidnappers use an automobile and follow any one who has shown a large amount until the automobile can be drawn to the curb beside the intended victim, whereupon he is struck on the head with a sandbag and hurled into the car, which speeds away. The headquarters of the gang is believed to be in New Jersey.

ACTUARIES ENJOY FEAST.

NEW THOUGHT CURE COST $2

Mrs. Goodwin Describes the Treatment Given to Her by Miss Page.

The trial of Miss Villa Faulkner Page of 24 Gramercy Park, who is charged with practicing medicine without a license, was postponed until May 29 by the Justices of Special Sessions yesterday after several witnesses had been called.

Miss Page was arrested on complaint of the County Medical Society, which had Detective Sergeant Isabella Goodwin and Mrs. Frances Benzecry investigate charges against her. Mrs. Goodwin testified that she had been treated by Miss Page for insomnia. Miss Page gave no medicine with her treatment. Mrs. Goodwin described the treatment in this way:

"She told me to turn my back to her, took my hands and told me to relax. Then she put her cheek against my face and made me lie down on a sofa and told me to relax. She pressed her hands against my forehead and said: 'Now I will enter into your consciousness and you will be cured.' She then had me relax again and said I was cured and charged me $2."

Asked by Mrs. Goodwin if she was a hypnotist, Miss Page had replied that she was a "suggestionist." Mrs. Benzecry corroborated Mrs. Goodwin's testimony.

Miss Page in her own defense said that she gave her treatments through "psycho-physics and the subconscious mind." She denied that she had said she could cure any disease, and said that she only professed to be able to cure diseases brought of the mind, due to great excitement.

Mrs. Dr. Clara Sears, who calls herself the founder of the New Thought Church, testified that Miss Page gave treatments in accordance with the teachings of that Church. Dr. Charles C. Sahler of Kingston, N. Y., and the head of a New Thought sanitarium there, testified that the defendant had been a student under him, and had given all her treatments under the New Thought teachings.

The case was then adjourned.

MRS. BROKAW RETURNS.

Escapes with Her Son and Comes Home to Her Father.

Clarence Pierce Brokaw, Jr., 8 years old, who was kidnapped by his father on May 5 and taken to Colorado Springs, was brought back by his mother last night and taken to the home of her father, Mortimer C. Seaman, 1,380 Plimpton Avenue, the Bronx. Mrs. Brokaw escaped from her husband by making a charge of assault against him when he hit her with a frying pan, it is said, taking her son with her and getting away on a train while her husband was under arrest. Mrs. Brokaw's father said his daughter and her son, who is known as "Buster" by his playmates of the neighborhood, would go to the country, and that the boy hereafter would be guarded against his father.

"My daughter and grandson are safe now," he said. "My daughter will never see her husband again if she can prevent it. She wants nothing more to do with him, and will go away to some quiet retreat to recover from the worry and annoyance he caused her by taking away the boy."

Mrs. Brokaw traced her son to Colorado Springs on June 12, and lived there with her mother-in-law, waiting for an opportunity to return with her son, but refusing to be reconciled to her husband. The father of Clarence Pierce Brokaw was formerly the President of the Importers and Traders Bank of Colorado Springs.

BLEASE OUSTS CONSTABLES

Governor Dismisses Them as Useless Under the Webb Law.

Special to The New York Times.

ANDERSON, S. C., May 15.—Gov. Blease to-day dismissed from service all State Constables as a result of the decision, handed down by the State Supreme Court yesterday, construing the Webb Liquor Law with reference to South Carolina.

The Attorney General of the State contended that the Webb law prevented the shipment of liquor to this State for any purpose, and that this would cut off shipments for personal use. The Supreme Court held that whiskey for individuals could be shipped into the State under the Webb law.

Gov. Blease, in dismissing the more than 100 constables, said:

"It is disheartening, this decision of the court. I am helpless now to enforce the liquor law. Blind tigers are taking the State, and there will be more of them under this decision. It will be impossible to tell which is personal whiskey and which is for illegal purposes; therefore, the whiskey constables are useless."

Schildkraut at Irving Place.

Rudolf Schildkraut appeared at the Irving Place Theatre last night as guest-star with the Oberammergau peasant players. He was seen in a rôle of a castaway in "Der Pfarrer von Kirchfeld," by Ludwig Anzengruber. Mr. Schildkraut's presence drew a large audience, and his vigorous acting earned much applause. Most prominent in the support were Georg Pabst in the title rôle of the play, and Cenzi Goetzer, who played the leading feminine part. Mr. Schildkraut will make other appearances with the company.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Decline in Narrowed Trading—New Haven Dividend Reduction.

There was some slight increase in the volume of trading on the Stock Exchange yesterday, but fewer issues were dealt in and the list as a whole suggested, according to the point of view, either much uncertainty of mind or complete indifference on the part of traders. The most important news of the day, the action of the New Haven Directors on that road's dividend, was not had until after the close of the market, and there was very little in the day's operations which was capable of being directly related to any news of the day. The reports from the West that new plans had been formulated by the Union Pacific for the acquisition of the Central Pacific, and that its terms would shortly be submitted to the California Railroad Commission, seemed to carry favorable import, but the stock's response was a decline and not an advance. Perhaps this movement might be regarded as growing out of the news dispatches from Washington referring to a tentative conclusion by the Attorney General that the Southern Pacific's ownership of the Central Pacific is in violation of the law. But these dispatches conveyed no new understanding of the position which Mr. McReynolds has taken in this matter. It has for some time been understood that an effort was likely to be made by the Government to force the Southern to give up control of the Central, and this understanding has been a factor in causing the reopening of negotiations between the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific for a transfer of the Central Pacific. The negotiations are still under way. The ultimate success seems to depend in part on the stand which the California Commission may take. It is not believed that, under the circumstances, there will be any great difficulty in the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific interests reaching an agreement in respect to the price to be paid for the Central Pacific if the other conditions to a sale can be satisfactorily met. These include the consent of the California Commission to the terms which may be agreed upon between the two companies so far as these touch on matters within the commission's jurisdiction.

Financial opinion will probably be divided concerning the decision of the New Haven Directors to fix the road's dividend at 6 per cent. A reduction from the 8 per cent. rate which has been paid for the last eighteen years had for some time been regarded as a foregone conclusion. All the recent discussion has had to do, not with the question whether or not the dividend would be cut, but with the extent of the reduction which the Directors would decide upon. The view has prevailed in this connection in some quarters of the financial district that the wise course would be to take what many might regard as a drastic step in the shape of a reduction to 4 per cent. The action of the Directors yesterday in reducing the dividend to only 6 per cent. indicates that they feel that this sufficiently meets the situation with which the New Haven is confronted and which for some time past has been foreshadowed by its inability to show net earnings sufficient to fully cover the 8 per cent. dividend which it has been paying. In determining the extent of the reduction the Directors doubtless were influenced by the desire to avoid any greater hardship than necessary to the large number of investors, including many small investors, who hold stock of the New Haven Road. This point of view had, of course, to be given its proper weight against those more general considerations which led to the view in some quarters that a reduction in the dividend having become necessary, the interests of the road, in the long run, would be best served by cutting the dividend in two. Dividend action was also taken yesterday by the Chesapeake & Ohio, whose Directors declared a quarterly payment at the prevailing rate of 5 per cent. There had been some uncertainty regarding this dividend, although statements recently made in behalf of the management of the road left little doubt that the dividend would be maintained at the old rate.

Market movements bearing on the probable success of next Tuesday's sale of New York City bonds are naturally matter of much current interest. Yesterday the "when issued" quotation of these bonds was slightly lower, and there was an appreciable recession in the quotation for the 4¼ per cent. issues. It was suspected in bond market circles, however, that short selling, which contributed in important degree to the recent sharp decline in these bonds, was again being resorted to. The 4¼s are still quoted on a higher relative price than the city is expected to realize on the new issue, and this may have prompted some of yesterday's selling. No doubt is felt in banking circles, however, that next week's sale will prove a success. Nothing as yet has been learned of any arrangement on the part of large banking interests to put in a joint bid for the full amount of the issue, but such a bid is not altogether unlikely, and beyond that the miscellaneous bids are expected to fully cover the offering. Just now the interest which is being taken in the city bond market is being shared with the Government bond market, where there has been considerable movement of prices in response to the recent announcement of the Secretary of the Treasury in respect to the proposed deposit of $10,000,000 additional Government money. The territorial issues have been noteworthily strong since that announcement was made, but, on the other hand, there has been shown a receding tendency in the market for the 2 per cent. bonds, which yesterday sold as low as 100 1-16, the lowest figure at which they have sold in two years. One reason for the recession in these 2 per cent. issues is the recent announcement by the Treasury that, in connection with the proposed addition to the Government's deposits, the banks which already hold Government moneys will be permitted to substitute other bonds for Government bonds to the extent of 30 per cent. of the amount of the deposit. This has the effect of releasing a considerable amount of 2 per cent. bonds, but so far the movement in prices both in these bonds and in the territorial issues has been disproportionate to the volume of actual dealings. Not much money appears to have been put out so far under the new Treasury ruling, and it is surmised here that the larger part of the additional deposits may not reach the banks until June 1, the date at which interest will begin to accrue on Government deposits at the rate of 2 per cent.

Treasury to Refund $1,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—More than a million dollars collected in corporation taxes must be surrendered by the Treasury as a result of the Supreme Court's decision that a corporation leasing its property and deriving its only income from that lease is not "doing business" within the meaning of the law and is not taxable.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

The Baseball Fans.

There are a number of prominent bankers in the financial district who don't care how dull business is after 3 o'clock. At about that time they begin to consult their watches and to watch for the automobiles which are to take them to the Polo Grounds or to Ebbets Field.

***

The C. & O. Dividend.

Wall Street's worries were lessened by two as the result of yesterday's meetings. There was really no occasion for a widespread belief that the Chesapeake & Ohio would reduce its dividend at this time, for, while earnings have not been satisfactory, Chairman Trumbull has gone on record several times recently as saying that the regular rate would be declared at this week's meeting. Those friends of Mr. Trumbull who took it for granted that the board would maintain the 5 per cent. rate must have been taken aback, however, by the behavior of the company's shares in advance of the meeting. From 66 the stock sold down to 63⅝, and at the close it showed a loss of 1⅜. A purchase of Chesapeake at last night's closing price would net the buyer 7.8 per cent. as long as the present dividend is maintained. The length of that period will depend very largely upon the course of general business from now on.

***

New Haven's Cut.

The surprise over the New Haven's cut was not due to the reduction in the rate so much as to the moderation shown by the surgeons. The company's shares have been selling on the theory that the rate would be lowered to 4 per cent., possibly, and almost certainly to 5 per cent. Announcement of the decision to go on a 6 per cent. basis was not made until late afternoon. By the cut the company will save $3,600,000 per annum. Expectation of a smaller reduction than had been rumored was responsible for a small advance in New Haven yesterday. At the close, made at 104⅞, the stock had a net gain of ⅝.

***

End of Merger Bill.

The best laid plans often fail through their very perfection. When the New York Central was preparing its consolidation terms it had a bill introduced at Albany to enable it to proceed with the merger with the Harlem just as soon as it could obtain two-thirds of the smaller company's stock. It was realized that it would never be possible to get possession of all of the minority shares on any terms. The Harlem minority committee at once brought its guns to bear on the new measure on the ground that it would enable the Central to take over the minority shares without a proper regard for their value. After conferences the bill was amended to provide for an appraisal for the smaller stockholders, who did not choose to accept the terms offered them, and was passed in a form that was evidently satisfactory to all of the parties concerned. Now that the members of the Legislature have returned to their homes Gov. Sulzer has discovered a flaw in the diamond. He has vetoed the bill on the ground that a formal phrase might be interpreted to mean that when a company with a perpetual franchise is merged with one whose franchise expires in fifteen years, or fifty years, the latter's franchise likewise becomes perpetual. Lawyers who studied this bill with a magnifying glass say that the Governor's contention is not tenable for a moment, but it makes no difference now. The Harlem cannot be merged until another bill has been drawn up and passed.

Odd Lot Quotations.

A change in the rule for quoting stocks, which was voted by the Exchange's Committee of Arrangements yesterday, to go into effect on May 19, will be of distinct advantage to traders in odd lots. The alteration makes possible, in effect, general knowledge of bid and offered prices on the board for ten-share lots of stock where 100-share quotations are 5 per cent. or more apart. On the noonday list of prices and on the tape at the close of business the ten-share quotations will be substituted for the larger amounts when they are nearer together. On the list the ten-share bid or offer will be preceded by a star, and on the tape it will be followed by the letter C, owing to the fact that there is no star on the tape-wheel. This is the way the quotations will appear on the ticker: NWPr 187.C.188.C. The growth of both investment and speculative transactions in small lots of stock in the past few years has practically required the introduction of some method for making known small-lot quotations of a high-priced or inactive stock.

Allis-Chalmers Co. Passes.

The cloud spread over the Allis-Chalmers Company by the receivership two years ago was swept completely away yesterday through the final payment of assessments on the stocks. The Reorganization Committee received the last $4 on the preferred and $2 on the common issue. The affairs of the old company were formally wound up and the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company was left to continue the even tenor of its way, as it has been doing for thirty days.

***

Bucket-Shop Selling.

There was a time when a sudden and unexpected fall of two points or so of a stock without an accompanying reflection of the movement in other quarters was not always called the product of a bear raid. The floor members watched quotations decline without much comment, and when the stock had reached a point of stability again, they would say: "Well, some big bucket-shop man took another whack at Steel," or Reading, or Union Pacific, as the case might be. The theory was that the operator of a string of illegal brokerage houses had found his customers "long" of a great deal of one issue. In order to keep from having a large loss scored against him, if the tendency of the stock was upward, he needed to force a recession to an extent which would wipe out the customers' scanty margins. So he would hammer the issue on the Stock Exchange until he got what he wanted. With proof before them that many bucket-shops are in active operation again, Stock Exchange men are observing closely the actions of favorite speculative shares when they begin to show signs of a weak-kneed condition.

THE TREASURY STATEMENT.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Treasury statement issued to-day gives receipts and expenditures for yesterday and for the elapsed periods of the month and of the fiscal year, as follows:

	May 14.	Month.	Fiscal Y'r.
Customs	$1,155,840	$9,407,515	$283,446,511

Total receipts	2,369,620	24,374,241	604,676,993
Expenditures	3,783,772	29,392,136	600,728,407
Surplus	*1,414,151	*5,017,895	3,948,586

*Deficit.

These figures exclude Panama Canal and public debt transactions.

The condition of the United States Treasury at the beginning of business to-day was: Working balance, $53,581,201; in banks and Philippine Treasury, $44,767,334; total of general fund, $184,384,129.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Curb Stocks Dull—New York City Bonds Are Active and Lower.

Transactions in unlisted stocks yesterday were in smaller volume than in many weeks. New York City bonds were the feature of the bond department, with a total of nearly $200,000 traded in. The new 4½s closed at a net loss of 1-16 at 100 9-16, while the 4¼s of 1962 sold down to 96¾, a net loss of ½ point.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

London Market Quiet—Prices Firm in Paris, but Decline in Berlin.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, May 16.—The Times in its City article to-day will say:

"There was more inquiry for money yesterday, owing to several large calls on recently issued scrips having matured, but the rate for day-to-day advances was rarely over 3 per cent. Discount rates hardened appreciably, bills being more freely offered, and the tendency strengthened in the afternoon by the Bank return, which showed a fresh reduction of private deposits. The Bank received a fair amount of bar gold, there being no further foreign demand.

"The stock markets were disappointing, business being quieter than for some days past. There appeared to be a general disinclination to increase commitments in view of the uncertain tone of Wall Street and the chief Continental Bourses. The steady stream of new capital creations also acted as a deterrent to business, several new borrowers making their appearance. Home railway stocks, for example, were dull and less active, owing to the imminence of the Great Northern issue, and the news that the City of Montreal was issuing more stock was not received with much favor. Berlin operators again sold Canadian Pacific shares with some freedom. Prices in the American market tended downward. Rubber shares remained dull, owing to a further fall in the price of the commodity, but there was a recovery in the principal diamond shares."

PARIS, May 15.—Prices were firm on the Bourse to-day. Three per cent. rentes, 85 francs, 7½ centimes for the account.

BERLIN, May 15.—Prices declined from one to two points on the Boerse to-day.

The weakness was due to unfavorable reports from the home and American iron markets and the protracted peace negotiations.

Boston, par; Chicago, 5c. premium; St. Louis, 25c. premium; St. Paul, 55c. premium; San Francisco, 20c. premium; Montreal, 46⅞c. discount.

SILVER QUOTATIONS.

Bar silver was unchanged in London, at 28⅛d., and unchanged in New York, at 61c. per ounce.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Commission houses on the Consolidated Exchange again handled a good volume of odd lot orders, including American Beet, American Car & Foundry, American Sugar Refining, and American Woolen, which failed to sell elsewhere in Wall Street. Most of the day the market evinced a heavy tone, but it could hardly be classed as weak.

STABILITY IN BOND VALUES

The recent decline in prices of high-grade listed bonds has served to concentrate the attention of investors on non-fluctuating securities.

We own and offer first mortgage bonds netting 5½% to 6%, secured by the highest class of improved real estate.

These bonds are non-fluctuating securities, never declining in price or losing in value.

Denominations $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000.

True Investment

Insist on safety, reasonable market and fair income, such as can be obtained in solid mortgage bonds on good properties.

Remember that every chance for large profit is balanced by an equal chance for large loss.

My business is that of a consulting broker, with nothing to sell but service.

PACIFICS' PLAN UNSETTLED.

Agreement No Nearer at End of a Long Conference.

It looked for a few hours yesterday as though the way might be cleared for a new dissolution plan for the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific system, so that another agreement satisfactory both to the Department of Justice and the California Railroad Commission might be worked out. However, when a protracted conference, held at Kuhn, Loeb & Co.'s, broke up at 6:30 P. M., it was said by Directors of both companies that very little progress toward an understanding had been made.

Since March 13 all efforts for an agreement on the price of Central Pacific, which Attorney General McReynolds holds must be sold by Southern Pacific before he will give his approval to a dissolution plan, has been given up until the reopening of negotiations a few days ago. In the original dissolution plan as submitted to the Circuit Court and the California Commission the Union Pacific was to pay $104,000,000 for the Central Pacific, conditional upon its being allowed preferential rights over the Southern Pacific's Benicia cut-off. When the California board, at the petition of the Goulds' Western Pacific, nullified the arrangement in so far as they concerned the cut-off, the Union Pacific withdrew its offer.

The Southern Pacific Directors have been hoping that Mr. McReynolds would experience a changeof heart and allow them to retain Central Pacific. Maxwell Evarts, general counsel, filed a brief with the Department of Justice a few days ago showing why this should be permitted, but Mr. McReynolds has so far refused to make any concessions. When this became apparent negotiations for a sale to Union Pacific were reopened.

It was reported from San Francisco yesterday that a compromise had been agreed upon by which the Union Pacific was to pay $92,000,000 for the Central Pacific line. Officials of both companies denied this yesterday, but it was intimated that the two companies were nearer an understanding. Judge R. S. Lovett was indisposed, but Mortimer L. Schiff, Paul Cravath, and F. A. Vanderlip, representing the Union Pacific, and Henry W. De Forest and Julius Kruttschnitt, representing the Southern Pacific, spent three and a half hours debating differences without reaching common ground. Further conferences are to be held in an endeavor to settle on a plan in time for submission to the court prior to July 1. If a plan is not accepted by that date the court will name a receiver to dispose of the $126,650,000 of Southern Pacific stock held by the Union Pacific.

TOBACCO SUIT SHUT OUT.

Jonas Sought to Have Form of Trust Dissolution Set Aside.

Judge Mayer dismissed yesterday in the Federal District Court the bill of review filed by Otto S. Jonas, an independent tobacco dealer, in an effort to have the dissolution in the Tobacco Trust case set aside. The complainant represented that the form of dissolution was not in accordance with the decision of the United States Supreme Court and represented that he had suffered damages to his business from the connection which at one time existed between the Metropolitan Tobacco Company and the old American Tobacco Company.

Judge Mayer held that it was impossible for a court of first instance to review the decisions of the Circuit Court of Appeals, and practically upheld the demurrers of the American Tobacco Company and the United Cigar Stores Company, which, under the recently formulated rules of equity procedure in the Federal Courts, had to be withdrawn. This ends this attempt to upset the Tobacco Trust settlement.

BRITISH TOBACCO ISSUE.

Stockholders Offered 1,000,000 New Shares at Par.

Stockholders of the British-American Tobacco Company in this country and abroad have been notified of an increase of 1,000,000 shares in the outstanding preference stock to which they may subscribe at par, share for share, in proportion to their present holdings. The offer applies to owners of both common and preference shares. The new stock, like the old, carries a fixed cumulative dividend of 5 per cent. per annum, payable on March 31 and Sept. 30.

The company's authorized preference share capital is £4,500,000, of which £3,100,000 will be in the hands of the public when the proposed distribution is made. Stockholders resident in this country have been directed to file their applications with either the Guaranty Trust Company of New York or the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company on or before May 22 with a remittance of 24 cents for each share desired. The stock has a par value of $5. The other payments will be made on June 30 and Aug. 31 at the trust companies named.

The company accompanied the announcement of the offering with a statement to the effect that constantly increasing business had necessitated the raising of more capital. Earnings for 1912 were set forth as £1,981,159, an increase of more than £325,000 over the previous year. The common shares received 37½ per cent. in dividends in 1911 and 26½ per cent. in the past year. The existing preference stock is officially quoted on the Stock Exchanges of London, Liverpool, Bristol, Glasgow, and other cities of the United Kingdom.

NEW HAVEN CUTS DIVIDEND.

New Rate 6 Per Cent.—8 Per Cent. Paid for 18 Years.

After an uninterrupted record of eighteen years, during which it has paid dividends of 8 per cent. per annum, the New York, New Haven & Hartford has been compelled by its declining net income to make a reduction in the rate. The Directors met in this city yesterday and declared a quarterly payment of 1½ per cent., putting the issue upon a 6 per cent. basis. President Mellen had no comment to offer on the reduction, although he said at the annual meeting in New Haven last year that the 8 per cent. rate was assured as far ahead as he was able to look.

The New Haven has a remarkable dividend record. For twenty years after the inauguration of dividends, in 1873, the road paid 10 per cent. a year. In 1894 this was reduced to 9 per cent., and in the following year to 8 per cent., the rate which has been maintained since. The failure of the Boston & Maine to earn a surplus that permitted of any distribution upon its shares, the omission of the New York, Ontario & Western dividend, the burden of unprofitable trolley and steamship investments and the inability of the new Westchester line to earn a return upon the capital invested are held responsible for the failure of the New Haven to continue its 8 per cent. rate. In three of the past four years the company has been compelled to draw upon its previous surplus for part of the annual dividends. The price of the company's shares has been steadily falling and recently touched 102¾, the lowest point in the road's history.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Directors met yesterday and declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent., setting at rest widely circulated rumors of a reduction. To bring up the Chesapeake's surplus the Hocking Valley, controlled by the C. & O., declared an extra dividend of 4½ per cent. yesterday besides the regular quarterly payment of 1¾ per cent.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

No changes were made in the Directors of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company at the annual meeting. Henry B. Stokes was elected Chairman of the board and Thomas E. Lovejoy President.

W. E. R. Smith has been elected a member of the Stock Exchange. Henry H. Hollister's seat has been posted for transfer to E. Mortimer Barnes.

For the benefit of National bank officers, Folsom & Adams have compiled an interesting circular showing the profits to be made through the purchase of Government bonds to obtain additional deposits under Secretary McAdoo's recent ruling and to secure circulation.

The $12,000,000 of 4 per cent. one-year notes of the Boston & Maine, maturing June 10, will be renewed on a basis expected to cost the company 5½ per cent.

Quincy Mining Company has declared a quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share, a reduction of 25 cents a share as compared with the last previous dividend.

NO STEEL RAIL POOL KNOWN TO FARRELL

Corey Said He Knew All About It, but Corporation Head Says He Never Heard of It.

MARKET FIXES ALL PRICES

Competition Keen, He Insists—No Way to Stifle It—Public Benefits —The T. C. & I. Deal.

James A. Farrell, President of the United States Steel Corporation, denied flat-footedly yesterday that he had entered an international rail pool with foreign manufacturers or that he had ever told his predecessor, William Ellis Corey, that such a pool existed. Mr. Corey, when he was a witness in the suit for the dissolution of the Steel Corporation, as Mr. Farrell is now, said he understood there was such and understanding, insisting on the distinction between an understanding and an agreement. He said he had no personal knowledge of it, but that Mr. Farrell, who at the time in question was in direct charge of the export business, would know all about it.

C. A. Severance, counsel for the Steel Corporation, led up to the subject at yesterday's hearing by reading from the minutes of the company an extract which had been read by the Government attorneys when Mr. Corey was on the stand and which seemed to refer to making some agreement with the foreign makers. The matter, the minutes said, was referred to Mr. Corey and Judge Gary.

"When did you first hear of this resolution?" asked Mr. Severance.

"When it was read in this suit," replied Mr. Farrell.

"Did either Mr. Corey or Judge Gary ever speak to you about the matter?"

"No."

"Mr. Corey testified," continued Mr. Severance, "that he had received the impression from something you had said to him that some agreement had been made by you with foreign rail manufacturers by which there was an understanding that they would not sell here; did you tell him that?"

"No," said Mr. Farrell, "I said to him from time to time that I did not think foreign rail manufacturers would sell in this country."

"That was merely your opinion?"

"My opinion; yes."

"Why did you think that?"

"Because there would naturally be the fear that if we dumped our surplus product abroad, when things were dull here, or if foreign manufacturers dumped theirs here, there would be reprisals by the other side."

"Did you say anything else to Mr. Corey that might have given him the impression he had?"

"I don't recall anything else."

"As a matter of fact, did you ever make such an arrangement?"

"No."

Mr. Farrell also said that since he became President in January, 1910, there had been no domestic pools. It is admitted that these pools existed for a number of years, but they were ended by Judge Gary.

"Since you have been President," Mr. Severance asked, "have you had entire charge of the sales policy of the company?"

Mr. Farrell said he had, and that all the selling agents were subordinate to him.

"Has there been in that time any agreement, arrangement, understanding or pool fixing prices, limiting output or defining territory in which any of the subsidiaries might sell their product?"

No Fixing of Prices.

"No."

Mr. Severance next took up the contention that the Steel Corporation practically dictated the prices at which independents sell.

"In the case of an active market," he asked, "whose prices are ordinarily higher, those of the larger or the smaller manufacturer?"

"Those of the smaller producer. The larger manufacturer has regular customers and is more disposed to stick to fairly reasonable prices."

"In case of a dull market, who sells at the lower price?"

"In most cases the smaller producer, because the larger manufacturer realizes that if he sells at a low price to anybody he makes a low market for his entire product."

"What has been the policy of the Steel Corporation as to maintaining stability of prices?"

"Its policy has been to maintain a stable market as far as possible. Of course, we have had to consider wages, which would be apt to suffer in case of a material reduction, and we have had to consider dividends to the stockholders."

Mr. Farrell added that the quality of product had constantly increased and that the prices made by the Steel Corporation had been reasonable. Prices, Mr. Farrel explained at another point, were governed solely by market conditions.

"The price is generally determined," he said, "by the amount of tonnage in the market. You have got to go out and find your market price. We get our knowledge of prices mainly from trade papers, which seek and give information to both buyer and seller."

The Steel Corporation, he said, published price lists which were sometimes adhered to for considerable periods. Its price for bars had been $1.40 per hundred pounds since last Summer, although some of its competitors had charged $1.60, the difference of $4 a ton representing a premium for prompt delivery.

"Does that indicate that competitive conditions do not exist?" asked Mr. Severance.

"Only in the minds of theorists and economists."

"Has the Steel Corporation during that time had any agreement with other manufacturers as to prices on bars?"

"It has not," said Mr. Farrell. "In not a single instance," he added, "had the Steel Corporation charged a premium for prompt shipment, although such premiums had been offered."

"Could the Steel Corporation, without committing suicide itself, put any large steel manufacturer out of business?"

"It could not."

"In any case within your knowledge has the Steel Corporation tried to drive out a competitor by cutting prices or to take any customer of the other manufacturer away?"

"Not in a single instance."

The competitive position of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company before its absorption by the Steel Corporation was another subject taken up in yesterday's examination of Mr. Farrell. The Government contends that it was bought out because it was becoming a dangerous competitor, and not to stop the panic, and that President Roosevelt was misled by Judge Gary and H. C. Frick into thinking the sale was necessary for the latter purpose. Just before the panic it had received a large order for rails from the Harriman roads.

Made T. C. and I. Pay.

Mr. Farrell said the Tennessee company was not a competitor of the Northern mills in the rail market, as its output was inconsiderable by comparison. It had never been a competitor for export business. The rails sold to the Harriman lines cost $3.45 a ton more to make than they were sold for, and a large part of the order had to be taken back as defective by the Steel Corporation, after it had acquired the property.

The Tennessee company, he said, was not operating at a profit when it was taken over. It employed colored labor and some convict labor. Of convicts there were about 700. Their employment had been stopped as soon as the Steel Corporation took hold. It had also stopped the "wage-shaving system," to which the negroes had been subject. Mr. Severance asked what this system was.

"The regular pay-day came every two weeks," Mr. Farrell explained, "but the paymaster called around between times. He would pay off the help with a discount of from 10 to 15 per cent. The Tennessee company saved about $150,000 a year by this practice."

The Steel Corporation had spent $23,500,000 in bringing the Tennessee plant up to the standard, Mr. Farrell said, and it was now on a paying basis. Its capacity had been increased from 150,000 tons to 600,000 tons of steel and 1,000,000 tons of pig iron.

Mr. Severance was at some pains to show that the fixed price of $28 a ton for steel rails, which has been much criticised, was merely a basic rate, and that rails of different qualities were sold at various prices. Mr. Farrell said that there were 56,000,000 tons of steel rails in use in the entire country and that between 500,000 and 600,000 tons were taken up each year and re-rolled into lighter rails.

Only 30 per cent. of standard rails were sold at $28 a ton, Mr. Farrell said. These were the ordinary Bessemer rails of standard specification. Sixty per cent. were open-hearth rails and the other 10 per cent. were alloy rails or those made by electric process.

"We have an electric rail plant," said Mr. Farrell. "It costs $40 a ton to make the rails. We sell them at that price in order to introduce them. Nearly every trunk line has its own specifications for rails, and the prices vary accordingly. There are all kinds of alloys. We have just sold some manganese rails to the government of New South Wales at $140 a ton. Some of those used in the Subway here cost $120. Many nickel alloy rails are used, the price running from $34 to $60.

Regular Bargain Prices.

"As to the varying specifications, the Pennsylvania Railroad, for example, has certain requirements. We fix the price accordingly, and they pay $30.55 a ton."

"How was that price arrived at?"

"By ordinary merchandising methods. They furnished the specifications, and we figured on the price. Then Mr. McCrea, late President of the Pennsylvania, sat down and bargained with me. I asked $30.85, and he said he thought we could shade it a little. We finally agreed on $30.55."

Answering the contention that the Steel Corporation had an ore monopoly, Mr. Farrell named the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, Pennsylvania Steel Company, Jones & Laughlin, Easton Steel Company, Cambria Steel Company, and Lackawanna Steel Company as independents which had large ore reserves.

Mr. Severance introduced statistics to show that the Steel Corporation had only 40 per cent. of the steel bar production of the country and with iron bars included only 27 per cent.

The public benefits of the concentration and efficiency of the Steel Corporation were again emphasized. Mr. Farrell told how in the last few years great warehouses had been built at various points, from Newark to San Francisco, in which were kept supplies of all kinds of products, so that the buyer could obtain them promptly, instead of waiting for them to be shipped from the mill.

"Our policy," he said, "is to sell to everybody. You can buy from one dollar's worth up."

Results attained by committees of mill Superintendents and Presidents of subsidiaries, working with himself, were detailed by Mr. Farrell. A concentration plant costing $1,400,000 had saved 100,000,000 tons of ore on the Mesaba that would otherwise have been unavailable. The noxious fumes coming from blast furnaces had been utilized as gas, and at the Gary plant ninety-two gas engines were operated by this means, at an annual saving of 3,500,000 tons of coal. Slag from the blast furnaces, formerly waste, had been used to make cement, which Mr. Farrell said was practically identical with Portland cement. Last year 10,000,000 barrels of slag cement had been made and sold at 90 cents to $1 a barrel. He made plain his view that only in a large business like that of the Steel Corporation could men be detailed to the long investigation that led to this utilization of waste.

Mr. Farrell also told of the new construction work of the Steel Corporation. He described the plant at Gary, Ind., built at an expense of $80,000,000, where there had been nothing but sand dunes and no town. Now it had 25,000 or 30,000 inhabitants. A harbor and breakwater had been constructed at a cost of $1,000,000, for the reception of the ore boats from the upper lakes.

He described the plant under construction at Duluth, which is to be completed next year to serve Minneapolis and St. Paul, and with hopes of finding markets in Winnipeg and Calgary. The amount already spent there was $7,500,000, and $2,000,0000 more had just been appropriated. At McKeesport the plant of the National Tube Company had been entirely rebuilt in the last seven years at a cost of $13,000,000. At Lorain, near Cleveland, $15,000,000 had been spent on a tube plant and other mills. At Ambridge, near Pittsburgh, similar improvements had been made.

Mr. Farrell will continue his testimony to-day.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Harvesting Machines Gain Big Reduction—Other Protests Lost.

The Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday sustained a protest by Alexander Horrison relating to the classification of Stewart sheaf loaders. Testimony showed that the machines are used to load grain into wagons from harvest fields. The Collector exacted duty at 45 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 199 as manufactures in chief value of metal. The importer contended that the machines were properly dutiable at 15 per cent under Paragraph 476 as harvesters. Judge Fischer deciding, said that it was the manifest intent of Congress to grant low duties on harvester machinery.

Protests by William Larzerele & Co. against the assessments of wood flour at 35 per cent. as a manufacture of wood and by Gaski Shoten of Honolulu against the assessment of tissue paper at five cents a pound and 15 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 410 were thrown out.

BIG BEQUEST FOR U. OF P.

Dr. Duhring Gives Bulk of $500,000 Estate for Cancer Study.

PHILADELPHIA, May, 15.—The University of Pennsylvania is largely remembered in the will of Dr. Louis A. Duhring, a former professor at that institution, who died recently. Dr. Duhring, who was an expert of skin diseases, in his will disposes of an estate valued at about $500,000. All of the doctor's notes of medical cases are given to the university, and the will creates a trust fund of $25,000, the income of which is to be used for the benefit of the Department of Cutaneous Medicine at Pennsylvania.

The will gives the University of Pennsylvania Hospital $50,000 for the establishment of free beds in which cutaneous, cancerous, and allied diseases shall be treated.

After making a number of private bequests, the testator directs that the residue of the estate be given to the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania, and that it be applied to the treatment of cutaneous diseases and the advancement of the study of those maladies.

The Rev. Herman L. Duhring, a Protestant Episcopal clergyman, who for years has taken an active part in charitable work in Philadelphia, receives $100,000 without any restriction. The clergyman and the testator were cousins.

Colorado Income Tax Bill Vetoed.

DENVER, Col., May 15.—Gov. Ammons vetoed last night the State income tax bill, the bill repealing the anti-boycott law, and the boxing bill. A bill permitting racing under supervision of a Racing Commission will become a law without the Governor's signature.

Give Cement for Sea-to-Sea Road.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Enough cement to construct the proposed ocean to ocean highway was given yesterday by members of an organization of cement manufacturers in session here. Each member agreed to give 1 per cent. of his annual output for three years. The subscription is estimated to be worth $2,500,000.

Kansas Standard Oil Raises Capital.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 15.—The Standard Oil Company of Kansas obtained from the State Charter Board to-day permission to increase its capital stock by $1,000,000, the money to be used in increasing the capacity of the company's refinery at Neodesha. The capital stock now is $2,000,000.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Approve Postponement of Additions.

Approbation of the action of the Treasury Department officials in postponing the putting into effect of the schedule of additions on embroideries imported from St. Gall, Switzerland, until July 1 was general yesterday in the import end of the local embroidery trade. April 1 was the date originally planned for the schedule to go into effect, but at that time it was put off to become effective yesterday. The second postponement was particularly pleasing to the importers, for it was believed that they would get a chance to speak against the schedule, which, in addition to the present duties on these goods, would greatly increase the difficulty of competing against domestic merchandise. Novelty goods would be especially affected by its adoption.

Rains Hurt Italian Raw Silk.

Advices from Milan tell of considerable injury to mulberry trees in Italy by rains, and a consequent dimming of prospects for the new crop of raw silk. Prices there on old silk are very firm as a result. Stocks at Yokohama are now reduced to 5,000 bales. Continued advances in exchange are making business difficult at Canton. Stocks of tsatlee and improved re-reel silks at Shanghai are completely exhausted, and new silk for late Summer delivery is held higher. Labor troubles keep business light in this city, but prices are well maintained on all sorts.

J. H. Einstein Talks on Tariff.

James H. Einstein, President of the Tower Manufacturing and Novelty Company, commenting yesterday on the proposed tariff revision, said that the agitation had not affected the stationery business in the least. "Prices on pencils," he said, "will not change, as the domestic goods are now on a par with the European prices. Pens will not be affected either because the brands of domestic manufacturers and dealers are too well established to permit foreign competition."

⁂

Wants Worth St. Subway Station.

The Wholesale Dry Goods Centre Association yesterday submitted a petition, containing 670 names of representative houses and real estate owners in the downtown dry goods district, to Service Board Chairman McCall asking that a station of the new subway line be established at Broadway and Worth Street.

The proposal has already received encouraging support, and it is believed that satisfactory arrangements can be made for a station at that point.

⁂

Hosiery Prices May Go Up.

It is thought that the 1914 hosiery season will open later than usual this year, because of tariff disturbances. Local dealers anticipate higher prices than last year. One house is already reported as having decided on a five-cent advance on a line selling at $1 a dozen, and a two and a half-cent advance on another selling at 65 to 75 cents a dozen. The reason given is that stocks on hand of such merchandise are very low. The situation of women's mercerized hose, especially the grade retailing for 25 cents, is not strong, however, as considerable merchandise is in the hands of jobbers.

⁂

Featuring Sponge Cloth Suits.

Local manufacturers are now featuring sponge cloth in their offerings for midsummer women's suits. Olive green and shell pink are the featured colors. Plaits at the back are eliminated, but are now run in from the front in a dart seam. Suit coats fasten with two buttons, being cut square across on the lines of the Fall models. The skirts are modeled on plain, straight lines.

EUROPEANS ALSO PIRATE.

H. M. Heston Says Best American Designs Are Stolen Abroad.

Apropos the agitation here for legislation prohibitive to international design piracy and the charge that American manufacturers are especially guilty of this practice comes the assertion of H. M. Heston, Secretary of the M. H. Birge & Sons Company, manufacturers of wall papers, Buffalo, that European manufacturers are guilty of appropriating American designs as well.

"While a number of American wall paper manufacturers have been guilty of copying designs originating abroad," says Mr. Heston, "they have also indulged in the evil of imitating patterns of American origin. But the more important fact remains that English, German and Canadian wall paper manufacturers have deliberately offended domestic producers in cheaply imitating their designs. We have in our office a number of samples illustrating these impositions, and can show side by side designs original with our artists.

"One of our Directors, who for a number of years was head of our European branch and located in London, cites determined efforts in England to copy the designs of other countries. He found while abroad that a department was maintained by the English manufacturers to collect the best selling designs originating in America and other competing countries, which were then reproduced in English mills at lower prices.

"Profit from American manufacturers copying foreign designs is possible only in the event that the original papers are made by the hand block process and the imitations by machine. A machine in all countries will turn out from 5,000 to 10,000 rolls of paper a day, while a hand printer does well to turn out thirty-five rolls, of a one-color paper only, in the same time. Hand and machines printers in this country average $25 a week; in England, Germany and France their pay averages from $7 to $10.

"The increase in the consumption of American wall papers in this country is due principally to the progressiveness of the domestic manufacturer and the high artistic merit of our products. The foreign maker repeats the greater portion of his line for several years, while American manufacturers put an entirely new line on the market every twelve months. So far as designs are concerned, the foreign houses have stood still for the last twenty years, excepting in the practice of confiscating the best American ideas. With no duty on wall papers in other countries and labor costs uniform, the United States would dominate the wall paper business of the world."

BULK SALES BILL HELD UP.

Shelved Temporarily in Assembly, but Will Stop Abuses if Passed.

The bill regulating bulk sales, drawn up by the Wholesale Merchants' Association and introduced in the State Assembly shortly before its adjournment, was shelved by the Rules Committee, and will probably not be considered until the regular session is called next Fall. According to William Solomon of Fischer & Solomon, counsel for the association, the bill has no constitutional barriers to overcome, and if made a law would put a definite end to the fraud that frequently attends sales of this kind.

The bill puts the bulk of the responsibility of the sale on purchasers instead of on the sellers, requiring them to find out from the sellers the names and addresses of their creditors, notify each of them of the sale by registered letter, file an executed statement concerning the sale with the County Clerk at least seven days before the actual transaction, and advertise the sale within the same period in at least two widely read newspapers of the community. Failure to do this will make the buyer guilty of a misdemeanor. The seller refusing the names and addresses of his creditors to the buyer when asked in good faith will also be guilty of a misdemeanor.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Sales of raw silk at Yokohama in the last week, as reported in cables to H. L. Gwalter & Co., amounted to 4,200 bales. Shipments totaled 3,800 bales, of which 2,600 came to this country.

Last year's apple crop is finding its way abroad in greater quantities than has usually been the case heretofore. Until recently shipments of this fruit to the other side averaged from 3,000 to 4,000 barrels weekly. So far the 1913 exports have aggregated 2,952,544 barrels, a gain of 188,770 barrels over shipments in the corresponding period a year ago.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

According to advices from Paris, silk hosiery is being worn there this year to greater extent than ever before, largely because of the prevalence of the slit skirt. American manufacturers of these goods are already beginning to reap profit from the mode.

Fall underwear business from jobber to retailer is none too brisk at the moment. On the other hand, the retailers are taking sweaters well, and some of the jobbers have found it necessary to go into the primary market for more goods.

The elaboration of the guimpe into a decorative vestee, with low collar attached, is a leading feature of the present women's neckwear season. It is expected that these creations will continue popular for some time.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

Four new Russian sugar mills are to start operations the coming season: Kochubei factory, capacity 9,000 tons, in Poltava Government; Count Kleinmichel factory, in Kharkov Government, Voshutchinsky Company, capacity 3,000 tons, in Lublin Government, and Vlostovsky Company, capacity, 3,240 tons, Radom Government.

The management of the International Exhibition for the Book Industry and the Graphic Arts, to be held in Leipzic, Germany, from May to October, 1914, has appointed as the American representative Arthur Wiener, who may be addressed for details at the Aeolian Building.

The imports of raw jute into Dundee from Calcutta and Chittagong, British India, last year amounted to 1,271,442 bales of 400 pounds each, against 1,085,281 bales for 1911. Of the total imports 45,738 bales in 1912 and 42,027 bales in 1911 were re-exported.

NO CHANGE IN ST. JOE LEAD.

Fight on Management Accomplishes Nothing at Annual Meeting.

Opposition to the present management of the St. Joseph Lead Company, which developed a few weeks ago with the filing of a stockholder's suit against the company, failed to affect any changes in the Board of Directors at the annual meeting, held at 5 Nassau Street yesterday. Firmin Desloge of St. Louis, ex-Gov. Edward C. Smith of Vermont, and Clinton H. Crane of New York were reelected as Directors for three years by a vote of 676,777 shares, against 218,495 cast for Millard F. Watts, Henry H. Wheeler, and Carl H. Fowler. Speeches indorsing the management were made by Henry B. Quinby, ex-Governor of New Hampshire, and Charles Nagel, former Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

The annual report for the year ended April 30 showed that the company's smelter in Missouri during 1912 had produced 60,847 tons of lead, which was about 14 per cent. of the refined lead produced in the United States. The net income was $637,910, in comparison with $598,082 in 1912.

The consolidation of the St. Joseph Lead Company with the Doe Run Lead Company, which has had certain affiliations with it for a number of years, was discussed. Ex-Lieut. Gov. William F. Sheehan, representing the Holmes family of St. Louis, who recently brought suit, charging mismanagement, urged the formation of a new Consolidation Committee.

A resolution for the appointment of such a new committee was tabled. Daniel N. Kirby, on behalf of the present committee, renewed the committee's offers to give Mr. Holmes and the minority stockholders representation.

NEW ENGLAND TRADE LAGS.

Except in Underwear, Coarse Cottons, and Shoes.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., May 15.—The first National Bank in its monthly circular says:

"In New England there is satisfactory activity in the manufacture of underwear, hosiery, and special lines of coarse cottons. Furthermore, many of the leading shoe manufacturers have just entered upon the fall run of business, with orders materially in excess of last year. This excess in some instances, runs as high as 30 per cent.

"On the other hand, taking New England as a whole, the slowing down in business continues markedly. In some lines, business is running below not only that of a year ago, but of 1911 as well. In certain textile lines there has been a perceptable change for the worse during the last thirty days. In such lines a month ago mills were able to dispose of their production with ease at slight concessions in price. Greater concessions and greater effort are now required to achieve the same results. Practically all wholesale business continues to be done on a retail basis. This increasing dullness finds expression in increasing curtailment and dwindling mill share prices.

"In New England, as elsewhere, the news of the improvement in the European situation and the favorable crop reports—especially that of May 1—are most welcome. These favorable but uncompleted facts, however, are overshadowed by the existing money situation and tariff uncertainty, in the midst of which New England business men are attempting to steer a wise course. There is practically no speculation in either stock or commodities. The continued absence of speculation in real estate throughout New England is a marked element of strength and contributes in no small degree to the stability of the situation."

New Munsey Trust Co. Opens.

Forgotston, who gives his occupation as a salesman, his residence as 206 West 124th Street, and his place of business as 40 West Thirty-third Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities consisting of unsecured claims of $47,962, and no assets. Among the largest creditors are Otto Isenstein & Co., $6,989; Albert Ochse Company, $3,578; Aetna Finance Company, $5,600, and Alfred Field & Co., $4,207. A number of actors and actresses appear as creditors for services. Among them are Edward M. Favor, $84; Lucille Saunders, $31; Edith St. Clair, $60; May De Sousa, $200.

LOUIS AND SOLOMON APPEL.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Louis and Solomon Appel, individually and as copartners trading as Appel Brothers, manufacturing furriers at 40 East Eighth Street, by these creditors: Aaron Mittelman, $250; Abe Krieger, $250, and Sutter, Flam & Trachman, $350. It is said that on or about May 15, 1913, Appel Brothers made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors to Samuel Straws.

CHARLES E. HOTTUM.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Charles E. Hottum, a manufacturer of automobile and livery apparel at 12 West Thirty-third Street, by these creditors: Eugene C. Huber, $200, and Herbert Shipley, $900. It is said that on May 1, 1913, Hottum made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. Liabilities are alleged to be $7,000 and assets $1,500. Judge Holt has appointed Walter Cook, Jr., receiver in $1,000 bond.

CHARLES LACEY PLUMB.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Charles Lacey Plumb, a domestic corporation engaged in the flour business in the Produce Exchange, by these creditors: Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills, $500; Christian Heidt & Son, $371, and Benjamin Grunner, $85. Preferential payments are alleged as the act of bankruptcy.

ESS VEST COMPANY.—Schedules in bankruptcy have been filed by the Ess Vest Company, makers of vests at 182 Bleecker Street, with liabilities of $44,993, of which $4,484 are unsecured claims and assets of $1,344, consisting of debts due on open account, $1,175, and stock, $600.

GAS EXPERTS TALK OF AUTO BENZOL

Only a Negligible Quantity, They Say, Can Be Obtained from City Gas.

Persons possessing expert knowledge of automobiles and chemicals were much interested yesterday in an aspect of the fuel problem—now agitating the motor-car world—which was brought out by Henry L. Doherty at a dinner in London and transmitted by wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES. Mr. Doherty made the suggestion that some 12,000,000 gallons of benzol, a substitute for gasoline, which has made an excellent showing abroad, could be recovered from the "town gas" of London each year. By this he meant that in the process of "scrubbing" the gas, that is, separating it from oily constituents and other impurities, the benzol could be obtained. In the production of ordinary illuminating gas there is "scrubbing," but to obtain the great amount of benzol which Mr. Doherty suggested the process would have to be carried much further than at present, according to expert opinion obtained yesterday. To remove enough material from gas to produce the amount of benzol proportionally which Mr. Doherty's figures call for would be to rob Peter to pay Paul, it was said; would increase the supply of benzol, but would impoverish the gas, in other words.

William H. Bradley, chief engineer of the Consolidated Gas Company, said that Mr. Doherty's figures were too high, even for London, where more coal gas as compared with water gas was used than in New York.

"It is well enough to talk of obtaining benzol from coke ovens," he said, "but to take much more of it from illuminating gas, such as we use here, would be to rob the gas of much of its luminous quality and some of its heating value. Moreover, the figure given for London's possible benzol production is not correct, according to my estimate. London's annual output is some 25,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas. This would hardly yield more than 5,000,000 gallons of benzol. The normal yield of benzol would not be much in excess of one-tenth of a gallon for each 1,000 cubic feet. From heating gas somewhat more might be taken, and from coke ovens there is no doubt that much benzol could be derived. But to derive benzol for motor fuel from illuminating gas, such as is ordinarily used in cities, would not be an attractive economic proposition with one-tenth of a gallon from a thousand cubic feet of gas and gas at 80 cents or $1 per thousand feet."

Carleton Ellis of Montclair, N. J., put the case somewhat differently, although in the main his views coincided with those of Mr. Bradley.

"Under present methods," he said, "not much more than 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 gallons of benzol could be produced from the illuminating gas of this country annually. This amount can be produced without affecting the luminous qualities of the gas. Much more could be obtained, of course, if the luminosity were lowered, and this is entirely practical; the gas could still be used for lighting, but not as an ordinary flame. A mantle would be necessary, since much of the yellow color would have been taken from the flame. By more or less of revolution in gas lighting methods a quantity of benzol would undoubtedly become available.

"There is one line along which I believe Mr. Doherty's suggestion might bear fruit, and I am sure I will welcome it if it does. I refer to the drawing of a sharp distinction between the manufacture of illuminating and heating gases. We now manufacture a vast quantity of gas and enrich it for lighting, but use much of it for heating; a form in which it does not need this enrichment. This is a sheer waste. By the further removal of benzol from gas the heating qualities might be reduced from, say, 630—as expressed in thermal units per cubic foot—the normal figure for city gas, to perhaps 450. The gas would still be useful for heating, however."

Mr. Ellis is not of those who believe that the answer to the automobile fuel problem is to be found either in the use of benzol as a substitute for gasoline or in the heavier oils, such as kerosene, crude oil, &c. He holds that the solution will come in the improved treatment of the petroleum products and the recovery from them of a larger proportion of gasoline than at present. He said yesterday that there was no actual shortage of gasoline to be feared now.

⁂

Winners in the fuel economy contest of the West Hudson and Catskill run were the Paige-Detroit, driven by R. W. Christopher, which used 4½ gallons 18 ounces of gasoline for the 64.7 miles from Edgewater to Newburg. Its percentage, expressed in ounces per pound of weight for the trip, was .1627. W. C. Poertner, driving a National, was only 1-10,000 behind, in second place, his percentage being .1628. Third was a Briggs-Detroiter, driven by J. Ross, and fourth a Pathfinder, driven by R. Spiegel.

EXTENDS BANK SECURITIES.

Treasury to Accept Insular Bonds to Cover Federal Deposits.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Expansion of National banknote circulation to meet demands for currency in times of financial stress will be made easier through an order issued to-day by Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury Department.

The Secretary announced that he had authorized National banks to withdraw United States 2 per cent. bonds which they placed with the Treasury as security for Government deposits, and to substitute Philippine, Porto Rican, Hawaiian, or District of Columbia bonds, provided the United States 2 per cents. so withdrawn were used as security for additional circulation by banks which had not as yet taken out the full amount on circulation authorized by law.

This will be the first time the Treasury Department has permitted such changes in the character of securities for Federal deposits. Only for a year has the Government accepted territorial and District of Columbia bonds as security for new or additional Government deposits.

In connection with the Secretary's recent order charging 2 per cent. interest on all Government deposits, the banks asked permission to withdraw United States two's to a certain extent and substitute as security the bonds of the insular possessions and the District of Columbia, because such bonds paid interest ranging from 3.65 to 4 per cent. In making the concession the Secretary stipulated that the withdrawn Government two's must be used at once as security for circulation in order to preserve their parity.

ABSORBS CASUALTY CO.

New Amsterdam Now Controlled by New Baltimore Indemnity Concern.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, May 15.—The American Indemnity Company, recently organized in Baltimore by J. Arthur Nelson and associates, has acquired control of the New Amsterdam Casualty Company of New York. Headquarters of the latter company will be moved here.

As a result of the deal, the American company will immediately increase its capital stock from $250,000 to $500,000 and its surplus from $250,000 to $500,000. It is the purpose of the American company to operate as a holding company.

The New Amsterdam Company has about 2,000 agents doing business in thirty States. Its total assets are $1,283,000 and its annual premium income $1,100,000. William F. Moore is President.

New York men who will become members of the Board of Directors of the American company are Jules S. Bache of J. S. Bache & Co., bankers; Milo M. Belding, Jr., President of Belding Brothers & Co.; Richard S. Ramsay, banker, and James B. Clews of Henry Clews & Co., bankers.

GAVE SICK CARRIER PAY.

Staten Island Postmaster's Action Costs Him His Place.

Postmaster Henry Fackner of the Port Richmond, Staten Island office, sent in his resignation yesterday to take effect as soon as his successor was appointed. He resigned in response to a letter from the Post Office Department calling upon him to do so. He was appointed three years ago by President Taft.

Some three weeks ago a letter was received by the Post Office Department from a letter carrier in the Port Richmond office which set forth that Postmaster Fackner had carried one of the letter carriers on the pay roll for five weeks when he was not working. The letter also asserted that there was a shortage of $200 in the accounts of the Assistant Postmaster. Upon receipt of the letter Inspectors were sent to Port Richmond.

Last night Mr. Fackner admitted that he carried one of the letter carriers on the pay roll for five weeks. He said the man was ill and had a family depending upon his salary. Other carriers in the office had volunteered to do the ill man's work, he asserted. Mr. Fackner said that friends of the Assistant Postmaster had made good his shortage and that the Government would not lose because of it.

DR. WHITE FOR CONVENTIONS

Cornell ex-Head Sees No Substitute for Them, Opposing Bryan's View.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., May 15.—Taking issue with Secretary Bryan's view that there was no need for a National convention, Dr. Andrew D. White, Cornell's octogenerian ex-President, who has been a delegate to four National conventions of the Republican Party, said to-day that he could see no practical substitute, but that conventions should be freed from commercialism and mob control.

"The only way to secure truly representative Government is for the different States to elect representatives to a National deliberative body," he said. "The objection to the Presidential conventions as they are now carried on is that they are not truly deliberative bodies. Instead of a convention of delegates seriously bent on the nomination of the strongest man in their party, the modern convention is a commercialized 'wigwam' affair, dominated by orators of the fog-horn type, who play almost entirely to the mob of spectators.

"The men who really have serious questions to discuss are drowned out by the cries of partisan onlookers and opposing delegates. The delegates are naturally swayed by the voice of the audience, which they take as an indication of the voice of the people. In reality it is the voice of only a minute portion of the populace. Thus the mob exercises a control which it should not have.

"I am in favor of the convention as it existed in the early days. It was then a true deliberative body. Now all the big cities vie with each other to obtain the conventions. The system is becoming mercantile, each city wanting it because of the large crowds attracted by the convention. The convention system, however, has produced good results in spite of its evils, and, as a whole, is a good one."

GIRL WINS BALDWIN PRIZE.

Miss Longhead of Radcliffe Writer of Best Municipal Essay.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—The Baldwin prize, offered by the National Municipal League for the best essay dealing with a municipal topic, submitted by a student in an American college or university, was this year awarded to Miss Sibel Edelweiss Longhead of Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass. This is the first time a woman has won the prize. The second prize was awarded to Edward A. Lawlor of Harvard University.

The subject was "The Best Sources of City Revenue." The judges were Dr. L. G. Powers of the Census Bureau, Washington, and George C. Sikes, Secretary of the Chicago Bureau of Efficiency.

Link for Wisconsin Rival 'Phones.

LA CROSSE, Wis., May 15.—The Wisconsin Railway Commission ordered today a physical connection between the local lines of the La Crosse Telephone Company, an independent concern, and the toll lines of the Wisconsin Telephone Company, and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. The decision will give subscribers of independent companies the benefit of all Bell toll lines.

Inquiry for Shoe Trade Here and Abroad.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Thorough investigation of the shoe and leather industry in the United States, in comparison with similar industries in European countries, is to be undertaken for the Department of Commerce by Arthur B. Butman, a commercial agent of the Department, who has just returned to this country after two years spent in Europe investigating.

MINERS TO GET $500,000.

Commissioner Neill, as Umpire, Awards That Sum in Back Wages.

HAZELTON, Penn., May 15.—About $500,000 in back pay will be given to anthracite mine workers as a result of decisions rendered to-day by Charles P. Neill, United States Commissioner of Labor, as umpire on deadlocked questions submitted to him by the Anthracite Conciliation Board.

The miners won a victory in three of four cases submitted to the umpire. The principal decision, by which the men received the award of back pay, sustained the contention of the mine workers that they were entitled to the 7 per cent. bonus under the sliding scale for March, 1912, the last month the old sliding scale was in operation. Under the new agreement entered into between the coal companies and the men, the sliding scale was abolished on April 1 last year.

AGAINST LABOR IMMUNITY.

Baltimore Association Telegraphs Its Protest to Wilson.

BALTIMORE, May 15.—The Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of Baltimore, composed of more than 1,000 firms and corporations, to-day sent a telegram to President Wilson protesting "against that section of the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill preventing the use of money to prosecute labor organizations for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law."

SEEK WATER AT 4,000 FEET.

Artesian Well in Texas May Yet Excel the World Record.

The deepest artesian well in the United States is being bored on the Swenson ranch, near Spur, Texas. The drill has already passed the 4,000 feet level, and is still moving down. Unless a satisfactory flow of water is found or some unlooked-for circumstances interrupts the work, the great bore may be carried two or three thousand feet lower, and thus surpass the deepest "active" well in the world, that at Schaldenbach, near Leipsic, which goes down 5,735 feet.

The second deepest well in the United States is near Henrietta, Texas, which taps water at 3,985 feet. There is a 4,500-foot well at Wheeling, W. Va., but it has gone dry of late. A well at St. Louis is 3,845 feet deep.

The new Texas well, which was sunk with the primary purpose of obtaining water for the Swenson ranch, is remarkable for other reasons than its depth. The drill has been in hard rock for more than 3,500 feet. At one point the drill released a vein of water which showed a potash solution in excess of that of any other well in the country, and it may prove that operations are guiding the way to valuable potash deposits underlying the whole region.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

Wheat showed considerable strength yesterday, but final prices were unchanged, to ⅛c. net higher. Corn closed ⅛c. net higher, and oats, ⅛c. to ¼c. net higher. Cotton was quiet, with final prices 1 to 2 points net lower. Cottonseed oil closed 6 to 8 points net higher.

⁂

WHEAT.

In fact of generally bearish crop news, including good rains in the Northwest, the wheat market showed considerable strength yesterday, and at one time was ⅝c over the previous night. It opened ¼c to ⅜c lower, but immediately recovered and held firm up to the last hour, when realizing developed in sufficient volume to promote a moderate setback, so that last prices were unchanged to ⅛c net higher. The upturn, which was really the feature of the day, was attended by rumors that the sight-draft controversy which has been on for some weeks had at last been settled. There were also unfavorable reports regarding crop conditions on the Pacific Coast and in the Canadian Northwest, where the weather has been unseasonably cool of late. From other sections, however, crop news was all very bearish. Minneapolis advices said good rains fell where most needed in Spring wheat sections. There were also rains quite generally through the Ohio Valley. Oversold conditions, however, and the strength in coarse grains operated against the bear side, and there was not much pressure at any time during the day. Big clearances and a bullish interpretation based on a private crop estimate also induced more or less buying. In the Liverpool market there was a net decline of ⅛c to ⅜d, Paris came partly ½c lower, Berlin ⅛c lower, and Budapest ⅝c higher. Only 2,000,000 bushels were expected from Argentina this week, compared with 2,760,000 bushels the previous week. In semi-official quarters the Oklahoma crop was estimated at 30,000,000 bushels, of which 20,000,000 bushels will be shipped out. A heavy movement is expected the last half of June. Locally No. 1 Northern Duluth was quoted at $1, free on board, afloat.

CORN.

Up to the last hour corn was firm and at times ½@⅝c over the previous night. There was good commission house buying, due to reports of lighter country offerings and continued small receipts at the interior, which practically offset the good weather in all parts of the belt. Just before the close, however, efforts to take profits caused a setback which left final prices only ⅛c net higher. There was a decline of ⅜d in the Liverpool market, and Broomhall estimated that Argentina shipments would be 4,250,000 bushels, compared with 3,596,000 bushels the previous week, and 3,655,000 bushels a year ago. Export corn in the local market was quoted 63½c nominal, free on board, afloat.

OATS.

The trade in oats was also active and the market showed a good deal of strength early in the day, with advances of ½ to ¾c following complaints that rain, while covering most of the belt, was still too light in some sections. A withdrawal of country offerings was also reported, and receipts dropped off a little. Cash oats were in fair demand, with the local market closing steady as follows: Standard white, 43½c; No. 2, 44c; No. 3, 43c; No. 4, 42c; ordinary clipped, white, 42½@43c; fancy clipped, white, 44c.

PROVISIONS.

There was a fair trade in the provision market with the tendency upward all day, owing to a demand from commission houses and packers, besides firmer hog markets. Receipts at the West were 91,000 bags, of which 21,000 were at Chicago, 8,000 at Kansas City, and 9,000 at Omaha. Chicago expected 17,000 hogs on Friday.

COTTON.

The cotton market was quiet yesterday and prices fluctuated within a range of 5 or 6 points, closing steady at a net decline of 1@2 points, as compared with the final figures of Wednesday. During the early trading the market ruled steady on the failure of the weather map to show desired rains in the Eastern belt, and rather better cables than due, but there was no aggressive buying, and prices later eased off under unfavorable reports from fine goods circles, rather a more favorable average of private crop news, and private reports of showers in droughty sections of the belt. Last prices were practically the lowest of the day.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 point on July, but generally a point or two above the closing figures of the previous day, and the market sold 2 or 3 points net higher during the early trading. This advance seemed to reflect covering by scattering shorts and a little trade buying, but offerings soon increased, and the market showed little feature during the afternoon beyond a tendency to ease off from the best. Trading was probably restricted to some extent by the fact that Liverpool will remain closed for the balance of the week, owing to a continuation of the Whitsun holiday. The entire week has been a holiday in Manchester, accounting largely for the small Liverpool spot sales, and the fact that weekly figures are comparing a short week with a full week last year, tended to modify the apparent bearishness of the probable visible supply changes.

Somewhat less optimistic views were expressed as to the immediate outlook for European trade, owing to the stringency in the Berlin money market and reports from Paris that peace in the Balkans is believed to have been discounted. People returning here from Northern mill circles reported a very unsettled feeling among manufacturers, and also said that there was more or less talk of curtailed production. The official forecasts were for showers in most sections of the Eastern belt, and wires from New Orleans said that a rain area was forming in the Soutnwest. The local certificated stock showed a big loss overnight, and has now lost about 80,000 bales since the end of April. The shipments, however, do not appear to be giving the remaining July short interest any anxiety, as July continues to rule about 57 points over October. Southern spot markets were generally unchanged; Augusta, the exception, being 1-16c lower.

The local market for spot cotton was quiet and unchanged at 12.00 for middling upland; sales, 136 bales; delivered on contract, 300 bales.

The range of contract prices in the local market was as follows:

	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. Close.
May	11.42	11.40	11.40@11.41	11.41

COTTONSEED OIL.

Besides being stronger, the oil market was more active yesterday, particularly July, which was in demand by refiners. The strength of lard was an important factor in the market, inducing more or less covering and a little outside support. Final prices were 6 to 8 points net higher.

The range of contract prices in the local market was as follows:

	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. Close.
Spot	..	..	6.95@7.05	6.89

COFFEE.

Prices ruled firm, but business aggregated only 31,000 bags. The opening was firm, unchanged to 3 points higher, and the close steady, 2 to 6 points net higher. Havre closed ¼f net lower to ½f higher, Hamburg was unchanged to ¼ pfennig lower, Rio was 75 reis higher, and Santos 50 reis lower.

Summer in the White Mountains
Of New Hampshire

For those who live down in the big cities there is nothing so beneficial as a vacation in the mountains.
Almost overnight that wonderful
LIFE-GIVING AIR
restores tired brains and exhausted energies.
For a day, perhaps, you will be content simply to rest and drink in that air.
But afterwards the joyous out-of-doors will claim you. You will play golf on links right up under the clouds, you will motor on fine roads, climb mountain peaks for unimaginable views, play tennis, ride, drive, tramp.
You will have an appetite that's a joy—and White Mountain cooking is famous.
You will enjoy the people you meet—they are the nation's best.
And you and your family will go home with a store of vitality and health that will last you for years.

Bankruptcy Notices

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, Southern District of New York.—In the matter of DAVIS BLOCH, Alleged Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.—No. 18,022.

It appearing to my satisfaction by the petition of Samuel D. Matthews, verified the 15th day of May, 1913, that a petition was filed in this court on the 8th day of April, 1913, praying that the above-named Davis Bloch be adjudicated a bankrupt, and that a subpoena directed to said alleged bankrupt was duly issued out of this court to the marshal of this district, and that the said marshal has been unable to serve the same, and that the said alleged bankrupt is not now within this district, so that personal service can be made upon him, and that diligent efforts have since been made to ascertain the whereabouts of the alleged bankrupt, but that he is not now within the jurisdiction of this court, it is Now, on motion of Samuel D. Matthews, Esq., attorney for the petitioning creditors,

Ordered, that the above-named alleged bankrupt plead, answer, or demur on or before the 2d day of June, 1913, to the petition herein filed in the office of the clerk of this court on the 8th day of April, 1913, and in case of his failure to plead, answer, or demur thereto adjudication shall be made according to the prayer of said petition, and

It is further ordered that this order be published in The New York Times once a week for two successive weeks, said publication to commence not later than the 16th day of May, 1913, and that a copy of this order be mailed to the said alleged bankrupt at his last-known place of business, No. 71 Nassau Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on or before the date of the first publication.
Dated New York, May 15th, 1913.

THOMAS J. ROBERTS, Assignee.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Pressure continues low over the interior of the country, except in the South, and the principal centre of disturbance is over Lake Michigan, with secondary centres of less pronounced form over the Northwest and extreme Southwest. As a result unsettled, showery weather prevails over the eastern half of the country, and also in portions of the Northwest and the North Pacific States.

It is considerably cooler from the Ohio and Middle Mississippi Valleys southwestward and warmer in the lake region, the Dakotas, Nebraska, and Colorado. Over the remainder of the country temperature changes were unimportant.

In the West conditions will be unsettled.

There will be showers Friday in the Upper Ohio Valley and the Atlantic and Gulf States, followed by generally fair weather Saturday over the north portion of this area.

It will be somewhat cooler Friday in the Middle Mississippi and Ohio Valleys and warmer in New England and the Middle Atlantic States. Otherwise temperatures will not change decidedly.

Winds along the New England and Middle Atlantic Coasts will be moderate south; South Atlantic Coast, moderate south to southwest, except east on the Florida coast.

Steamships departing Friday for European ports will have moderate south winds, with unsettled, showery weather, to the Grand Banks.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND SATURDAY.

Eastern New York and Southern New England—Showers and warmer Friday. Saturday, probably fair; moderate south to southwest winds.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Showers and warmer Friday. Saturday, fair; moderate south to west winds.

Western New York—Showers Friday; warmer eastern portion. Saturday, cooler and generally fair; moderate south winds, shifting to west.

Northern New England—Showers Friday or Friday night and probably Saturday, slightly warmer Friday; moderate, variable winds, becoming south and southwest.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1912.	1913.		1912.	1913.
3 A. M.	52	54	4 P. M.	54	54
6 A. M.	51	51	6 P. M.	55	52
9 A. M.	56	55	9 P. M.	57	52
12 M.	59	54	11 P. M.	56	53

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 56; for the corresponding date last year it was 58; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 59.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 55; at 8 P. M. it was 52. Maximum temperature, 60 degrees, at 2:10 P. M.; minimum, 51 degrees, at 6 A. M. Humidity, 38 per cent., at 8 A. M.; 79 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.26 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.10 inches.

RECEIVERS' SALES.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Middle District of Pennsylvania.—BOSCH MAGNETO COMPANY, Complainant, against MATHESON AUTOMOBILE COMPANY, Defendant.—Notice of sale of all the properties of the above-named defendant.

Pursuant to a decree of the District Court of the United States for the Middle District of Pennsylvania, made in the above-entitled cause, bearing date the 1st day of March, 1913, and filed in the office of the Clerk of said court on the 1st day of March, 1913, the undersigned receiver will, on the 21st day of April, 1913, between the hours of 10 o'clock in the forenoon and 3 o'clock in the afternoon, sell at public auction, in accordance with the provisions of said decree, the property therein directed to be sold at the premises of the Matheson Automobile Company, located in the Borough of Forty Fort, County of Luzerne, State of Pennsylvania.

The following is a description of the property to be sold in accordance with the provisions of said decree, namely: All the right, title, and interest of the undersigned as receiver of the Matheson Automobile Company, and all the right, title, and interest of the defendant company in and to all of the property of such company, namely:

All the real estate, buildings, plants, and equipment of the Matheson Automobile Company, located in the Borough of Forty Fort, County of Luzerne, State of Pennsylvania, as more fully described in the decree of sale:

All automobiles, parts of automobiles, supplies, and materials in connection with the manufacture of same, outstanding accounts created in said business, and all the contents of the factory located in the Borough of Forty Fort, County of Luzerne, State of Pennsylvania, and all the property of the Matheson Automobile Company located in New York City at No. 1,886 Broadway, and any and all other property, real, personal, and mixed of whatsoever kind and wheresoever situated, owned or possessed by the Matheson Automobile Company, the full particulars of which property may be obtained from the undersigned receiver.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

B. N. Duke Gives Fifth Avenue Plot in Trade for Two Upper West Side Apartments—Two Deals Aggregating Over $2,000,000—Hebrew School Site—Many Long Island Sales.

Benjamin N. Duke gave a vacant Fifth Avenue lot adjoining his residence at Eighty-ninth Street in part payment yesterday for two big apartment houses on Cathedral Parkway, between Broadway and Amsterdam Avenue. The deal involved properties valued at close to $1,250,000. A transaction of this sort gave an exceptionally active tone to the realty market, and, in addition, there was another upper west side apartment house transaction involving properties worth over $1,000,000.

The transaction in which Mr. Duke appeared as the principal buyer involved the sale of the two twelve-story houses known as the Marc Anthony and the Prince Humbert at 214 to 220 Cathedral Parkway, covering a plot 200 feet front by 70.11. They were erected two years ago by the Paterno Construction Company, Dr. Charles V. Paterno President, and have been sold by the building company to the newly formed Durham Realty Company, of which Benjamin N. Duke is the chief representative. In part payment Mr. Duke gave the plot, 26 feet front, on Fifth Avenue, adjoining his residence on the south corner of Eighty-ninth Street, running back 135 feet, with an extension fronting 23 feet on Eighty-ninth Street. Mr. Duke owned a 35-foot parcel on the street adjoining his house, and he has retained a 12-foot strip at the rear of his house.

The deal was negotiated by A. C. & L. A. Marks.

The second big transaction involved the sale by the Robert J. Hoguet estate of the ten-story Laureate Hall apartment on the northeast corner of Amsterdam Avenue and 119th Street, 81.6 by 150. It was sold to Daniel G. Griffin, as attorney, representing the owners of the block front on the west side of Broadway, between 133d and 134th Streets, 199.10 by 125, and covered with five six-story apartments. The Laureate Hall overlooks the grounds of Columbia University, and was recently completed.

Hebrew School Buys New Site.

The West Side Hebrew School, of which Philip Lieberman is President, having outgrown its present quarters at 307 West Thirty-sixth Street, has purchased a new site at 347 West Thirty-fifth Street. The property consists of a lot 25 by 98.9 feet, with old front and rear buildings. Plans are now being prepared for a new building to cover the entire site. Sarah and Patrick McGuinness held title to the property, the transaction being negotiated by Worthington Whitehouse.

The Private Dwelling Market.

Frederick Zittel & Sons have sold for Alfred G. Roelker, Jr., 70 West Eighty-seventh Street, a four-story high-stoop brownstone dwelling on a lot 20 by 102.2 to a client for occupancy.

Tenement Property Sold.

Stanford & Green have purchased from Mrs. E. G. Carroll, 103 West Ninety-eighth Street, a five-story flat, with stores, occupying a lot 25 by 75 feet. Arnold, Byrne & Baumann were the brokers.

The D. H. Jackson Company has sold to Frederick Keene for investment 522 West Forty-seventh Street, a five-story double flat, 25 by 100.5 feet. This property is located near the 1,200-foot piers that the Government is about to erect. S. H. Raphael Company were the brokers. The sellers bought this property a few months ago from Thomas M. Fanning.

Aaron Goodman purchased from Mary B. Schwab for investment 307 and 309 East Ninety-fifth Street, a six-story new law flat on a plot 37.6 by 100.8 feet. In part payment the buyer gave 886 Buck Street, a five-story apartment house on a plot 80 by 100 feet, located between Intervale Avenue and Tiffany Street.

Recent Buyers.

Sigmund Lewy is the buyer of the flat 321 East Seventy-fifth Street, sold recently by Solomon Wiener.

Burton Tompkins is the purchaser of the five-story flat at 595 West 178th Street, sold recently by Mrs. Louisa Wagner.

Dr. George Emerson Brewer is the buyer of the dwelling at 16 East Sixty-fourth Street, sold by the Buek Construction Company. The Ramondo Court apartment at the southwest corner of Park Avenue and Seventy-fourth Street was given in exchange by Dr. Brewer.

Bronx Borough.

John Kelly has resold to a client for Jennie Teichman the three-story brick one-family dwelling situated at 209 Creston Avenue, Bronx.

The five-story apartment at 1893 Vyse Avenue, on a plot 56 by 118 feet, has been sold by the Jersey City Construction Company to an investor. It was held at $65,000. Alexander Selkin and David Mintz, in conjunction with A. Martinband, negotiated the sale.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has approved the following:

Notification from Mr. Murray, Acting Chief Examiner, that the examination for promotion to Process Server, (second grade,) held April 28, for the Bureau of Buildings, Brooklyn, was completed May 8, 1913.

Report of Mr. Murray, recommending that the request of the President of Queens for an examination for promotion to second grade messenger in the Bureau of General Administration, (to be open to all laborers,) be granted.

Report of Mr. Murray, recommending that the commission grant the request of the Board of Water Supply that an examination be held for promotion to foreman, to be open to all laborers employed in the Reservoir Department who are eligible.

Report of Mr. Murray recommending that the commission grant the request of the Secretary to the Commissioner of Public Works, Manhattan, that the plan of organization of that department for use in promotion examinations be changed by substituting Bureau of Design and Survey for Topographical Bureau.

Report of Mr. Murray, on the request of the General Medical Superintendent of Bellevue and Allied Hospitals, requesting information as to whether two hospital helpers at $300 per annum may be transferred to gatemen at $500. Mr. Murray says that as the position of gateman does not appear in the non-competitive class for the department it is to be considered as belonging properly in the competitive class, therefor a transfer from the non-competitive position of hospital helper cannot be effective. He suggests the advisability of amending the classification to include gateman at $500 a year in the non-competitive class.

Letter from the Labor Clerk, recommending that the requests of Andrew Schlegelmilch, 63 Edsall Avenue, Ridgewood, Queens, and Giro Gindo, 1,969 First Avenue, Manhattan, that their names be removed from the disqualified list, be denied, the Commissioner of Street Cleaning, from whose department they were dismissed, having said that he cannot consent to their re-employment.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination at the New York Custom House for physical laboratory helper, for men only, on June 4, to fill vacancies in this position as they may occur, in the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, at salaries ranging from $690 to $720 a year, and vacancies in positions requiring similar qualifications as they may occur.

Competitors will be examined in spelling, arithmetic, letter writing, penmanship, copying from plain copy, training, experience, and fitness.

Laboratory helpers in the Bureau of Standards will be required to render miscellaneous assistance in the laboratories which do not require scientific training. Age, 18 years or over on the date of examination. Further particulars may be obtained from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

EDUCATION NOTES.

The examination for the position of teacher of civil service classes in the evening schools held yesterday at the Board of Education Hall was taken by 115 men and women. The examination for teacher of speech defects in the evening schools was taken by only one person, a woman applicant.

The Board of Education has appropriated $94.50 from the School Building Fund for the payment of a bill of the Superintendent of State Prisons for incinerator grates for Public Schools 173 and 174, Brooklyn.

Permission has been granted to the Principal of Public School 156, Boys, Brooklyn, to charge an admission fee at the field day of the school to be held to-day.

An extension of his leave of absence, without pay, for six months from May 11, has been granted to Donald C. McLaren, a teacher in the De Witt Clinton High School.

Permission has been granted to the teachers and pupils of Public School 132, Manhattan to contribute toward a fund to be used for defraying the expenses to be incurred in connection with mounting a twenty-pound cannon ball shot found on the site of said school and presented to it by Reginald Pelham Bolton, and placing the shot in the auditorium of the school.

Chicago Trade Board's Trial Set.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Instead of hearings before a special examiner, the Government's anti-trust suit against the Chicago Board of Trade will be taken directly into court by an agreement reached to-day. Judge Landis fixed Dec. 1 for the trial. The board contends that its "call price" rule, which the Government alleges operates in restraint of trade, was necessary to prevent monopoly of the grain business by a few big elevator companies.

TEACHERS' LICENSES.

Supt. Maxwell Gives Names of Successful Applicants.

City Superintendent Maxwell announces that licenses as substitute teachers of common branches in elementary schools have been granted to these applicants who have completed the work of the theory department in the training school for teachers and who have passed the examinations for License No. 1.

HERE IS THE OFFER
Made by PELHAMWOOD CO.:

To any one who purchases a plot at PELHAMWOOD within 60 days of the date of this offer under the terms of our usual contract and who will erect a residence thereon costing $5,000 or over within 3 years of the date of purchase, and occupy the house for the first three months after completion, we agree to pay the sum of $1,000. Purchasers may employ their own architects and builders. The only other restrictions imposed are those that have previously applied to the purchase of plots and erection of residences at Pelhamwood. These restrictions will, for the protection of the past present and future investors, always apply. But ONE plot will be sold to each purchaser on the terms of the present offer. The total amount of this offer limited to $100,000.

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENED:

25 live, wide-awake investors, realizing that this was the offer of a lifetime, quickly snapped up an equal number of these beautiful residence plots. Our offer is limited to $100,000, and this means that only the next 75 plot purchasers will share in this revolutionary offer to home-builders at PELHAMWOOD.

The Lure of a Seashore Cottage

Calls you to NEPONSIT Long Island

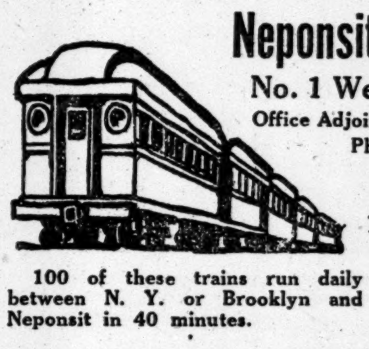
Where the Summers Are Five Septembers Long

Let our illustrated booklet show you the beautiful seashore cottages for sale—overlooking the private Ocean Beach—at cool, breeze-swept Neponsit trains—or you can go by the new passenger boat, which runs from the Battery to the $30,000 Neponsit Club in one and one-quarter hours.

Floor plans of these cottages and bungalows—costing from $6,700 and up—terms to suit, will be sent you on request. Neponsit is a highly restricted "Quality" place right within the city limits of Greater New York—only 12 miles out—40 minutes by swift electric

Just think of the luxury of an hour's trip home on a fast going boat—with the salt sea air blowing in your face—and landing you cool and invigorated within a block of your cottage at Neponsit

Write or 'phone to-day and let us send you our Booklet of Views—without the slightest obligation on your part.



100 of these trains run daily between N. Y. or Brooklyn and Neponsit in 40 minutes.

LONG ISLAND—FOR SALE OR TO LET.

THE PRICES
of waterfront property on Long Island's North Shore are moderate judged by any other equally desirable property. Values are advancing steadily for the limited supply soon will be exhausted.

Grenwolde
Great Neck, Long Island

until recently one of the well-known private estates, offers large plots with and without waterfrontage at unusually attractive prices. If you are looking for value in a country home, $15,000 at GRENWOLDE has greater purchasing power than in any other section of Great Neck, or in fact anywhere else on the North Shore. Before you commit yourself, visit GRENWOLDE. The character of the colony, the charm of its surroundings and the care that has been taken to insure your comfort and pleasure will be a revelation to you.

Send for Booklet B, describing GRENWOLDE, with photogarphs and floor plans of houses now building, and directions for reaching the property.

BUCKET SHOPS OPEN HERE AND OUTSIDE

Despite Government Raids, They Flourish in New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

IN OTHER STATES AS WELL

Stock Exchange Has Evidence, Showing Methods of Business and Who Backers Are—Running Boldly.

The New York Stock Exchange has obtained evidence of two extensive chains of bucket shops in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Virginia, and other States, and is preparing to lay its information before the Federal authorities. Names of the financial backers of the illicit brokerage systems, the titles under which many of their branch houses do business, and their methods of receiving quotations have been submitted to the Exchange in a report prepared by William C. Van Antwerp, one of its members. The report is based on an investigation made in response to complaints received from up-State correspondents of Stock Exchange houses that the bucket shops were flourishing, without any effort on their part to conceal the nature of their business.

The Consolidated Exchange announced yesterday that it also had in course of preparation proof of the existence of numerous bucket shops, which would shortly be turned over to the Government.

It was not made known whether the Consolidated Exchange's investigations had extended further abroad than the confines of this State, but it was said in Wall Street circles that the discoveries of the Exchanges together would, when made public, show an amazing growth since numerous raids by the Post Office authorities were made on the bucket shops two years ago.

Mr. Van Antwerp said yesterday that he had found illegal brokerage offices in Buffalo, Rochester, and Syracuse, with complete wire service for receiving quotations, but without any facilities for transacting actual business in stocks. They advertised widely, representing themselves as "members of the Exchange" or "members of the New York Exchange," and kept within the provisions of the Federal law by doing business between cities entirely by express, so that the postal laws were not violated.

"The central office of one organization is in Pittsburgh," he said, "and the daily sheets of transactions in the branch offices are sent to headquarters every night by express. Towns of the Mohawk Valley I found to be alive with bucket shops, not excepting as small places as Alfred and Ilion, and they all keep in touch with Pittsburgh. Their system of getting quotations from the New York Stock Exchange is so complete that in a number of places I found that the bucket shops were getting prices by telegraph from three to six minutes ahead of the legitimate houses of the same town. They have such an advantage in this way over what is called a Central News Delivery wire that bucket shop operators frequently carry on arbitrage transactions between their offices and the regular brokerage office around the corner.

"The bucket shop men anticipated the amendment to the State bucket shop law, which was signed by Gov. Sulzer to-day, by simply printing a single sentence on the blanks which they record purchases and sales of customers upon. The amendment makes it a felony for any broker to buy or sell securities without any intention of delivering them. Now, it is a difficult thing to define the application of the word 'intention.' The fake brokers saw a way out of the dilemma at once. Before the amendment had been brought up in the Senate for a second reading their trading slips had this notice in prominent letters: 'It is understood and agreed that the securities being bought or sold are to be actually delivered.'"

Mr. Van Antwerp said that in Buffalo he took a sample "flier" in Reading to see what would happen. He went short of ten shares, and the office manager tucked the twenty-dollar bill he gave him as margin into his pocket. When the trade was closed out an hour later, Mr. Van Antwerp said, he was even, except for commissions. He received back the identical bill he had paid in, and the small sum he paid the manager for his commission went into the pocket the bill had come out of.

"There was no sign of bookkeeping in the office, and no statement was given covering the transaction," Mr. Van Antwerp explains.

Alvey A. Adee Off for Bicycle Tour.

Among the passengers sailing yesterday for Havre on the French liner France was Alvey A. Adee, Second Assistant Secretary of State, who took his bicycle with him and said that he was going for a tour on his wheel through Europe. He will be away two months. Mr. Adee said that his relations with the new Administration were very pleasant.

STUDENTS SEE MAN-HUNT.

Negro Under Fire Dashes Across Normal School Campus.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., May 15.—Scores of girls attending the Montclair State Normal School were excited to-day when officers in pursuit of Walter Mills, a negro, who is alleged to have murdered his sweetheart, Millie Munday, chased the man through the grounds of the school, firing at him as he fled to the woods. Mills is charged with having stabbed the Munday girl on Fine Street late last night. The girl died on the way to the Mountainside Hospital, but she told the police that Mills was her assailant. Miles fled after the stabbing.

This afternoon Thomas Spear was startled by the appearance of the man at the Crow's Nest Hotel, just north of the Normal School. Mills's clothing was badly torn and covered with blood. A large knife was sticking out of his coat pocket, ready for instant use. Spears gave the man a drink, but immediately went to a telephone and notified the police. Mills saw them coming and dashed off in the direction of the State Normal School, which is attended by more than 40 girls. The man chase attracted the attention of the students, who were greatly excited when they saw Mills, waving the knife, dash across the campus. Mills kept straight on toward the woods on the west side of the school, and the officers opened fire on him. None of the shots took effect, and Mills was soon out of sight again. The girl he is charged with having killed was only 18 years old.

GREY ESTATE A TRUST.

Widow Has Life Interest, Getting Only the Homestead Outright.

The will of Henry Grey, a mechanical engineer, who died at his home, 110 South Munn Avenue, East Orange, on May 4, was admitted yesterday to probate in the Surrogate's office in Newark. The value of the estate is said to be large. To Mrs. Mary E. Grey, the widow, is left outright the homestead and all its furnishings. The income from the residue of the estate, both real and personal, is devised to her during her lifetime.

The will provides that on the death of the widow, $15,000 in bonds of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation shall be set aside and held in trust for Harriet Nelson of Chicago, Ill., the income to be paid her during her lifetime. To Charles McRae Grey, a son, is given after the death of the widow $10,000 in bonds of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and also the net income of the estate during his lifetime.

EATON INQUEST ON TO-DAY.

New Witnesses to Testify as to Death of the Admiral.

ROCKLAND, Mass., May 15.—The inquest into the death of Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, which was suspended when the widow, Mrs. Jennie M. Eaton, was arrested and charged with murder, will be resumed in Abington to-morrow.

District Attorney Barker said to-day that about six witnesses, several of whom had not appeared in the case, would testify.

Admiral Eaton died suddenly in his home in Norwell on March 8, death being due, it was alleged, to poison given by his wife. Mrs. Eaton is in jail in Plymouth.

IN NEW JERSEY.

HACKENSACK.—The First Presbyterian Church of Hasbrouck Heights will construct a new building at a cost of $35,000. So far $17,000 has been donated. The architect is S. L. Goodwin, a member of the church, who volunteered his services.

PASSAIC.—Herman Kramer of Lincoln Place and Paterson Avenue, East Rutherford, committed suicide by hanging. Melancholia is believed to have been the cause. He had brooded over a nervous trouble for weeks.

PASSAIC.—Mrs. Sophie Sarlis of 29 Quincy Street dropped a pocketbook containing $16 on the street. A little girl picked it up and ran to her house. Her mother sent the child to return, but she gave it to a boy to return it. Now the boy cannot be found.

MONTCLAIR.—The Montclair school authorities have announced that the graduation exercises for the senior class of the High School will be held in the First Congregational Church on the evening of Thursday, June 19. All the girls have agreed that their graduation dresses shall not cost more than $5.

SUMMIT.—Carl T. Pomeroy, former health inspector of Summit, has presented a demand for a year's salary to the Board of Health, on the ground that he was forced without cause to resign last Winter.

MADISON.—Fifty-six students were graduated at the forty-sixth commencement exercises of Drew Theological Seminary. Twenty received diplomas and thirty-six received the degree of bachelor of divinity.

TRENTON.—About three hundred delegates representing the 1,800 members of the organization in the State attended the annual session of the Sons of Veterans of New Jersey.

PHILLIPSBURG.—In order that there may be no embarrassment for the poor pupils of the High School graduating class, who might have to walk to the exercises while their more fortunate fellow graduates rode in cabs, the Board of Education will appropriate a sum sufficient to hire cabs for every pupil.

CAMDEN.—The annual encampment of the Department of New Jersey, Grand Army of the Republic, has opened. There are 500 veterans here.

CONDEMNS WALTER'S BILL.

Political Ring Could Grab Water Supply Under It, Says Strauss.

Charles Strauss, President of the Board of Water Supply, vigorously attacked yesterday the Walters bill, which empowers three or more persons to incorporate for the purpose of acquiring water supply or power property and giving to such incoporators the right to condemn State property. The bill, he said, was one of the most vicious that ever got through the Legislature. It is now before the Governor.

"Under this bill it is conceivable that a political ring might condemn the City of New York's Catskill water supply system," said President Strauss, "and then sell the Catskill water back to the city at double rates. The whole bill is chockfull of jokers, for while it attempts in one place to give to such a corporation an eleemosynary complexion by providing that it may not be operated for profit, it provides subsequently that 'surplus income'—only another name for profits—shall be rebated to the parties who have paid in the capital.

"Aside from these glaring faults, I am convinced that the bil is in violation of the State Constitution. The Court of Appeals has rendered more than one decision to that effect relative to the acquiring of water power or storage property in this manner by private corporations. It is not comfortable to contemplate the excesses to which such a law might give rise. The Board of Water Supply is unanimously opposed to it and will file a protest with the Governor. He will be entirely justified in vetoing the bill on the ground of its unconstitutionality alone."

ESCAPES LIFE SENTENCE.

Appellate Division Says Bretton Must Only Serve 13 More Months.

Harry S. Bretton, civil engineer and inventor, who was sentenced to prison for life as a habitual criminal by County Judge Humphreys in Queens in 1909, following a plea of guilty to grand larceny in the second degree, was resentenced yesterday by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn to thirteen months at hard labor in Sing Sing.

Because Bretton, who is 62 years old, has already spent three years in the Queens County Jail, pending action of the higher courts on his appeal, the Appellate Division imposed the light sentence. Presiding Justice Jenks granted a stay of sentence for ten days to give Bretton's attorney time to make an application for a certificate of reasonable doubt. Bretton went back to jail.

Following Bretton's plea to the grand larceny indictment in Queens, which accused him of taking $50 from a woman on the pretense of employing her as a governess for the children of an invalid sister in Florida, Judge Humphreys discovered that he had a long criminal record. Because of other indictments against Bretton, Judge Humphreys imposed the long sentence. As the accused did not plead guilty as a second offender, he appealed, and the Appellate Division reversed the lower court.

While Bretton was in jail he invented an airship which cost $20,000 to build. It is built of aluminium and is expected to carry several passengers. It is on the aviation field near Garden City awaiting its initial flight.

WATER CONTRACTS HELD UP

Mitchel Wants Time to Study the Need of a Filtration Plant.

The Board of Estimate took no action yesterday regarding the building of a filtration plant at the Jerome Park Reservoir. It was explained that the matter was now before the Supreme Court on an order to show cause why an injunction should not be granted restraining Water Commissioner Thompson from awarding contracts. President John Purroy Mitchel of the Board of Aldermen also stated that he wanted more time in which to study the proposition.

"I am going to consult with the engineers who went over the plans before I decide finally what to do," said Mr. Mitchel. "If I find that there is no necessity for filtering the Croton water I will vote against the contracts. On the other hand, if I am convinced that filtration is needed I will vote in favor of the plan at the next meeting of the board. I am going to look into the matter carefully."

TRIED TO KILL SHERIFF.

Harburger Tells of Mulraney's Attempt on the Way to Sing Sing.

Sheriff Julius Harburger addressed the members of the Royal Arcanum at the rooms of Chevron Council, in the Hawthorne Building, 151 West 125th Street, last night. The Sheriff said among other things:

"It is unprecedented in the history of any city that not a single bomb thrower has been detected, and in this county they go on defying all law-abiding citizens, and weekly commit crimes of a most cowardly and dastardly nature. The militant suffragettes in England must have taken a lesson from our dynamiters and bomb throwers, who go on undetected, as they also defy the police, and are getting bolder each day, and are hurting their cause so that it will be buried beyond resurrection.

"My Sheriff's experience has been a most peculiar one. I am not a believer in capital punishment, and would like imprisonment for life substituted. Some months ago I took John Mulraney, who is to be executed next Monday morning, to Sing Sing. I did not care to mention this before, as he was fighting to save his life, but now that his case is hopeless I will mention it. We were taking about ten prisoners in all, and when we were on top of the hill Mulraney addressed me as follows:

"'Say, Sheriff, I have $4 in my pocket. I want you to let me go to the gin mill across the way and blow these guys.'

"I naturally refused. All of us were standing in line. Below us 150 feet were rocks and a deep declivity. I providentially stepped back a few feet, when Mulraney uttered a cry—

"'I will kill the Sheriff,' and pushed the shackled prisoners onto me.

"Deputy Sheriff Carroll seized him and I miraculously escaped death."

SCHOOLBOYS SEEK STABBER

They Will Deal with Lad Who Attacked a "Squealer" Through Their Government.

It is thought likely that even if they find him the police will not push the case against thirteen-year-old Pasquale Fezza of 28½ Madison Street, for after all it was a very small penknife with which he jabbed the shoulder of William Paretsky yesterday afternoon in the course of a fight that upset the usual decorum of Public School 114 in Oak Street. The excitement of the encounter was increased when it was discovered that William's shoulder was bleeding and that Pasquale had fled.

But even if the police should be inclined to forget the case in the other demands upon their time, the elaborate system of self-government installed at the school will not overlook it. In the school system Pat McGill is Chief of Police, and he and his men are out looking for the fugitive Pasquale, and District Attorney Epurarpe, the school Whitman, is busy drawing up an indictment charging him with assault.

The school citizens feel keenly that this outbreak of violence threatens the integrity of their institutions. For already Pasquale stood accused before the bar of the school court, and his attack upon William was made because William had been a "squealer." Even in this matter the school prosecutor finds his task strangely like that of the real District Attorney. Pasquale had cut class while the teacher's back was turned, and William had thereafter been seen "closeted with the District Attorney." Then proceedings were started against the erring Pasquale and the trial was to have been held this afternoon. Unfortunately, the complaining witness and the defendant met in the hall, and the taunt of "squealer" started the fight.

DOWS GETS POSTPONEMENT

Wants to Answer in General Sessions for Assaulting Reporter.

The case of David Dows of 121 East Seventieth Street, who was held for Special Sessions on a charge of assaulting Alvah Johnston, a reporter for THE NEW YORK TIMES on the occasion of Mr. Johnston's visit on invitation to the Dows home on the night of March 22, came up in the Court of General Sessions yesterday morning, where argument was to be heard befort Judge Edward Swann on the application of the defendant for the transfer of the case from the Court of Special Sessions to General Sessionss.

James R. Ely was counsel for Mr. Dows and Assistant District Attorney James A. Delahanty was prepared to argue against the transfer of the case on behalf of the people. On behalf of the defendant, Mr. Ely made application for an adjournment of the arguments until May 22. The application was granted, Assistant District Attorney Delahanty, consenting, provided the defense would take the risk of the case being called before that date in the Court of Special Sessions. The case had, however, already been adjourned in Special Sessions until May 29. Mr. Dows was not in court yesterday.

DENIES DENISON'S RIGHTS.

Customs Appraiser Says Investigator's Committee Is Not in Existence.

Customs officials expressed surprise yesterday that Winfred T. Denison, an Assistant Attorney General, was continuing investigations into customs matters as "Chairman of the President's Committee of Customs Inquiry." A member of the Board of United States General Appraisers with whom Mr. Denison was in conference on Wednesday gave out the following statement yesterday:

> Mr. Denison holds no commission from President Wilson, nor from this administration in connection with the customs laws or their amendment or administration. He was Chairman of a committee appointed by President Taft to make a certain investigation. That committee reported to President Taft before the expiration of his term and by that report terminated its existence, and President Taft before going out of office acted upon the report. Whatever Mr. Denison is doing in connection with making suggestions as to changes in the customs administrative law is a matter of gratuitous personal activity either of himself or of subordinates who are acting through him.

According to local customs officials and importers, Mr. Denison is the personal representative of James Freeman Curtis, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of the Customs. It was said that the Assistant Secretary is using Mr. Denison to promote certain reforms advocated by ex-Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh.

NEED NOT PAY TWICE.

Justice Pendleton Refuses to Hold J. C. Bishop in Contempt of Court.

Supreme Court Justice Pendleton refused yesterday, in a written opinion, to hold James Cunningham Bishop, the banker, in contempt of court for refusing to pay his wife, Mrs. Abigail Hancock Bishop, alimony which she claimed under a recent decision of the Appellate Division. Justice Hendrick awarded Mrs. Bishop alimony of $22,000 a year pending the trial of her suit for divorce, but this amount was recently changed by the Appellate Division to $10,000 a year in monthly installments.

When the modification of the alimony was made by the Appellate Division, Bishop stated through his attorney, Henry W. Taft, that he had, under the former order, made a payment of $5,500 to cover a period extending late into the Summer, and he refused to pay additional alimony for the month of May under the new order. Mrs. Bishop held that payment in accord with the Supreme Court award of alimony could not be extended into the period covered by the Appellate Division decision and, on the banker's refusing alimony for May, brought suit to have him held for contempt of court.

Something New

SETON

There is an old saying that a bride should wear something new and something old.

As for the groom, we have something new, but we challenge you to find even a suggestion of anything old in our "Seton" Model.

It is a perfect coat, with straight shoulders free from padding, fronts well cut away, soft rolling lapels and closed with one, two or three buttons.

Some with patch pockets, narrow reverse cuffs and a high notch collar vest.

These details show you how carefully we have worked out every new feature of the season.

Circumstances alter cases, and they have certainly taken a hand in altering the prices on a large lot of my garments. Ordinarily, as you no doubt know, my manufacturing facilities and my low rental enable me to undersell any of the clothing retailers in this city by at least one-third. That's ordinary—but this opportunity is extraordinary, even for me.
Included in a large consignment of fabrics that I bought at a ridiculously low figure from a manufacturer who was tariff scared were several pieces of fine blue serge. Material that you can't duplicate for less than $30. I've made them up into garments that befitted the quality of the fabric, and they're now on sale. A blue serge suit is almost a necessity, and here's where you can get yours at one-half its value.
Pencil Stripes and Club Checks, Too
If you don't want a Blue Serge Suit, don't forget that I made up the whole consignment, consisting of 32 designs and patterns. There are pencil stripes, brush stripes and chalk stripes, club checks and broken checks; cheviots, both fancy and plain; worsteds and Thibets, in plain blacks and blues; anything, in fact, you could possibly desire.
And, further, every style fabric is cut in every style model. There's the English, the American, the radical and the conservative—short coats with rolling lapels, snug fits, loose hanging jackets, long, short and medium in length. All styles that lay claim to be in style.
Come to-day and look them over—the choice can never be greater—they're going, going, and they'll soon be gone.

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes
"Till the Cows Come Home"
I HAVE been talking to you, sir, through this newspaper for a long time. And I could go on talking "till the cows come home," but never could any words of mine tell you my story half so well as one peep of your own eyes can— So I ask you now, as a personal favor to me (I am the Advertising Man, by the way,) to come in and see these Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes of ours— I saw a blue serge suit this morning, English model— you know the kind—with soft rolling lapels, marked $25.00. Honestly, I thought its price $35.00 till I saw the ticket. And that is only one instance out of thousands. Do come in and look around—Today—before you forget this little confab of ours.
